BLOODY REVERSE FOR CRESCENT WHEREVER ATTACKED BY CROSS.

Valor of Thermopylae, Balaklava and Plevna Outrivaled on Gory Fields of Kirk Kilisseh and Adrinople.

Sofia Sappers Lead Forlorn Hope and Bulgars Follow Over Their Bodies Through Breach Into Turkish Fort to Strains of National Anthem Played by Bands While Shot and Shell Are Flying—Way to Constantinople Open.

BY PAUL LAMBETH.
[By Atlantic Cable and by Wireless from Chicago to The Times.]

LONDON, Oct. 24.—[Special Dispatch.] After a three days conflict which seems to have been constantly maintained by Christian and Turk, both bitterly bent upon achieving a victory, Kirk-Kilisseh has fallen, the Bulgarian main army is now assailing Midia, Visa and Tchataldja, while the remnant of the Third Army Corps, led by the still undismayed veteran, Shakir Khektiv Pasha, has fallen back upon Eski Baba, with the right wing extended to Bergas. The Third Army Corps is said to have lost over a third of its strength in killed, wounded and captured during the three days' battle. The heaviest losses were during the final Bulgarian assault when, one of the keys to the main position being shattered by a gallant forlorn hope of sappers from the Second Sofia Battalion of Engineers, this fort was stormed at 10 o'clock in the forenoon. Bands were playing the Bulgarian national anthem, a weird air, while the royal standard of Czar Ferdinand carried at the head of the Third Regiment of Guards by the color captain, a young Russian officer, Vasil Michaeleiff, the Bulgarians charged. The Ottoman defenders stood their ground.

MOWED DOWN BY GUNS.

The First Battalion of Guards was literally mowed down by machine guns like a field of standing corn swept by a tropical tornado. The standard drooped and fell. Capt. Michaeleiff was shot through the chest, dead, still gripping the bullet-riddled staff. A sergeant seized it and waved it in the face of defenders of the fort. The staff was blown through his body as the guns of an entire battery were brought to bear upon the breach made in the outer walls by the Sofia sappers.

NOT ONE SURVIVOR.

According to a graphic account of the final assault filed at Tirnova by one of the Austrian war correspondents attached to the Bulgarian army, the heroism of the Sofia sappers was as magnificent as any feat in the annals of world warfare. Not one will live to say he helped blow up the infidel wall which opened the way into Kirk-Kilisseh for the victorious Bulgarian army. Three are still trying to ward off death in the field hospital just outside the captured city. They are all three unconscious, terribly gashed by debris from the mined wall. A stone weighing almost fifty pounds, its edges jagged, is imbedded in the stomach of one of this vigorous trio. The surgeons marvel how the man retained the spark of life after the wounds which would have instantly killed the vast majority of men.

FIELD OFFICERS KILL SELVES.

The way into Kirk-Kilisseh having been opened as described, regiment after regiment was hurled at the breach until the Turks weakened and gave way. Three Turkish field officers killed themselves rather than retreat or surrender.

OF ANCIENT BATTLEFIELD.

According to a dispatch just received from Belgrade, the Servian army is trying to draw the western wing of the Turks into a decisive battle at Amsefeld, on the edge of the bleak Kossovo plain. This is the ground to both Turk and Balkan Christians. It was here that in 1389 the Ottoman host completely annihilated the army of old Servia, destroying that ancient nation at one fell swoop and beginning the period of Servian subjection which endured for 500 years. Again in 1448, the Turks, allied with the Magyar, John Hunyadi, suffered defeat and terrible slaughter on this same field, when they tried to shake off the Turkish yoke.

CENSORS SUPPRESS NEWS.

In a dispatch from Constantinople to the Turkish embassy in London, claiming victories over the Bulgarians, Servians and Montenegrins are claimed by the Porte. Four divisions of the Servian army were engaged at Kumanova by Fetney Pasha, commanding the Ottoman western army corps, and compelled to retire from a premeditated attack on Uskub. Fertev Pasha was in pursuit of the retreating Servians, according to the official report of the Turkish War Department.

The foreign war correspondents in the field continue to criticise the action of the staff and field commanders which makes it almost impossible to secure actual news of the fighting at the front and rush dispatches, even in heavily censored form into print.

LINES FOR REPORTER.

Bennet Burleigh, the veteran and famous London Daily Telegraph man, who is now the dean of the war reporters, accompanied the Turkish forces from Sofia to the front. He is said to be so disgusted with the "unbelievable impossibility" of the staff of the Bulgarian army that he may leave the front in order to keep his temper and his reputation. Burleigh was one of the very CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 24.—A Turkish defeat east of Tundja in the Kirk-Kilisseh district is now admitted here. An attempt is made, however, to minimise its importance by representing it as an unsuccessful Turkish offensive movement, which owed its failure to the detachment having encountered the main body of the Bulgarian army.

The Bulgarians apparently left a covering force in front of Adrianople and attempted to work to the rear to menace the communications with Constantinople.

An advance Turkish column commanded by Mahmoud Mukhtar Pasha, son of the Grand Vizier, attempted a surprise attack, but as the enemy was much superior in strength the attack was not pushed home and the Turkish troops retired in good order to positions further south.

DECISIVE BATTLE SOON.

It is not clear where the next Bulgarian attack will be delivered, but the next two days should witness a decisive battle.

There is much elation here at what is described as a splendid victory over the Servians at Kumanova. Officials of the war office went so far tonight as to express the opinion that the Servians need no longer be reckoned with.

FIGHT IN DRENCHING RAIN.

The battle between the main forces of Bulgarians and Turks was resumed today along the entire line between Adrianople and Kirk-Kilisseh. Drenching rain hindered the movements of the troops.

Dispatches from Adrianople report that the second division of the Bulgarian army crossed the frontier yesterday. Its advance guard encountered serious resistance and suffered heavily, finally being compelled to fall back. Serious fighting is also reported from Kadikeny, to the south of Mustapha Pasha, which ended in a victory for the Turks.

The Ottoman government has decided to increase the import duties from 11 to 14 per cent., owing to the requirements of the war.

TURKS CLAIM VICTORY.

The Servian army operating near Kumanova has been defeated by the Turkish troops defending that town. The Servians suffered enormous losses, according to an official dispatch from the commander-in-chief of the Turkish western army. The Turkish troops are pursuing energetically.

The Servian army is believed to have comprised four strong divisions.

The Servians are in full retreat toward the northeast from the town of Kumanova which they have been attacking for several days under the command of the Servian Crown Prince.

FIFTY THOUSAND TURKS REPORTED CAPTURED.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Oct. 24.—A three-days' battle and a Bulgarian turning movement has resulted, according to Sofia accounts, in the fall of Kirk-Kilisseh and the capture of the Turkish garrison, numbering fifty thousand. That so many Turks have been taken is regarded as improbable and the more likely report is that the Turks retreated in the direction of Buni Hissar to the southeast.

The capture of this stronghold, to which the Turks attached almost the same importance as to Adrianople, was confirmed tonight from Constantinople in an official communication explaining that the Turkish army at Kirk-Kilisseh, in attempting to split the enemy's forces, discovered that they were in greater strength than had been expected. The Turks therefore retired to await reinforcements.

SERVIANS OCCUPY FIVE IMPORTANT TOWNS.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

BELGRADE, Oct. 24.—Official announcement was made here tonight that the Servian forces have occupied Novipazar, Pristina, Koumanova, Karatovo and Kotchana.

Detachments of the Servian army entered Koumanova this afternoon after annihilating the Turkish batteries. The fighting around that town lasted three days.

Stories of hard fought encounters with the Arnaut tribesmen and Turkish regulars are told by soldiers who were wounded during the earlier fighting at Prepalatz Pass, forty miles south of Nish. Many of these have been brought here for treatment.

SLAUGHTER.

On the morning of October 18 the Servian troops noticed the first movements of Turkish regulars, and, fearing a surprise, took up their positions. They had hardly reached the trenches when the Arnauts and Turks opened a heavy fire and advanced to the attack under cover of artillery. When they reachd within 100 yards of the Servian position, the Servians were ordered to attack, and, leaving their trenches, they made a determined charge. The battle lasted thirteen hours. The Turks lost over a thousand killed while the Servian casualties also were heavy. The men of the Red Cross Society did splendid work, carrying the wounded through a rain of bullets.

THREE DAYS' BATTLE.

The capture of Novipazar by Gen. Jankovitch was preceded by three days' desperate fighting, the Turks holding strongly fortified positions.

Gen. Zsevokovitch reports that the Servian losses in the capture of Pristina were extraordinarily large, but that the Turkish losses were still greater.

CARTRIDGES RUN LOW.

Some alarm is felt here lest the supply of cartridges run out. The factory at Mariko is working day and night, but only can produce a quarter of a million daily—insufficient for the troops engaged.

MASSACRE.

The Mir publishes additional details of the massacre in the district of Kotchana. It says that the retreating Turks massacred the male population in five villages to the southeast of Tsarevoselo and set fire to the houses.

STUDENTS BEG TO ENLIST.

Deputations of students went to the Minister of War today and begged that students who are exempt from service until 23 years old, might be enrolled with the 1913 recruits.

COST OF WAR IN HUMAN LIFE.

[By Cable and Direct Wire to The Times.]

LONDON, Oct. 25.—Statistics of the Balkan war show these casualties to date:

October 17—Montenegrins captured, 700 Turks; killed, 10; wounded, 31.

October 20—Montenegrins captured 280 Turks.

October 21—Bulgarian and Servian troops captured 100 Turks, killed 200; Servians lost thirteen killed, forty wounded.

October 22 — Bulgarians captured 20,000 Turks, killed twenty-one; Montenegrins lost twenty-three killed.

October 22—Turks kill 1500 Greeks.

October 23—Turks kills 2000 Bulgarians, wound 4000. Greeks capture fifty-five Turks.

October 24—Turks kill 3000 Bulgarians, Turks lose seventy-three killed, sixty-five captured. Allied Balkans have captured eight important strategic points. The Montenegrins are about to take Scutari, the key to the western frontier and Albania. The Bulgars are at the gates of Adrianople which lies across the way to Constantinople. The Serbs have taken Novipazar, and the Greeks have stormed Servia, commanding entrance to Macedonia. Turkey has not yet poured her Asiatic hordes into Europe for fear that Russia will seize stronger foothold in Asia Minor.

DIAZ FACES THE COURT-MARTIAL; MAY BE SHOT BEFORE SUNRISE.

President Madero Orders Summary Action in Case of Man He Trapped.

"Whatever the Verdict Have It Executed at Once" Is the Order from Mexico City, and as the Accused Stands Convicted in Advance His Hours Are Numbered—Nephew of Exiled President Denied an Asylum on an American Warship.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MEXICO CITY BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Gen. Joaquin Beltran is tonight at Vera Cruz presiding over a summary court-martial board trying Gen. Felix Diaz on a charge of treason.

The court martial was ordered by President Madero this afternoon with instructions that the findings of the board be immediately carried out. This means that Diaz will be shot at sunrise, for it is certain he will be convicted. In fact, he had been convicted before the court was summoned.

It was learned today that the Felix Diaz revolt was actually a Madero trap, set and sprung by the President himself. Diaz had long been suspected of intriguing against the government. The better to catch him at his own game, Madero permitted him apparently to go about Vera Cruz without being spied upon, but, as a matter of fact, administration service men were his constant advisers.

Diaz was led to believe the major part of the army would join his colors the minute he hoisted the standard of rebellion. He failed to see the plot until too late.

Even when Gen. Beltran's troops appeared before Vera Cruz he believed the soldiers were coming to join him immediately and would attack those who remained loyal the moment he (Diaz) gave the word. This accounts for the apparent neglect of Diaz to give battle the moment the Federals came within range.

A NAVAL REPORT FROM VERA CRUZ.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—Capt. Hughes of the cruiser Des Moines reporting that the Mexican port of Vera Cruz had been again opened to commerce, asked the Navy Department today for information as to the probable movement of his vessels. Although this is taken by the department to indicate that order is restored in Vera Cruz, the Des Moines will be kept there for some days yet.

Capt. Hughes said no property was destroyed and no damage done in the taking of the city by the Federal forces. Mexican soldiers protected American property, as well as the cables. He reported that the cruiser Tacoma, which left Bluefields, Nicaragua, several days ago, would reach Tampico tomorrow.

THE MORAL EFFECT ON OTHER REBELS.

[By Federal (Wireless) Line to The Times.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 24.—[Special Dispatch.] It is believed in Washington that the crushing of the Diaz revolution so soon after its conception and the probable execution of Gen. Diaz and members of his staff will have tremendous moral effect on the rebellious elements in the republic and that peace is now nearer than it has been for months. It is also thought that the success of the government forces at Vera Cruz will serve to restore confidence in the Madero administration despite the fact that still much political unrest exists.

With the Diaz movement over President Madero is expected to concentrate his forces against the other three revolutions under Orozco, Aguilar and Zapata. The Zapata revolution appears to be most formidable although the rebel bands in the northwestern part of Mexico are causing more trouble in spite of the fact that there is an absence of organization. The Diaz revolt temporarily overshadowed the other disturbances but there is still much activity on the part of the revolutionists.

Officials of the State Department do not believe that Orozco will be able to regain the prestige he once had and that the end of his revolution is not far in the future.

From the outset the Aguilar revolt did not prove popular even with the discontented factions in the army and the prospect that it will assume dangerous proportions is regarded as remote.

Neither the State Department nor the Navy Department has yet received a complete report of the battle of Vera Cruz. Capt. Hughes of the cruiser Des Moines reported that the medical aid offered had been gladly

TWO DAYS BATTLE IN CASAS GRANDES.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

JUAREZ (Mex.) Oct. 24.—Two days of a battle between rebels and Federals last week in the Casas Grandes district was reported here today to Gen. Trucy Aubert. According to the belated report, Federals under Gen. Blanco routed a large force of rebels. Seven were killed on both sides as a result of an all-day engagement.

OROZCO'S PLANS ARE UNFOLDED.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MONTEREY (Mex.) Oct. 24.—As indicating that Pascual Orozco, a Mexican rebel chieftain, aimed to send at least a part of his command to Tampico, a report was circulated here today when a band of insurrectos appeared at a ranch near Juan Felipe and declared they were headed for the Gulf Coast. They said they were a part of Orozco's command. They demanded horses, got twenty, and gave receipts for them, promising to pay for the animals "at the end of the revolution." It is presumed the commander aimed to co-operate with the Diaz forces captured yesterday at Vera Cruz. accepted and that a number of wounded men were being treated by naval surgeons.

BECKER IS FOUND GUILTY OF FIRST DEGREE MURDER.

Pale, Haggard, but Calm, Former Policeman Hears Verdict that Will Send Him to Electric Chair if It Stands, but His Wife Faints—Worn and Tired, the Jurors Reach Decision After Secret Session.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 24.—[Special Dispatch.] Shortly before midnight Police Lieutenant Charles Becker was found guilty of murder in the first degree. The penalty is the electric chair.

The jury had taken supper after being in secret session for several hours without coming to a verdict. When it was announced that the jury was ready to render its verdict, Becker, the accused, was brought into court. Pale, haggard, but calm as he has been all through the trial, Becker heard the foreman respond to the query of the clerk, "we find the prisoner guilty of murder in the first degree." This ends the trial of the principal in the conspiracy which brought about the murder of Herman Rosenthal and the graft investigation which has shocked New York and the United States.

When the jury returned to the courtroom and the foreman announced that the twelve men had reached their verdict John F. McIntyre, chief counsel to Becker, sprang to his feet and insisted that the jurors not be permitted to give their decision because the testimony of Sam Scheppa, taken in Hot Springs, Ark., had been sent to the twelve men when they were deciding Becker's fate.

Justice Goff insisted that the verdict be given. Foreman Skinner then formally announced the finding of the jury, adding that the jurors had become convinced Becker was guilty of murder in the first degree.

Becker's only sign of emotion came when he was asked the usual question about his age, occupation and other similar details by the court. He gave his answers in a husky voice that could hardly be distinguished a few feet away.

SENTENCE DEFERRED.

McIntyre moved up to the bar and

ENLIST FEDERAL HELP TO DRIVE OUT WOMEN.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 24.—The Society for the Suppression of Vice, through its secretary, John G. Lawlor, announced tonight that it would open a campaign in two directions for the deportation of some 3000 foreign-born women said to be in California. If the campaign in this State is successful, it will be extended to Oregon and Washington.

An executive order, Mr. Lawlor said, would be asked from the President directing the Department of Commerce and Labor to proceed with such deportations. Advices received from officials of that department state that, pending decision of a case now in the Supreme Court, the department is taking no action, although, the letter added, if evidence be produced showing that the women attacked entered the country within three years prior to the passage of the act, Federal officers will act. As the statute now stands, such women are subject to deportation regardless of the length of their stay in the country.

A campaign among parlors of the Native Daughters of the Golden West is the other branch of the campaign, and addresses already have been scheduled. It is hoped that in this way sentiment will be aroused which will secure enforcement of the act and a sufficient appropriation will be insured for the work.

few British correspondents who scored anything like a live "beat" during the Russo-Japanese campaign in Manchuria. He is a personal friend of the King of Bulgaria and a man whose military opinions are treated with respectful attention by most of the great generals of the day. If he has failed to get into the actual "smelling of powder," to give a graphic picture of the operations, it is doubted that any of the younger men will be able to break through.

Lord Northcliff, owner of the Times and Daily Mail and a big string of important British newspapers, is reported to have made a fabulous offer to Grahame White, the aviator and a young wireless inventor, to get to the front and cover the war in the most up-to-date fashion. It is fear of the wireless and ordinary telegraph tidings, flashing with the speed of thought the movements of their armies, which causes both the Turkish and Balkan commanders to keep a firm hand over the news gatherers. Rapidity and secrecy of movement is the first essential of success in modern warfare. The lot of the modern war correspondent is a most unhappy one. Indeed, the real war correspondent who did things seems to have passed out with the close of the Spanish-American and Philippine campaigns. Col. Crowder and Col. Edwards of the American army were the kindest and most considerate censors compared with Generals Botcher and Sekki Ahkter Bey, the iron-walled forts of official circumspection against whose suave excuses and explanations the correspondents can accomplish nothing.

Kirk Kilisseh is the Balkan Yalu—the decisive tell-tale finger point steeped in the blood of dead and dying, presaging the impending fall of Stamboul, the fountain seat of Islam. The shattered Turkish right wing is now in a position so perilous that its complete annihilation seems inevitable. If any considerable portion of this army remains southwest of Kirk Kilisseh it runs the risk of being driven into the sharp angle formed by the rivers Maritsa and Erkene, or else having to seek shelter within the fortress of Karishteran, or Kalbele. The latter—a vital position on the trunk road—is poorly protected and not calculated to withstand an attack in force or shelter a large army. In either event, the Bulgarian columns operating from Samakova and Visa are believed to be strong enough to hold them in check while the main army either reduces Ardrianople or proceeds to attack Constantinople. It is believed that Czar Ferdinand contemplates the latter move, hoping to draw the Turks out of their carefully-planned intrenchments and fight the great deciding battle of the war, flushed by the prestige of having stricken the crescent from off the dome of the doubly sacred mosque of St. Sofia.

TURKS LEAVE FIELD STREWN WITH DEAD.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

SOFIA, Oct. 24.—The Bulgarians were attacked by 6000 Turks in an engagement Tuesday at Marasch, near Adrianople. After an hour of heavy artillery and rifle fire, the Turks were defeated, and fled in disorder, leaving the field strewn with dead and wounded. The Bulgarians captured 300 prisoners, a dozen quick-firers and quantities of munitions.

TURKS DROWN THEMSELVES.

Many Turks drowned themselves in the river because they believed the Bulgarians massacred their prisoners.

The Turkish garrison at Kirk-Kilisseh, consisting of 5000 men, surrendered to the Bulgarians. Two Turkish generals were among those captured.

Another report states that the Turkish garrison at Kirk-Kilisseh numbered nearly 50,000 men and that all fell prisoners to the Bulgarians, leaving the way open to Adrianople.

With the fall of Kirk-Kilisseh, the stage is set for the main event to date of the Balkan drama.

British military officers who for many years have made a specialty of studying the Balkan military preparations lean to the belief that the Turkish army has been holding the line between Adrianople and Kirk-Kilisseh with a covering force estimated at about 70,000 men and that the main Ottoman army is only just due on the scene.

This might account for the Turkish statement today that something more definite will be known by tonight, for with the arrival of the main army at the front Turkey is expected to take the offensive.

Kirk-Kilisseh fell at 11 o'clock in the morning, according to the latest reports received tonight from Bulgarian sources, from which all news originates.

The Turkish troops retired in disorder in the direction of Buni Hissar fourteen miles to the southwest. They left a battery of quick-firing guns, sixteen ammunition wagons and a large quantity of ammunition and food.

SOFIA CELEBRATES.

When the news was received in Sofia vast crowds bearing the flags of the allied states formed processions and marched to the Greek, Servian, Russian and British Legations, the palace and the Military Club. In front of each, the national anthem was sung and cheers were given.

A party of boy scouts headed one of the processions and the Greek Minister was carried through the streets on the shoulders of enthusiastic demonstrators. Church bells were rung and the whole city was hung with flags.

Masses will be celebrated throughout the kingdom tomorrow for the Bulgarians who have fallen in the fighting, and thanksgiving services for the success of the Bulgarian arms.

According to one report here the decisive movement against Kirk-Kilisseh began Monday evening when cavalry and infantry under cover of a heavy artillery fire attacked the town on two sides. The Turks regarded Kirk-Kilisseh of equal importance almost with Adrianople. Its defense had been entrusted to Mukhtar Pasha, son of the Grand Vizer, and Hazim Pasha.

TURKS FLEE IN PANIC.

Severe fighting is reported in the Strume Valley. The Bulgarians yesterday occupied important strategic points in Kresna Pass. The Turks fled, abandoning munitions and supplies.

A considerable number of Bulgarian troops have been detached from the Second Army Corps for the purpose of repelling any further attacks by the Turks on the towns of the Black Sea coast, a Sofia dispatch to The Times says.

TRAIN IS WRECKED.

There is reason to believe, the dispatch says, that the accident which occurred recently on the Smyrna-Adana Railway, resulting in the death of 200 Turkish soldiers, was the work of Macedonian emissaries, sent to Asia Minor to impede the dispatch of Asiastic troops to European Turkey.

SORTIE DISASTROUS TO TURKS.

The Turkish garrison of Adrianople suffered heavy losses during a sortie last night from the northeastern quarter of the town. The Turks left twelve cannon on the field.

The Bulgarian troops are now only three to five miles from the redoubts and are fortifying their positions.

SCUTARI ABOUT TO FALL BEFORE MONTENEGRINS.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Oct. 24.—The Montenegrin troops, says a news agency dispatch from Cettinje, have occupied the Heights of Chirki, dominating the town of Scutari, which is expected to fall.

Thrilled by the words of their leaders, King Nicholas, and his three sons, the soldiers of Montenegro today continued their advance on Scutari. Reports from the front indicated that they have driven back the Turks, and crowding along in a southeasterly direction, have reached a point eight and a half miles from the city, despite heavy rains which impeded their progress.

The bombardment of the Turkish town of Harakosch, on Lake Scutari, which began on Tuesday, was continued throughout yesterday by the Montenegrin troops. The Montenegrin artillery, it is said, is firing with great precision, but the rain hinders the operations. The Montenegrin Consul here says:

"The statements concerning Montenegrin reverses are untrue. The losses of cannon by the Montenegrins and the number of their killed and wounded have been greatly exaggerated.

PRINCE MIRSKY IN COMMAND.

A dispatch from Rieka, Montenegro, says that King Nicholas, whose headquarters were established there previously, crossed Lake Scutari yesterday and joined the troops at the Mallisori village of Skla, where he met his three sons and with them held a council of war. The outcome of this was that Prince Mirsky was appointed commander of the Montenegrin brigade, which distinguished itself at Detchitch and Tushi. On assuming command Prince Mirsky addressed his troops, saying:

"We are almost at the walls of the ancient and famous town of Scutari with which are bound up some of the most brilliant pages of the history of Old Servia. My father, our supreme war lord, has commanded me to lead you.

"Follow me, my gallant men, not in the path of annihilation and death, but on the road which will bring liberty and new life to mankind and civilization and progress to Scutari. In this great work of yours, show yourselves to be worthy of the knightly reputation of the Montenegrin and remember that every step you take is followed by the eyes of the civilized world. Do not allow yourselves to be carried away by feelings of revenge for the wrongs and violence which our fatherland and the other Balkan States have had to endure for five centuries at the hands of our eastern foe."

At the conclusion of the prince's speech, King Nicholas embraced his three sons and bade them farewell, wishing them and the troops good luck and rapid success.

SERB SUCCESSES.

The Servian troops have captured one part of the Turkish town of Kumanova, according to a telephone message received at Belgrade today from Vranya.

The Turkish artillery used against the advancing Servians had very little effect and after a short time, was silenced by the Servian guns.

Desperate fighting is still going on in the vicinity of Kumanova.

The taking of the Turkish town of Novipazar was accomplished only after three days severe fighting, during which there was much slaughter, both among the Servians and the Turks.

The small town of Strasin, between Egri Palanka and Kumanova, was captured yesterday by the Servians.

A. Kostendil dispatch to the Daily Telegraph say that 28,000 Servians and 25,000 Bulgarians are operating in the Kumanova district. The Turks are holding a strong position between Karatova and Kumanova. Once that is taken, the way is open for the passage of the combined armies to Uskub.

BOTH SIDES CLAIM VICTORY.

Turks as well as Servians claim the victory at Kumanova, on the way to Uskub, where another fierce encounter is in progress. The Turkish official report says the Servians have been completely routed while the Servians assert that they have taken one part of the town and continue to make progress.

A call was issued today at Belgrade for all retired and reserve officers as well as military employees, lawyers and engineers, to join the Seventh Servian Regiment, the crack corps of Belgrade, within forty-eight hours.

The Greeks also for the moment appear to be satisfied with the capture of the Turkish town of Servia, although their cavalry is pursuing the retiring Turks through the Valley of Aliakmon and attempting to cut them off.

A St. Petersburg dispatch to the Post says it is reported that 20,000 Russian volunteers have enrolled themselves at Moscow to assist their fellow-Slavs.

STRUCK WEALTH AND DEATH.

BUTTE (Mont.) Oct. 24.—Lewis Daly, a pioneer mining prospector in the Ophir district, west of here, was found murdered yesterday. The aged man's arms had been tied behind him and his brains beaten out with a club.

Guilty of the Rosenthal Murder.

Police Lieutenant Becker

Of New York City, who, late last night, was found guilty of first degree murder in conspiring to bring about the death of the gambler, Rosenthal, a witness in the investigation of police graft. The verdict means Becker must die in the electric chair.

UNCLE SAM IS NEUTRAL IN BALKAN CONFLICT.

President Taft Will Issue a Proclamation When He Returns to Washington on Sunday — Turks Realize that Sympathy in United States Is Generally With Christian Belligerents.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] When President Taft returns to Washington on Sunday he will issue a proclamation of neutrality in connection with the war in the Balkan states.

The delay of this government in formally proclaiming neutrality is a matter of concern to the powers engaged in the strife. They are anxious that the United States shall go on record as forbidding within its territory the purchase of ships and munitions of war and contraband in general by any of the belligerents. Turkey, particularly, is urging this action, because she realizes that the sympathy of the American people will be with her Christian enemies and that they would be likely to do everything in their power to assist them.

By the usual principles of international law, the state of neutrality recognizes the cause of all parties to the contest as just, that is, it avoids all consideration of the merits of the contest.

ABSTENTION.

The obligations of a neutral state as established by international law may be embraced in three classes, involving, respectively abstention, prevention and acquiescence. By the first of these, the neutral state is bound not to supply armed forces to a belligerent, not to grant passage to such forces, and not to sell to him ships or munitions of war even when the sale takes place in the ordinary course of getting rid of superfluous or obsolete equipments.

PREVENTION.

By prevention a neutral is assumed to take all proper and effective measures to avoid violation of recognized principles of neutrality and by acquiescence is meant that it shall not give its approval to acts of its citizens in contravention of established rules.

For example, it would be a breach of law of nations for the United States to permit Turkey or one of the allied states to purchase and receive an armed vessel from this country. It is a breach of the law of nations punishable by indictment in court to aid in fitting out in foreign countries, belligerent crews.

ACQUIESCENCE.

But it is not a crime under the neutrality law to leave the country with intent to enlist in foreign military service, nor to transport persons out of the country with their own consent, who have an intention of so enlisting. To constitute a crime such persons must be hired or obtained to go abroad with the intention to be so enlisted.

Becker Found Guilty.

made several motions looking to delay the sentencing of the former lieutenant of the strong arm squad.

"I ask Your Honor," he said, "to defer the sentencing of my client."

"Your request is reasonable," the Justice replied. After a short pause he added: "I will sentence the defendant next Wednesday morning."

McIntyre began a series of other motions, asking the court to set verdict of the jury aside and to order a new trial, but Justice Goff shut him off.

"I decline to hear any further motions of that sort at this time," he said.

JURY POLLED.

The attorney changed his tactics and asked for a poll of the jury. Justice Goff granted that request. The jurors looked worn and tired and plainly showed the severe strain under which they had been laboring during the long session in the jury room. Many of them answered the questions concerning the trend of their votes in a voice so low and husky as to be almost inaudible.

JUROR COLLAPSES.

The nervous tension of the jury was illustrated when McIntyre went to Juror No. 12, the last in the box. During the trial he seemed the least concerned of all the men going to decide the fate of the former police official, but when he was asked with regard to his vote, he almost broke down, perspiration poured from his face, and he slumped down in his chair.

Court officers went to his rescue, gave him several glasses of water and threw water in his face. At last he revived enough to stutter hoarsely, "yes; my God, yes, that was my vote, murder in the first degree and may God help him."

During the quarter of an hour that it took to poll the jury, Becker sat looking stolidly before him. Not once did he turn toward the jury box.

MRS. BECKER FAINTS.

When Mrs. Becker learned of the verdict, she fainted in the corridor of the Criminal Court building.

There was much speculation as to what the next move in this remarkable case would be. That an appeal will be taken is certain and there is a strong opinion that the convicted policeman will get a new trial.

MEN HIGHER UP.

Becker will stand firm, it is believed, until the appeal is settled. If it should go against him it is regarded as not at all improbable that he will tell al he knows about grafting in the department and may, it is believed, involve men high in the department.

BECKER CRITICIZES CHARGE OF JUDGE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—Police Lieut. Charles Becker sat in his cell in the Tombs tonight while across the Bridge of Sighs in the darkened Criminal Court building, twelve men struggled to decide whether he was guilty of the murder of Herman Rosenthal.

The prisoner's destiny was delivered into the jury's hands this afternoon after a three-hour charge by Justice Goff, which Becker characterized as distinctly unfair and "thin-veiled summing up for the State," and upon which his counsel, John G. McIntyre, declined to comment. To do so he said would place him in contempt of court.

KEYSTONE OF THE ARCH.

Stripped of its legal verbiage, the charge, in effect, was a ruling that the guilt or innocence of the prisoner rested almost solely upon the debatable point as to whether Sam Schepps was an accomplice to the crime. Dapper little Schepps when arrested at Hot Springs styled himself "the keystone of the arch." As events transpired, he spoke truer than he knew.

The court himself was doubtful as to Schepps's status and declined to guide the jurors in a decision. What he did instruct them to do was to return a verdict of first degree murder or second degree murder or to acquit the defendant. Manslaughter was eliminated and a "no-compromise verdict" was directed upon the motion of Becker's lawyer. By far the greater part of the court's instructions dealt with murder in the first degree, the penalty for which is the electric chair.

BECKER CHEWS GUM.

Flanked by counsel, face expressionless, Becker sat chewing gum while the court delivered the charge. Back of the railing sat his wife, head bowed, eyes downcast.

The white-haired justice spoke in a monotone, but with incisive deliberateness.

"It is not claimed by the prosecution that Becker's hand did actually kill Rosenthal," he said at a crucial point. "It is claimed that he requested and directed that the killing should be done, and as I have already instructed the jury, Becker, in law, must be held responsible for the acts of everyone who acted in pursuance of his request or instructions.

"It is important here that I should direct you as to the law governing the case now presented: Where a person is claimed not to have done the actual killing, but to have inspired it and instructed it. Under the law Becker stands equally with the one who committed the crime of murder on the first degree if he counselled and advised it.

The court here explained to the jury the testimony of the various witnesses against Becker, and without a doubt it was the testimony of so branded Rose, Lefty Louie and Schepps's relation to the affa.

WHEN THE BABIES COUNT.

No Matter How Small or How Young, Each Infant Is a Ship Passenger.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) Oct. 24.—Infants in arms are passengers under a ruling received here yesterday from the Department of Commerce and Labor which upheld the marine inspectators in fining Capt. A. R. Hunt of the steamer Dove, operating out of Tacoma, for carrying 105 passengers when the steamer's certificate of inspection authorized her to carry only 100. Capt. Hunt contended that the excess number consisted of babies in arms who had not been counted. The department decided that the infants were passengers within the law, but reduced Capt. Hunt's fine from $500 to $250.

Budd Will Compromise Not Permitted to Stand Because of Alleged Loss to Principal Heir.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

STOCKTON, Oct. 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] On the ground that James Budd Dixon, a minor, would be virtually robbed of $16,000 if the compromise agreement of the heirs of Mrs. Ines Budd, widow of the late Gov. James H. Budd, were allowed to stand, Judge J. A. Plummer has thrown the instrument out of court.

It was seen early in the proceedings that the will, because of ambiguity in language and its failure to meet certain legal requirements, could not be carried out and for this reason the several heirs got together and agreed upon a division of the property. The principal heir is James Budd Dixon, a minor nephew of the testatrix. His mother, who is also his guardian, agreed to the compromise under which young Dixon would have lost about $16,000 that belongs to him under the will. Judge Plummer accordingly vitiated the agreement. Young Dixon's father has filed a petition asking that his wife be removed as guardian of their son.

Gradie is the son of the late Dr. Henry Gradie, famous as an oculist, of No. 6234 Kenmore avenue. Two months ago Gradie was in Los Angeles with his mother. Riding a motorcycle, he saw a team dashing down the street. Speeding his motorcycle up to the horses, he seized the bridles and stopped them. Subsequently, he was introduced to the young woman's father, who later is said to have taken Gradie into business with him. The family returned to Chicago. The engagement was announced and it was expected the marriage would take place about Christmas.

RAG PROPOSAL; ASKS DIVORCE.

Ten Days Wedded Bliss San Franciscan's Lot.

He Is Quite Sure Now that Marriage Is a Failure.

Experience Cost Him Two Hundred Dollars.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Robert W. Peterson, 33 years old, contractor associated with Moffett and Meade, railroad builders, with offices in the Monadnock building, as a jury of one, foreman included, returns a verdict that marriage is a failure.

"Never again," he told Attorney Schuhl after he had related his brief experience with pretty 18-year-old Dorothea Hailey.

Ten days ago he married Dorothea. Today in the court Schuhl filed Peterson's suit for divorce, charging cruelty of the blistering kind.

Peterson is a sedate business man. A week ago last Saturday night, he felt lonely and went out for a stroll. Absent-mindedly, he walked to the Auditorium, where the music attracted him. At the cigar stand near the entrance he saw a pretty girl. He bowed. They went into dance.

In the mazes of "rag," they talked of marriage.

"I'll try it once," Dorothea is said to have responded to Peterson's proposal. "If I don't like it, I can quit; so let it go."

The next day they were married and moved into Dorothea's rooms. The following day they quarreled. The next night Dorothea went to a dance without Robert and stayed away until 2 in the morning.

Peterson remonstrated, but Dorothea defied him and on October 20, failed to come home at all.

"If you want to live like a married woman," Peterson said to her on October 21, "you had better stick around the house some of the time."

Dorothea got mad and moved to a hotel, while Peterson did the next best thing by "seeing" his lawyer.

So Peterson has charged ten days' profit and loss and petitions the court to undo his "foolishness."

Peterson says his ten days of married life cost him about $200, and that he has nothing to show for his disbursement, but an abiding distrust of women.

RAG PROPOSAL; ASKS DIVORCE.

Ten Days Wedded Bliss San Franciscan's Lot.

He Is Quite Sure Now that Marriage Is a Failure.

Experience Cost Him Two Hundred Dollars.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Robert W. Peterson, 32 years old, contractor associated with Bickett and Meade, railroad builders, with offices in the Monadnock building, as a jury of one, foreman included, returns a verdict that marriage is a failure.

"Never again," he told Attorney Schuhl after he had related his brief experience with pretty 18-year-old Dorothea Hailey.

Ten days ago he married Dorothea, today in the court Schuhl filed Peterson's suit for divorce, charging cruelty of the blistering kind.

Peterson is a sedate business man. A week ago last Saturday night, he felt lonely and went out for a stroll. Almost-mindedly, he walked to the Auditorium, where the music attracted him. At the cigar stand near the entrance he saw a pretty girl. He bowed. They went into dance. In the mazes of "rag," they talked of marriage.

"I'll try it once," Dorothea is said to have responded to Peterson's proposal. "If I don't like it, I can quit; so let it go."

The next day they were married and moved into Dorothea's rooms. The following day they quarreled. The next night Dorothea went to a dance without Robert and stayed away until 3 in the morning.

Peterson remonstrated, but Dorothea defied him and on October 20, failed to come home at all.

"If you want to live like a married woman," Peterson said to her on October 21, "you had better stick around the house some of the time."

Dorothea got mad and moved to a hotel, while Peterson did the next best thing by "seeing" his lawyer.

Mr. Peterson has charged ten days' profit and loss and petitions the court to undo his "foolishness."

Peterson says his ten days of married life cost him about $200, and that he has nothing to show for his disbursement, but an abiding distrust of women.

WHEN THE BABIES COUNT.

No Matter How Small or How Young, Each Infant Is a Ship Passenger.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) Oct. 24.—Infants in arms are passengers under a ruling received here yesterday from the Department of Commerce and Labor which upheld the marine inspectors in fining Capt. A. R. Hunt of the steamer Dove, operating out of Tacoma, for carrying 109 passengers when the steamer's certificate of inspection authorized her to carry only 108. Capt. Hunt contended that the excess number consisted of babies in arms who had not been counted. The department decided that the infants were passengers within the law, but reduced Capt. Hunt's fine from $100 to $250.

DRIVEN OUT OF COURT.

Judge Will Compromise Not Permitted to Stand Because of Alleged Loss to Principal Heir.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

STOCKTON, Oct. 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] On the ground that James Budd Dixon, a minor, would be virtually robbed of $16,000 if the compromise agreement of the heirs of the late Jose Budd, widow of the late Hon. James H. Budd, were allowed to stand, Judge J. A. Plummer has thrown the instrument out of court.

It was seen early in the proceedings that the will, because of ambiguity in language and its failure to meet certain legal requirements, could not be carried out and for this reason the several heirs got together and agreed upon a division of the property. The principal heir is James Budd Dixon, a minor nephew of the testatrix. His mother, who is also his guardian, agreed to the compromise under which young Dixon would have lost about $16,000 that belongs to him under the will. Judge Plummer accordingly vitiated the agreement. Young Dixon's father has filed a petition asking that his wife be removed as guardian of their son.

Rescue du Coeur That Had Thrilling Inception at Los Angeles Finds Happy Consummation.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WAUKEGAN (Ill.) Oct. 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The issuance of a marriage license Wednesday in Chicago to Roy Gradle and Anna Ross, aged 24, brought Waukegan news of the groom the knowledge that he was to marry now instead of last Christmas, the young woman having recently rescued from possibly fatal injuries in a runaway in California.

Gradle is the son of the late Dr. Henry Gradle, famous as an oculist, and 6234 Kenmore avenue. Two years ago Gradle was in Los Angeles with his mother. Riding a motorcycle, he saw a team dashing down a street. Speeding his motorcycle to the horses, he seized the bridles and stopped them. Subsequently, he was introduced to the young woman's father, who later is said to have induced Gradle into business with him. Gradle returned to Chicago. The engagement was announced and it is rumored the marriage would take place about Christmas.

Sailors of the Gayhead Saw a Black Cross in the Sky and Then They Prayed.

[By Federal (Wireless) Line to The Times.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 24.—According to Capt. Wing, the commander of the Gayhead, in today, an experience in the Arctic during the volcanic disturbances near Kodiak, frightened the crew to prayers.

Early one morning, a huge cloud appeared to the northwest, which rapidly grew to the proportions of a big squall in appearance. Instead of the wind, the cloud consisted of the ashes of the volcano, which had burst into action 200 miles away. The cloud broke to permit a little light to enter which, reflected against the drifting ashes, displayed a huge black cross.

The crew, frightened at the strange sight, fell prostrate on the deck. All believed that the end of the world was at hand.

Grand Jury Accuses President of Sacramento Real Estate Company of Embezzling Large Sum.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] J. H. Garlough, president of the Garlough Realty Company, is in the county jail, following his indictment by the grand jury for embezzlement in connection with a property deal in this city, in which it is alleged he appropriated $10,000 to his own use. His bonds were fixed at $10,000, and it is expected his friends will secure his release.

Acting as agent for a Mr. and Mrs. Myers, Garlough is accused of having had a piece of property deeded to him instead of to the purchaser after he had sold it for $18,000. After the deed had been made out to him he borrowed $10,000 on the property, according to the evidence laid before the grand jury.

Garlough received much publicity early this year in connection with a school site purchased by the old board of education, a deal which was finally blocked by the city commissioners, sitting as a board of education, because the price for the property was considered exorbitant.

Fantastic Fads of the Dizzy Dance to Get Quietus by Sacramento's Pious Commission.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Farewell to "The Rag," "Turkey Trot," "Bunny Hug," "Grizzly Bear," and to all "half time" dances so far as Sacramento is concerned.

Thirty days from Saturday the last "squeeze-me-tight" dance will have been tripped off if an ordinance prepared by City Commissioner Bliss is passed by the City Commission Saturday as it undoubtedly will be. Bliss, after a lengthy investigation, completed his draft of an ordinance to license dance halls today. When the ordinance is in full force it is intended that there shall be in Sacramento no style of dance save the "society" or "military" style.

The ordinance requires the proprietors of dance halls to pay a license fee, which will be forfeited in case the provisions of the ordinance are not observed.

All "half time" dances are declared to constitute "immoral conduct" under the ordinance, and the ordinance does not tolerate "disorderly or immoral conduct."

By declaring ragging "immoral" Bliss expects the ordinance to have the moral effect of stopping "half time" dancing at private balls, though there is no legal barrier to this practice.

Proprietors of Sacramento Thirst Emporiums Say Moving-Picture Shows Hurt Their Businesses.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Moving-picture shows may transform Sacramento into a city of tee-totalers if the increasing popularity of the shows continues. This is the prediction that members of the Royal Arch have made in explanation of the slump which the saloon business has been suffering for the past few months.

That there has been a slump is generally admitted by the dispensers of liquors. As to the cause they are not all agreed, but the preponderance of opinion centers on the "movies" as being the temperance agent.

Here is how the "movies" quench the thirst, according to the saloon man's theory. Formerly, when young men, particularly those without homes, had nothing else to do at night they would congregate at a saloon and immediately the cash register would begin to ring a tune of money. Or, they might sit down to a game of cards, which would mean drinks and cigars.

But now it is different, wail the saloon men. Instead of "Have a drink," it is "Let's go to the movies." And when the spenders go to one movie, they tackle another, with the result that it is time to go home when they have left the show.

Portland Mayor ays He Will Protect Car Workers.

Thugs Ae Thwated by Plain-clothes Men.

Citizens Say Police Must Enfoce the Law.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND, Oct. 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mayor Rushlight today firmly refused the demand of local labor unions that plainclothes officers on duty at the Harriman car shops be withdrawn.

A delegation of unionists who called upon the Mayor to present the demand were astonished at his attitude. Said the Mayor: "I do not intend to remove the police station at the Southern Pacific and O. W. R. and N. car shops, nor do I intend to order the men doing duty at the shops to wear uniforms. I have positive knowledge that men have been beaten on account of this strike and if it is possible I want to find who is doing the dirty work. I want this trouble stopped."

WEAR PLAIN CLOTHES.

It is only recently that the officers stationed at the shops have caused the pickets any concern. Formerly shop workmen were beaten and reviled under the noses of the officers who gave as an excuse that their uniforms made them conspicuous and that the pickets made their attacks when they were out of sight. So much pressure was put upon Mayor Rushlight to give better protection to the workmen that he ordered the officers into plain clothes and they have been so much more active since that time that the union pickets find fewer opportunities to attack the workmen.

The delegation accused the Chief of Police of having the patrolmen placed in plain clothes.

"That statement is not true," replied the Mayor. "I myself ordered these men in plain clothes. Many men had been badly beaten who were working in the shops and I thought that by placing the officers in plain clothes they would be better able to find out who is responsible."

The union men declared none of their number had been guilty of assaults, but again the Mayor declared he knew the statement to be false. The union delegation finally left without gaining their point.

Another Nobleman Tries to Die in Chicago Jail.

[By Federal (Wireless) Line to The Times.]

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 24.—[Special Dispatch.] Count Eugene Stephaits Von Nemes Deed of Vienna, is in St. Louis attending the horse show, frankly admitted today that he would like to take an American bride home with him but was barred by the declaration of Miss Loula Long that when she marries it will be an American.

The count has been in America five weeks, as the guest of Miss Long's father, R. A. Long, millionaire lumberman of Kansas City. He plans to spend about three weeks more on this side of the Atlantic. He sat in a box with Mrs. Long while Miss Long went among her grooms and coachmen, giving final instructions for the handling of her entries.

HE LIKES HORSES.

Like Miss Long, the count is a lover of fine horses and has visited many parts of the world in search of animals for his stables. Although he is not exhibiting here, he has entered prize winners in many shows. It was at the Vienna horse show three years ago that he became acquainted with Miss Long who was an exhibitor.

The count's attentiveness to Miss Long and her mother and the similarity of his tastes and those of the young Kansas City woman caused some of the exhibitors to remark jokingly on the possibility of his taking an American bride with him.

The count declared nothing would suit him better. "But," he said, "your American girls like America too well to leave it. I am sure Miss Long does, at any rate and then, you see, the first consideration with her is horses."

ONLY AN AMERICAN.

It developed that the count knew whereof he spoke, for when somebody asked Miss Long about the probability of an international romance she smiled and said with some emphasis:

"You may be assured that if I marry anybody, it will be an American."

The count is considered a handsome man of athletic proportions.

Miss Long made a pretty picture in a dark blue tailored suit and a jaunty black turban trimmed with a single white plume. She was accompanied everywhere by her two bullterriers.

Miss Long is a familiar and popular figure at St. Louis horse shows, and her palatial $50,000 stable at Kansas City houses one of the finest strings of horses in America. She has won the prizes in all parts of the country.

She created a sensation at the Washington horse show last May by rejecting a second class ribbon for her roadster, King, after the blue ribbon had been bestowed on an animal so greatly inferior to her entry that the spectators greeted the award with hisses and cries.

An apology was demanded by the board and refused by Miss Long's father and her horses were withdrawn from the exhibition.

[By Federal (Wireless) Line to The Times.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 24.—[Special Dispatch.] Count Curt Varden von Knobelsdorf, who is under indictment on a charge of operating a confidence game by which two saloonkeepers were fleeced out of $605, attempted to commit suicide today in his cell on the fifth tier of the County Jail. The count's attempt on his life was frustrated by Ossian Casey, one of the jail guards. The latter was passing the count's cell shortly before noon and says he found the prisoner preparing to jump from his cot. He had torn his bed blanket into strips and made an improvised rope of them. He had tied one end of the rope around his neck and had secured the other to an upper cross-bar of his cell. Casey seized the count and with the assistance of other guards took the rope from around his neck. The count had suffered no injury and was immediately placed in solitary confinement.

THREE TRAIN COLLISIONS IN DENSE CHICAGO FOG.

Governor of Michigan Among Dozen Perons Hurt in Windy City Wrecks—Engine Plows Through a Street Car—Groans of Injured Heard a Block Away. Railroad Officials in Crash on Clover Leaf Line.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 24. — [Special Dispatch.] Fog early today caused three wrecks, injuring a dozen persons, four probably fatally.

The fog tied up traffic on the suburban railroad and elevated lines and delayed many thousands of workers coming into the city.

A Pennsylvania passenger train struck a street car at 106th street. Seven passengers were hurt and four probably will die.

A Big Four passenger train crashed into the rear of a Michigan Central train at Seventieth street, injuring three women.

MICHIGAN'S GOVERNOR HURT.

Gov. Osborn of Michigan and Mrs. Osborn were passengers on the Michigan Central train. The Governor was on his way to Chicago to make a political speech today. His right foot was injured and he had to use a cane. Mrs. Osborn was unhurt.

Two South Side elevated trains were in a rear-end collision in East Sixty-third street, between Lexington and Cottage Grove avenues. The motorman was hurt.

Neither the engineer of the Pennsylvania train nor the motorman of the street car could see the danger at the 106th street crossing because of the fog. The engine plowed its way through the car. The smokestack was carried away and the street car was splintered.

Ambulances were called from Kensington, South Chicago and other near-by points and the victims were hurried to hospitals at Englewood and South Chicago.

The street car that was demolished was one of the Hammond Electric line.

It was westbound with men and women on their way to work when the Pennsylvania train crashed into it.

The passenger train could not be seen approaching because of the denseness of the fog.

STREET CAR SPLINTERED.

The train splintered the street car like it was so much kindling and passengers were thrown left and right about the street. Glass was broken and many of the injured who otherwise escaped suffered from being cut by pieces of the windows.

The groans of the injured could be heard a block away and brought aid.

Ten thousand Rock Island suburbanites had time for extra games of whist this morning. At 9 o'clock, fourteen trains were tied up between Chicago and Auburn Park.

Engineers could not see signals ten feet ahead, and trains had to crawl to the city, stopping at every semaphore. Lake Shore, Northwestern, Illinois Central, and other suburban trains were held up for the same reason.

Under no circumstances will any of the little craft be permitted to dive more than 100 feet below the surface, although on the Pacific Coast submarines have descended to the 200-foot level. In addition whenever a submarine in future starts out to exercise alone, it must leave with the vessels of its division a full report of its proposed movements so that it can be followed in case of accident. The recent catastrophes led Secretary Meyer to issue the order.

Knox Applauds Peace Policy of the President.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—Plans for the administration of the executive order of President Taft placing all fourth-class postmasters under civil service were announced today.

Postmaster-General Hitchcock has divided the 56,236 offices affected by the order into two classes; class A to embrace postoffices at which the compensation is $500 a year or more for postmasters; and class B at which it is less than $500.

Appointment to each class A office will be made from three names certified by the civil service commission after competitive examination of the applicants. Vacancies in all class B offices will be filled on the recommendation of postoffice inspectors after personal investigation. This method has been followed in several States with success.

The order of the President is now in effect and the civil service commission is ready to hold examinations to create lists of eligibles for appointments to fill vacancies. Hereafter all vacancies in the postmastership of fourth-class offices will be filled without regard to the political affiliations of the appointments.

Postmaster-General Hitchcock has recommended that all postmasters, irrespective of class, be placed under civil service.

It is a positive fact that a dose of Pape's Cold Compound, taken every two hours until three consecutive doses are taken, will end the Grippe and break up the most severe cold, either in the head, chest, back, stomach, limbs or any part of the body.

It promptly relieves the most miserable headache, dullness, head and nose stuffed up, feverishness, sneezing, sore throat, running of the nose, mucous catarrhal discharges, soreness, stiffness and rheumatic twinges.

Take this wonderful Compound as directed, with the knowledge that there is nothing else in the world, which will cure your cold or end Grippe misery as promptly and without any other assistance or bad after-effects as a 25-cent package of Pape's Cold Compound, which any druggist can supply—accept no substitute—contains no quinine. Woman Halts Inquest to Prefer Murder Charge.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 24.—Sentenced to eight years in the Federal prison at McNeil's Island, Washington, F. H. Thompson, a Los Angeles attorney, appeared here today, in his own behalf before the United States District Court of Appeals. Opposing his motion for a new trial is Aloisius I. McCormick, United States attorney for the district of Southern California.

Thompson represented that he was so poor that he could not afford to pay his way here, and the Federal Department of Justice, advanced him money for his expenses.

Thompson was convicted of stealing $18,000 from his client, who in turn had stolen it from the postoffice at Los Angeles. It was shown during his trial that he had squandered the money.

Since his conviction it has become necessary for him to have a leg amputated.

INNOCENT BECAUSE INSANE.

Husband and Wife, After Long Trial, Are Found Not Guilty of Murder.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

COLFAX (Wash.) Oct. 24.—"Not guilty, by reason of insanity" was the verdict returned today by the jury in the case of Mr. and Mrs. George Wesley Brown, charged with the murder of Al Neeves, Mrs. Brown's father.

"The jury finds that there is danger of a recurrence and it is dangerous for the parties to be at large," the verdict adds. Counsel for the defense filed objection to the verdict on the ground that it was unconstitutional.

The case went to the jury last night.

According to the testimony, Neeves was killed by Brown and his wife September 15 at a ranch near here. The couple, who had walked from Culdesac, Idaho, without funds and almost without food, waited until Neeves was alone in the ranch house. Brown then fired five bullets into his father-in-law's body and Mrs. Brown shot him through the head as he lay bleeding on the floor.

The Browns walked into Colfax and gave themselves up.

Mrs. Brown told a terrible story of her relations with her father, declaring he had instigated other men while her husband was absent from their home in Idaho.

The Browns brought suit against several men in Idaho, but declared they had been threatened and were convinced they could not get justice in the courts, so they determined to kill Neeves.

Oakland Young Man Kills Himself Because of Letters Written His Father Years Ago.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

OAKLAND, Oct. 24.—Disrespectful letters written to his father fifteen years ago and kept by the broken-hearted parent, despite the pleadings of his son that they be returned to him, led to the suicide today of Albert Zingel. Zingel, who was 29 years old, shot himself in the head this morning at the home of his sister. The father had told his son that he should not receive the letters back until he, the father, was dead. The father has died and his uncle applied to the administrator of the estate for the return of the letters, but was told they could not be found. His relatives say this was the cause of the son's suicide.

DAYLIGHT HOLD-UP.

Attempted Robbery of San Francisco Man Is Getting to Be an Annual Occurrence.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 24.—The second annual daylight hold-up of H. J. Juniek, a grocer, occurred today. While busy at his books in his office, Juniek was accosted by two masked men who informed him that their purpose was to rob the place. The grocer made an outcry and the robbers fled from the store. Juniek pursued them and was joined by a policeman, who put after the men in a horse-drawn buggy. An exciting chase over half a dozen blocks resulted in the capture of one of the fugitives, who at the city prison gave the name of George Adams.

It was one year ago today that Juniek had a similar experience with thugs. He was approached by hold-up men in his store in precisely the same manner. On the former occasion both robbers escaped. In neither instance did Juniek suffer any loss.

DRAMA AT INQUEST.

Jury's Deliberations Are Halted by a Woman Who Accuses a Bystander of Murder.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—It was supposed that Joseph Waitkus had committed suicide when his body was found in a rooming-house here today.

An inquest was being held when a woman rushed into the room and halted the proceedings by shouting:

"Stop, stop, he did not kill himself. He was murdered. There stands the man who killed him."

The man indicated was Joseph Brudas, the husband of the woman from whom Waitkus rented his room. The jury was just about to return a verdict of suicide.

The woman was Mrs. Anna Roder, who declared a revolver found beside the dead man had been purchased by Brudas.

Brudas was held by order of the Coroner.

JEALOUSY AND AN AX.

Moved by Green-Eyed Monster Chicago Man Swings Weapon With Deadly Effect.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—Thomas Connolly, a clerk, believed to have been actuated by jealousy, severely injured three persons with an ax today. The 2-year-old son of one of the victims ran from the house and is missing.

Connolly had been paying court to Mrs. Emma Martin. He arrived at her home and found her divorced husband in her company seeking a reconciliation. He seized an axe and attacked both, severely cutting Martin about the head and shoulders.

Mrs. Martin, scantily clad, ran several blocks to a Police Station.

In the meantime Mrs. Martin's uncle and mother, William and Elizabeth Featherstonehaug appeared. Connolly turned his attention to them and so severely cut Featherstonehaug about the head and body that he is not expected to live. Mrs. Featherstonehaug was less severely hurt.

TAFT EXPLAINS TARIFF VETOES.

Writes Plain Letter to Hardware Association.

Upholds His Demand for a Tariff Commission.

Says Democratic Policy Is Menace to Country.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ATLANTIC CITY (N. J.) Oct. 24.—A letter from President Taft to the American Hardware Manufacturers' Association was read at today's session of the association. It follows: "BEVERLY (Mass.) Oct. 24, 1912.

"My Dear Gantz:—I am very glad to send a message of greeting to the members of the American Hardware Manufacturers' Association and the National Hardware Association on the occasion of their annual joint convention.

"One of the members of your association wrote me the other day that what this country needs most is industrial peace. There can be no such peace in the absence of national prosperity and I am glad to believe that the members of your association are doing their full share to welcome the prosperity which is just at our doors, by maintaining our present economic business basis and by the encouragement of business expansion and progress through legitimate use of capital.

"I am a firm believer in a tariff board or tariff commission. I do not contend that the tariff can be taken out of politics in the sense that it never would be made the subject of political controversy. Men differ radically as to the economic value of a protective tariff or a tariff for revenue only and that must always be the subject of political discussion. But there is no means of taking the ascertainment of facts away from a tribunal like the Ways and Means Committee which is necessarily hurried in its conclusions and necessarily lacking in the thoroughness and temper which are essential to reach impartial conclusions.

TARIFF AND TRADE.

"Probably no industries affected by the tariff need scientific and impartial conclusions more than those which are represented in your convention. In my message of August 14, last, returning to Congress without my approval the bill to revise the metals schedule, I pointed out that in this schedule iron and steel as primary products are less than one-third in value of the subject matter covered by the schedule. I presented a table showing that included in the metals are fifty-nine allied industries of sufficient importance to justify separate classification, study and report by the Census Bureau. I pointed out further that foundry and machine shop products which are secondary products of the iron and steel industry are made by more than 12,000 competing establishments with an invested capital of more than a billion and a half dollars, with more than a half a million wage earners employed and producing nearly a billion and a quarter dollars in value of products annually.

"Every dollar of this capital and every working man employed in the industry was directly affected by the bill. And I could not find, either in the report of the Committee on Ways and Means or in the House, in the extended discussion of the schedule, that serious consideration had been given to the effects of the revision on this particular industry and the same thing is true of more than two-thirds of the industries covered by the schedule.

"There was little logical relation between the reductions made by this bill in the schedule. For example steam engines and machine tools in the present law are dutiable at thirty per cent. In this revision, steam engines were reduced to fifteen per cent., and the whole machine tool industry was put on the free list, without any return whatever being made on the Ways and Means Committee for such action. The term 'machine tools' has already been the cause of much litigation and its scope should be defined before the great variety of articles which it now seems to cover, are placed on the free list.

FAVORS RECIPROCITY.

"The expansion of our foreign trade would seem to demand that a transfer to the free list, like the one made in the bill, of such an enormous range of undetermined products and the opening of the best markets in the world to free and unrestricted competition, should not be made without, at the same time, at least, securing, as is the case now, especially against agricultural implements, the privilege of a like free entry into the markets of our competitors.

"I refer to these facts to bring home to the members of your association some of the dangers of ill-advised political tinkering with business. I vetoed the bill, which would have spelled ruin to many of you, because I was unwilling to approve legislation which vitally affected not only millions of working men and the families dependent on them, but hundreds of millions of dollars worth of stocks of goods in the hands of storekeepers and distribution generally, without first providing for a careful and disinterested inquiry into the conditions of the whole industry.

"And so, I say, we must not make legitimate business the football of politics. We must have investments from which to secure a large wages fund, which is needed to support the wage-earners. We must inspire in the business men who control these investments the confidence that they will not be driven out of business. Let us put our shoulders together in a movement to promote the business prosperity of the country by frowning down the attacks that are engendered, not by a real desire to eliminate abuses, but by a wish to arouse in the people, an unjust prejudice and take away from them their clear perception as to their real interest in encouraging the investment of capital, in commending its thrifty, wise and lawful use to secure good and reasonable profit and to enjoy the widespread influence of the prosperity that business thus encouraged is bound to shower upon the people at large."

[Signed] "WILLIAM H. TAFT."

MARSHALL IN OREGON.

Says There Will Be Revolution Unless the Voters Assume Control of Their Heritage.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Oct. 24.—Gov. Thomas R. Marshall of Indiana tonight finished his appeal to Oregon voters before a large audience in the "Gypsy Smith" auditorium here. The Democratic vice-Presidential nominee predicted that the outcome of this year's national election would be a judgment of American voters that would be remembered long after the election had passed.

Gov. Marshall declared that unless the voters assumed their heritage and took back into their own hands complete control of national affairs, this country would be thrown into revolution, peaceable or otherwise, that would shake the foundations of the republic.

The speaker charged both the Republican and Progressive parties with being dominated by men closely in sympathy with big corporation interests and insisted that neither party would attempt a real solution of the trust evil.

"You can't expect any individual leader to take you out of this situation," said Gov. Marshall. "It is up to you to elect members of Congress that will back up a Democratic administration to the end that this all-important situation be met squarely and fearlessly."

After his speech here tonight, Gov. Marshall and the members of his traveling party departed for Seattle where the Indiana man is scheduled to speak tomorrow.

PROSPERITY NOT AN ACCIDENT.

That Steel and Woolen Mills Are Running Due to Taft Vetoes, Declares Wickersham.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CAMBRIDGE (Ohio) Oct. 24.—Atty.-Gen. Wickersham, in an address here tonight, said this country was now in the flood of an ever-increasing and widening prosperity, and that it was no mere accident that brought about this happy condition of affairs under President Taft's administration.

Mr. Wickersham commended the President for using the veto power. "That the steel mills and woolen mills and other manufacturies are running full blast is due wholly to vetoes," he said.

"The speaker said that but for Col. Roosevelt there would be no possible doubt of the continuation of this prosperity, for nobody contends that the Democrats alone could bring about the defeat of the Republican national ticket."

He affirmed that Roosevelt did not expect to win, but hoped, to gain strength enough to pull the Progressive party together and win in 1916.

Wife of Gen. Sickles Again Comes to His Aid—No Hope of Reconciliation Held Out.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—A plea against the sale of the personal effects of Gen. Daniel E. Sickles, the aged Civil War veteran, was made today by his estranged wife to Sheriff Harburger, who agreed to postpone the threatened sale when Mrs. Sickles promised to pay about November 10 money necessary to satisfy a new judgment against her husband.

This is the second time within a few weeks that Mrs. Sickles has come to the veteran's aid. On the other occasion she pawned jewelry that was her property when a belle in the court of Spain, when Gen. Sickles knew her there.

This action led to a report that the couple would be reconciled, but although Mrs. Sickles paid the judgment, their social relations remained as before, each declaring their reunion was impossible.

Examination of Former Senator Is to Mark the Finish of Clapp Committee's Work.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—With the examination of H. C. Pettit of Indianapolis and former Senator Albert J. Beveridge, both summoned for tomorrow, the Senate Campaign Contributions Committee expects to conclude the present series of hearings. Senator Beveridge has been urged to appear tomorrow but if he fails to reach Washington by tonight, he will be examined Saturday morning.

Both Pettit and Beveridge will be asked about the fund of $57,500, which, according to testimony before the committee, was sent to Senator Beveridge by George W. Perkins, Edward L. McLean and Gifford Pinchot and returned to the donors.

TAFT APPEALS TO GRANGES.

Writes a Strong Letter to Minnesota's Governor.

Says Our Prosperity Is Dependent on Farmer.

Dark Days of Democratic Free Trade Recalled.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BEVERLY (Mass.) Oct. 24.—President Taft made public tonight a special appeal to farmers of Minnesota and the Northwest to remain true to their Republican beliefs of past campaigns.

The political arguments submitted for consideration of rural voters were advanced in a letter which the President sent to Gov. A. O. Eberhart of Minnesota, stating that while the Republican party had not made the sun to shine, or the crops to grow, it had been responsible for the prevailing good markets.

MR. TAFT'S LETTER.

The letter said, in part:

"I am very glad to have encouraging news of the political outlook in Minnesota, and wish to thank you for the efforts you are making for Republican success. The people of your State are vitally interested in our economic system. Their welfare is dependent on the continuance of a protective tariff, and although at times, by appeal to their prejudice, they may be diverted from a clear perception of their interest, I am confident that in the end their common sense will enable them to see the fallacy of newly-dressed nostrums which in the past they have rejected. I am sure they must realize that this contest is between the Republican and Democratic parties.

"There has never been a time in our history when the farm products of the Northwest would purchase as much as they do today. Prosperity is just at our door. The Republican party bids it welcome with the promise that the economic basis which has brought about our wonderful industrial development, giving steady employment at high wages to our mechanics and artisans, shall be maintained. The Democratic platform promises a change in our tariff system, whose effect would be to halt manufacturing enterprises, throw out of employment thousands of wage earners and destroy the home market now enjoyed by the American farmer. No reforming legislation could neutralize or mitigate the paralysis which would follow.

CITES WILSON TARIFF.

"It is not necessary to jog the memory of older farmers of your State as to what happened when the Democratic party passed the Wilson tariff bill. Wheat went down to 40 cents a bushel, corn to 21 cents, oats to 18 cents, potatoes to 27 cents. In forty years farm prices had never been so low. Our farmers were struggling under debt, mortgages were being foreclosed and the deplorable condition that existed among those who tilled the soil will certainly never be forgotten by the sufferers.

"The welfare of the farmer is vital to the whole country. One of our strongest hopes of retaining prosperity is based on the business which his crops are to afford. He is vitally interested in the restraining of excessive and unduly discriminative railroad rates, in the enforcement of pure food laws, in the promotion of scientific agriculture, in the extension of rural credits and increasing the comforts of country life, as by the extension of rural free delivery.

PRAISES REPUBLICAN PARTY.

"The Republican party is responsible for the organization and growth of our splendid Department of Agriculture. Republican administrations have greatly aided agricultural development in the last fifteen years, until scientific inquiry is being made in all our States and our Territories and in the islands of the sea under our flag, to the end that we may produce the necessities of life for ourselves and for those of whom we are responsible.

"I feel confident that the voters of Minnesota will appreciate the shallowness of the attacks upon our institutions, and will not be swayed by the promise of undefined benefits which are to follow undefined changes. It does not require the eye of a witch to see that closed factories in Massachusetts and Ohio mean a diminished demand for the farm products of the Northwest. We cannot strike down the industries of one section without bringing disaster to all the people. It is not a progressive policy in any true sense to be hostile to the prosperity of any part of the country."

RAILROAD IN POLITICS.

Pennsylvania Company Stops Roosevelt Meeting and Advises Its Employees to Vote for Taft.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Pennsylvania railroad officials today conducted an anti-Roosevelt campaign by distributing literature in their shops. They also stopped a Roosevelt meeting where their workmen were listening to Roosevelt Speakers.

The workmen received literature which attacks Roosevelt and which calls them to vote for Taft. It is addressed especially to railroad employees and is prepared with a big device on the outside cover, labeled: "Danger Ahead," and the cut of a block signal on it. Inside is a box headed: "Think it over," and an argument against Roosevelt. This pamphlet has been distributed about the shops.

CARUSO IN COURT.

Noted Tenor Accuses an Opera Singer and Others with Defamation of Character.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MILAN, Oct. 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The trial of the suit for defamation of character brought by Signor Enrico Caruso, the tenor, against Signorina Giachetti, an operatic singer, a theatrical agent, named Loria, a journalist named Micalissi, and a chauffeur began today. The case arose out of charges made by Signorina Giachetti in the suit brought by her against the tenor in 1909 that he had tampered with her mail and seized a rich contract which had been sent to her by Oscar Hammerstein. The court found that these charges were false and that there had been considerable perjury and bribery. The prosecution of Signorina Giachetti and others was then ordered. The signorina in her suit claimed that Caruso's action in tampering with her mail was a piece of revenge because she had ceased to love him.

Caruso was in court today, but Giachetti did not appear. She wrote a letter to the judge in which she accused Caruso of ill-treating and cruelly abandoning her and stealing her jewels.

The case was adjourned until tomorrow. It is likely to last several days, as there are forty witnesses to be examined.

Don't let a pain in the region of your heart scare you into thinking that you have heart disease.

Just as pain in the back seldom indicates kidney trouble so pain near the heart is scarcely ever present in organic heart disease. The pain is nearly always caused by stomach trouble for the stomach and heart are connected by many nerves, and gas on the stomach causes pressure on the heart.

The alarming pains will disappear if you tone up the stomach, eat the right things, not too much of them, and don't worry. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the best stomach tonic. One pill after each meal soon produces a healthy appetite, the food does not distress you, you are no longer troubled with gas, sour risings in the throat and those misleading pains around the heart. Strength and energy return and the rich, red blood, carries renewed vitality to every organ of the body.

Mrs. Joseph A. Mong, whose address is R. F. D. No. 1, Sugar Creek, Franklin, Pa., says: "I had no appetite, my stomach was weak and I had no ambition. My food would distress me. I suffered from nausea, bad sick headaches and would be dizzy and faint. I had severe pains around my heart and in the small of my back. I was under a doctor's care but he did not help me. My sister-in-law, who had taken Dr. Williams' Pink Pills with good results, advised me to try them. I experienced relief from the first box. My appetite returned, my stomach trouble left me and I was soon in good health."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists or direct by mail at 50 cents per box or six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Send today for free 164 page book.

STOCK LETTER.

Furnished by Logan & Bryan, members New York and Boston Stock Exchanges, Investment Bldg., Los Angeles.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—The market was irregular during the first half and prices developed no definite tendency. The early heavy handicap of quite a line of leading and pertinent stocks for a time created a feeling of discouragement in many friends of the market. Foreign operations are carefully watched, and when it appeared that London and Europe were on the buying side, although for a moderate way, it gave encouragement and also started considerable covering of shorts. The feeling remained almost entirely nervous, and during moments when the market showed a drooping tendency. However, it was quite evident that good investment orders were in, and after each dip to cover.

STOCK LETTER.

Issued by Logan & Bryan, Members New York and Boston Stock Exchanges, Bradbury Bldg., Los Angeles.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—The stock market during the first two hours of business developed no details of importance. The early heavy liquidation of quite a few of Reading and one or two other stocks stopped as by magic, and in many friendly directions in the market. Foreign operations were watched, and when it presently had London and Europe for a few hours its buying ceased, although for a time in a rather somewhat irregular way. It gave considerable evidence of being short and also started one or two of the leading stocks. The feeling was at times extremely nervous, especially when the rapid advance of prices in a number of stocks became evident that good judgment alone was in, and arbitrage was to cover.

Shares and Money.

BEAR RAIDS OF NO AVAIL.

STEEL AND RAILROADS ARE ATTACKED BY SHORTS.

Prices Are Forced Down at Intervals, but Support Generally Is Effective and Recoveries Are Realized Early—Money Firmer, With Rates Unchanged.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—Almost the only noteworthy feature of today's market was the disposition to resist a series of bear attacks. From the very start the short interest adopted an aggressive attitude, finding slight encouragement in the state of foreign markets, but developing support invariably resulted in general recoveries.

The selling movement concentrated against United States Steel, the Hill issues, Union Pacific, Canadian Pacific and Lehigh Valley, after subjecting some of the minor specialties and American Can.

Prices wavered uncertainly to the last session, but support was again effective in restoring the general level to a fraction over the preceding day's close.

Time money was firm on increased demand, but rates were unchanged.

Bonds reflected the irregular course of stocks on slight trading. Total sales, par value, were $1,520,000.

United States bonds, unchanged on call.

The Boston exports were easier in tone, with some improvement before the end of the first hour. Prices were near the close. Copper shares suffered considerably in the past week, but are still higher than they were a month ago.

THE PRIZE WINNER.

Twenty-two first prize blue ribbons awarded for products exhibited by the settlers on our lands at the Kings County Central California Fair.
Think this over, Mr. Landseeker—you might just as well have land in a proven productive district as to experiment, especially when you can buy the best of it with water at our present low prices and on the easiest terms yet offered.
WE KNOW THE LAND.
It is near railroads—in the heart of one of the greatest dairying districts in California. Deep, rich, sediment soil, perpetual water right believed to exist. Grow alfalfa, corn, vegetables or any deciduous fruit. Do not neglect to investigate this before you put in purchase of land, what our settlers have done you will want some of this land.

FOR SALE—

I am offering for sale a 4300-acre stock and grain ranch in San Luis Obispo County, twelve miles from railroad. This property is conceded to have no equal on the coast for a stock, grain and alfalfa ranch. Of the total amount, half is cleared for the plow; 320 to 640 acres is sub-irrigated alfalfa land, where irrigation is unnecessary. The balance of the land is gently rolling hills covered with white and live oaks and deep rich grass. There are three living streams now, of the best of a notoriously long dry season, with innumerable springs. The soil is black sandy and a little sand, the richest on earth. A fortune can be made out of this ranch in hogs, cattle and grain. Price $15 per acre cash, or one-third. For further information, address H. box 324, TIMES BRANCH OFFICE.

Our plan gives you a definite amount to pay each month, including both principal and interest, and you know just where you stand at all times, and if you find that you can pay before the loan expires you will receive a substantial rebate on the total cost. In this way a loan can be paid off much quicker and cost much less than the customary loan providing for payment of interest only. The reputation we have firmly established with those who know us is Times Branch Office, No. 617 South Spring street.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

Hadden-Tucker Bible Class.

The free extension Bible class will meet this evening at the Church Federation, when addresses will be delivered by Rev. R. A. Hadden and Rev. W. Leon Tucker. The public is invited to attend.

Metropolitan "Ladies' Night."

The members of the Metropolitan Club will entertain their friends this evening at their club rooms, No. 349 South Hill street. An elaborate programme will be given, the principal feature of which will be a lecture by Kemper B. Campbell on the Panama Canal, illustrated by stereopticon views. This will be "Ladies Night," a regular monthly feature of the club.

Dr. Chew at Occidental.

The 11 o'clock assembly at Occidental College today will be made of especial interest through an address by Ng Poon Chew, editor of the San Francisco Daily Chung Sai Yat Po. Dr. Chew is an intimate friend of Sun Yat Sen, and has been one of the advisers in this country in reshaping the Chinese government. The football squad of twenty men from the University of Denver will be special guests. The public is invited.

Temple B'nai B'rith.

"Force of Habit" will be the subject of Dr. Hecht's discourse this evening at Temple B'nai B'rith at the weekly Sabbath service beginning at 8 o'clock. Tomorrow morning at 10:30 he will give an expository talk on the weekly Scripture lesson and at 9:45 conduct the children's Sabbath service. Edwin House, the baritone of the choir, will render a solo. Next Wednesday, October 30, the annual meeting of the congregation will be held at the assembly-room of the temple.

Knights of Khorassan High Jinks.

The fall ceremonial of Al Borak Temple, Knights of Khorassan, will be held in Turner Hall this evening. In addition to the official programme there will be an unofficial high-jinks of a stunning nature. A class of seventy-five tyros will be initiated. The order is a branch of the Knights of Pythias and it is expected to make this city the head of that order in the United States. A splendid new building is contemplated which will be a credit to the city.

Here's the Oldest Elk.

Charles C. Clusker, who died a few days ago at San Bernardino, was not, as stated, the oldest Elk in the world, according to Charles R. Tuffree of Anaheim, nephew of Joseph Tuffree of Marshalltown, Iowa. The Anaheim Tuffree claims the honor for his uncle, who he says was born February 10, 1810, whereas Clusker was born March 17 of the same year. Tuffree of Marshalltown has a son here, Joseph Tuffree, Jr., of No. 426 West Sixth street.

Church Reception Tonight.

A reception will be tendered this evening at the home of J. M. Neeland, Fifth avenue and Washington street, to the new pastor of the Arlington Heights Methodist Church, Dr. E. O. Thayer, and his family, and to Rev. J. J. Bryant and family, who go to a new charge. The reception is under the auspices of the Ladies' Circle, and all members of the church and their friends are invited.

A HORSE ON HIM.

Greek Who Gives Animal Drink After Tryout Loses Suit for Hire. Steed is Foundered.

The energy of Greek against Greek, which might have been directed toward Turkey, in the Balkans, was evidenced yesterday in Justice Reeve's court, when Joe Pitino sought to collect $22 from Cicero Pati for the use of a horse.

Pati used the nag two days, trying it out with a view to purchase. After it was returned, a veterinary testified, it was foundered. Justice Reeve's brow became corrugated over the question of whether Pitino had given the animal a drink after the try out. Pitino had, it developed; and his humanitarianism cost him the verdict.

SINGLE LIGHT ILLEGAL.

Automobile trucks carrying but a single light in front are violating the State law, according to H. Drew, head of the motorcycle speed department at the District Attorney's office. Many collisions have occurred because passers-by on dark nights have imagined these wide vehicles to be only motorcycles. Drew's office has been besieged by persons protesting that this is unjust; but he refers them to Subdivision 2, Section 4, Title 232, Act 2331 of the Civil Code. Some of the protestants asserted that they had been advised by their attorneys that a single light does not violate the law.

LETTERS TO "THE TIMES."

Auto Courtesy.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24.—[To the Editor of The Times:] There is one thing about sowing a good seed and that is that there is great force in the truth when honestly expressed. It will find its way to the consciousness even if it does not materialize into acts, but we all suffer from this fact. We accept a thing, but we find that it takes our time or our money and we hedge, and right here is where our character suffers. We should do those things which we know are right and in the path of duty.

I met a gentleman who formerly owned an auto, but is without one at present. He said that after he saw my idea of "auto courtesy on the road" in the paper he had several ask him to ride, and he believed it was through the above suggestion. I feel that this movement should appeal to many, and even if it never crystalizes into an organization, that those good hearts and souls will adopt this attitude towards the brother and sister who walk, as such attitudes by the well-to-do is what is needed to bring about a better understanding and to lessen the present breach between the masses and the classes. But the greatest benefit of all accrues in the warp and woof of the man's character who is brave enough to put into practice what he knows to be right and noble. We autoists must not let this idea of courtesy on the road die out.

J. M. EMERSON.

Inhaling Cigarettes.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 23.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I notice in your issue this morning an article on the subject as to "whether smoking is injurious or improper for either men or women" and in said article the following statement appears: "Now a really good cigarette is a dainty enough article—symmetrical, clean, innocent, etc., etc." This in itself is perfectly true "but" how is it that everybody who writes on this subject seems to completely overlook the real evil of cigarette smoking? Anyone who has observed the habitual user of cigarettes must have noticed that all who smoke them "inhale." This inhaling in a short time renders the victim as much a slave to the habit as the using of morphine does the victim of that drug. Of course I am now alluding to those on whom the habit of inhaling is once securely fastened. If anyone doubts the statement let them observe any habitual cigarette smoker when placed in such a situation as to be unable to indulge in his favorite habit, and note how nervous and uncomfortable he will soon become. The days when cigarette smoking was practically unknown (except among the Latin races) many people had to smoke either pipes or cigars and then inhaling was practically unknown. If cigarettes could be smoked in the same manner no harm would be done, but unfortunately they are not, hence the evil of them. Your correspondent also says in another place: "Many a murder could be avoided if the angered one would pause and smoke." I should put this "many a murder could be avoided if the angered one would pause and think he would be certainly hanged a few weeks after committing the crime."

The world is improving all the time. Every day brings further new proofs. We noted only yesterday, that, in his advertisement, one of the $50-suits-for-$16 tailors, had reduced his offer and made his a $35-suit-for-$16. That's a step in the right direction. Eventually, when the Millennium has come, all tailors will adopt our policy of absolute honesty in advertising. The only special that we have to offer right now is our $23 suit to order. And believe us, it IS a special.

Auction Sale of Most Beautiful Oriental Rugs
Beginning tomorrow, Friday, October 25th, and continuing until the first of the month we shall hold daily, at 10:30 and 2:30, absolute auction sales of the entire stock of beautiful Oriental rugs at present in the Los Angeles store of Nich G. Baida.
This sale is held with the object of satisfying the creditors of the Company and to pay off dollar for dollar the debts owed by our Ocean Park store in which $75,000 worth of rugs were destroyed. These rugs were absolutely uninsured. They were a total loss, and in order to fully meet the payments for them it has been decided to throw the entire stock of the Los Angeles store on the market and to sell every rug to the highest bidder. Every beautiful and rare make is included in this sale. Silk rugs of the most intricate and rich designs, Bijars, Mesheds, Isphans, Sarouks, Serapis, Tabrizes, Kirmanshahs; all the rare old weaves that mean to you, and to every buyer whatever is most exclusively in rug makes. It is the first time in the history of Los Angeles that you, the average man and woman, have had an opportunity to buy, for a small amount, such rugs as heretofore only millionaires have been able to own. As little as $10 brought here at this auction sale will buy a rug that under ordinary conditions could not be duplicated under $50. A small cash deposit will hold any rug you may purchase. Remember the sale starts this morning, October 25th, and continues for one week, at 10:30 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. daily.

INSPECTION CLINCHES FORTIFICATION PLANS.

Maj.-Gen. Wood Enthusiastic Over the Harbor Sites Shown Him.

"Possibilities Unlimited," Says the Army's Head, Now Definitely Committed to Great Los Angeles Projects. Suggests Sale of Government Land to Secure Larger Tract for Military Post Near By.

THE visit of Maj.-Gen. Leonard Wood, Chief of Staff, U.S.A., has served to clarify the harbor and army post situation, instill even larger hopes and stir up the fighting courage of the people of Southern California in a conviction that they will get what they are after. A trinity of ideas, big potentially, and going to the depths of our military system, have been openly espoused by Gen. Wood during his visit in this city. These are adequate fortifications at San Pedro, the establishment of a mobile army post south of the Tehachepi—probably in the vicinity of Los Angeles—and the building up of a great reserve army.

With so able an advocate, primed with a visual knowledge of local conditions and thoroughly in earnest in his representations, backed by the concerted action of the people on the Coast, the consummation of at least two of the ideas emerges from the realm of the theoretic into that of the practical.

Reiterating his admonition of the day before, Gen. Wood yesterday urged Southern Californians to "get behind" the projects for all they are worth. "The department is with you," said the Chief of Staff, "and we will be able to save a little money for a beginning out of the meager appropriation of this year."

Yesterday was spent by the general on the observation seat of a swift automobile and in breaking bread with enthusiastic fellow-citizens. At Point Firmin he walked over the rock-strewn hillcrest, commented upon its commanding position, noted its Gibraltar front, and its natural depressions, lending themselves admirably to fortification. He looked, and with the eye of a trained soldier, pronounced it good.

PLEASED WITH SITES.

Just to the north of the government 101 acres the general spied a stretch of land sloping gently to the beach. "That would make a fine place for an army post," he said. "It's a great thing to have a beach and plenty of water where several thousand men are stationed."

A few moments later he stood on Timms's Point and viewed the busy Los Angeles harbor of today and was told of the greater harbor of tomorrow. "This is fine," said the chief. "The possibilities are unlimited. You have a most valuable property here; one that I think lends itself admirably to your greater projects. My opinion as to the necessity of fortifying your harbor is only strengthened by what I have seen. The plans are feasible."

From Timms's Point, which lies at the foot of Fourteenth street in San Pedro, and is the natural harbor grand stand, the guest was shown the government forty acres. He at once suggested the possibility of selling or trading this land for a large tract farther inland, which might be utilized for the purposes of an army post.

United States Engineer McKinstry explained that the city had to pay at the rate of about $50,000 an acre for the land it acquired, adding that made a difference to San Pedro whether land was for sale or purchase. Smiles by those present, Mayor Alexander not being in the party. However, Gen. Wood's suggestion was given serious consideration and may be heard from later. The return trip was made by way of Redondo, over twenty-five miles of roads that would delight the heart of a less observant strategist than Gen. Wood. During the trip he was shown thousands of fertile acres where an army post might be located anywhere and still be within striking distance of the city, the sea and the forts.

It was shortly after 3 o'clock a.m. that the covey of autos engulfed the harbor-bound party on what may become an epochal trip in local history. The trail-blazer carried Gen. Wood, Capt. Osborne, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Gen. Chaffee, who has a speaking acquaintance with every harbor ripple; Col. McKinstry, United States engineer, who is a walking encyclopedia of information, and Dist.-Atty. Fredericks. In the second machine, commanded by P. F. Wood, were Congressman Stephens and Gen. Wankowski, while a third, with Maj. E. F. C. Klokke in charge, transported Maj. A. J. Copp and Capt. Frank R. McCoy, the latter of the general staff and accompanying Gen. Wood. The last two machines were ballasted with newspaper men.

DEFINITELY COMMITTED.

The expedition was a complete success. Gen. Wood, who remembered San Pedro as a landing stage, knows now that Los Angeles is not disbursing idle words when she drives home again and again the need for a greater harbor, adequate fortifications and an army post within striking distance. He is definitely committed to do everything within his power for all of these great public works, and those who have been closest to him during his visit believe that this "best" will be a great deal.

At 1 o'clock in the afternoon Gen. Wood was the guest of the directorate of the Chamber of Commerce at a luncheon served in a private banquet hall in the Los Angeles Athletic Club. He was introduced by President Osborne and welcomed in two-minute talks by the Mayor, Gen. Harrison Gray Otis, Congressman Stephens, former Senator Flint, Joseph Scott and Gen. George S. Patton.

The Mayor said he thought Los Angeles is entitled to much because she helps herself and shows her own confidence in her projects by spending her own money in their behalf. "Our needs are many because we are growing so fast," he continued, "and we hope that you will aid us all you can."

Gen. Harrison Gray Otis, introduced as the dean of Los Angeles journalism as well as a distinguished soldier in the Civil and Spanish wars, extended a further hearty welcome on behalf of the people of Los Angeles to the Chief of Staff.

"The United States army," continued Gen. Otis, "is a great conservator of liberty and law; the republic's greatest defense. It is not a representative of an aristocracy, but of a democracy; its officers and soldiers are from the people from every walk of life. The army is not a menace to the liberty of the people, but is entitled to sympathy and support. All know what was accomplished by the army to save the Union, and we are now one republic because of the part of patriotism and valor of her soldiers when it seemed at times as though out liberty was menaced."

Congressman Stephens added a word of welcome, and former Senator Flint declared that Southern California owes much to Gen. Wood because he understands our people and our needs. "His recommendation," said Flint, "will go father towards giving us a realization of our hopes than that of any one else in the country."

FOR RESERVE ARMY.

The greater part of Gen. Wood's interesting response, after a graceful expression and a reiteration of what he told the representatives of the Southern California Chambers of Commerce on Wednesday relative to his entire approval and co-operation in the desire for a fortified harbor to teachers who need them and may be returned, at the expense of the county. Teachers are urged not to deprive themselves of books, but not to buy useless volumes.

Keppel will not have a school visiting schedule this year, because of press of other work. Deputy Superintendents Lowe, Phillips and Wheat will do the visiting, and teachers may see the reports on their own grades at the county office.

Inspecting the Sites for the Harbor Fortifications.

Reading from left to right are Capt. Osborne, Gen. Chaffee, Gen. Wood, Capt. Fredericks and Col. McKinstry. Standing in their rear are Congressman Stephens (left) and Gen. Wankowski. The smaller photograph was taken on Point Firmin on the spot where it is proposed to locate the heavy coast defense battery. In it Col. McKinstry is pointing out to Gen. Wood the strategic advantages of the site.

OF INTEREST TO TEACHERS.

County Superintendent of Schools Sends Circulars Brimful of Useful Information.

County Superintendent of Schools Keppel sent circulars to all teachers in his jurisdiction yesterday, containing general information on many subjects of interest to them. Some of the items are:

High school pupils residing in common school districts that have no high schools may attend any high school in the State without paying tuition. A school day, under the law, is that time in which a pupil may accomplish one-twentieth of a month's work. Each child must be present at least a quarter of a day to be marked present for that day's work.

Fire drills must be held at every schoolhouse at least once a month and there must be suitable fire-fighting apparatus.

Strict enforcement of the revised vaccination laws is urged, unless certificates are presented, testifying that the parents are conscientiously opposed to vaccination. Pupils in attendance at schools outside their own districts earn about $36 a year in State and county appropriations, and their absence deprives their own districts of a like sum. This amount is not a measure of the cost of educating a child for a year, however.

The "deadly house-fly" must be kept out, at all costs. Screens must be put on all windows. Books from the county teachers' library, which contains 5000 volumes, will be sent

HERE TO FIGHT FOR HER BABY.

Mrs. Walter Miller Clark Tanner Returns.

Rush Trip from Paris for Legal Struggle.

Dramatic Meeting in Home of Father-in-Law.

Speeding from Paris to Los Angeles as fast as rail and steamship could convey her, Mrs. Virginia McDowell Clark Tanner, weeping and on the point of hysteria, reached this city last night to begin a legal warfare today against her millionaire father-in-law, J. Ross Clark, vice-president of the Salt Lake Railroad, for the recovery of the guardianship of her baby boy.

John W. Tanner, her second husband, is with her.

Mrs. Tanner will today, according to Attorneys Leo V. Youngworth and Oscar C. Mueller, her counsel, seek from the court restoration of her guardianship over her 2½-year-old baby, Walter Miller Clark, Jr., born of her marriage to one of the heroes who went down in the ill-fated Titanic.

Press dispatches at the time said Walter Miller Clark lost his life in sacrifice for his wife. She since caused a national furore by her alliance, within seven months after

Thomas Earley,
Former Mayor of Pasadena, who died there yesterday after a brief illness.

Many Mourn.

HIS REQUIEM A CITY'S GRIEF.

FORMER MAYOR EARLEY OF PASADENA DEAD.

Chairman of County Good Roads Commission and Twice Chief Executive of Crown City Succumbs After Brief Sickness—Long Record of Good Work Done.

Thomas Earley, chairman of the Los Angeles County Good Roads Commission and former Mayor of Pasadena, died at 11:45 o'clock yesterday morning after a sickness covering a few weeks. His death occurred at his home in Pasadena, No. 163 South Marengo avenue, where he was taken from the Pasadena Hospital several days ago. He was conscious until the last minute and all of the members of his family were with him.

In his passing Southern California loses one of its most stalwart and respected residents, and in Pasadena, where he had lived for a quarter of a century, he is personally mourned by practically every citizen. He had twice been Pasadena's chief executive and, when elected for the second time polled more votes than have ever been received by any other candidate. As a pioneer, business man, road builder and an office holder, he was identified with the Crown City as perhaps no other person has ever been.

He and his family recently returned from a trip to Europe which had extended over several months. A few days later he was taken to the hospital. He had been suffering from a liver complaint for some time and had consulted specialists while abroad. Local surgeons immediately made an exploratory operation but found his condition such that they could not perform a contemplated operation in an attempt to save his life. He remained at the hospital for several weeks, during which time much solicitude over his condition was expressed by hundreds of persons. He had been at home but a week when the end came. Despite the gravity of his condition, he remained cheerful, and expressed regret that, thus incapacitated, he was unable to attend to the business of the commission of which he was chairman and principal member.

The body is at the Turner & Stevens undertaking rooms in Pasadena. Funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

Earley was 63 years of age. He was born in Wisconsin and when a young man he enlisted in the regular army, serving as a cavalryman. Later he engaged in business at Algona, Iowa, where he served as supervisor of the construction of county roads. From this time on he gave much time and thought to road-building, in which branch of work he was regarded as one of the country's experts.

After coming to Pasadena Earley became interested in the oil industry. In 1907 he was elected Mayor of that city, and was re-elected in 1909, having been Mayor Thum's immediate predecessor.

Besides a widow, he leaves a son, George Earley, and two daughters, Miss Jessie Earley and Miss Allee Earley, all of whom live in Pasadena.

BEAUTIFUL OPENING.

Broadway Jewelry House Has Fine Display and Large Crowd—New Art Ware Department.

Crowds paused before the beautiful windows of the jewelry house of S. Nordlinger & Sons, No. 631-633 South Broadway, yesterday, and many found their way to the second floor of the house, where was exposed to public view for the first time the new art department of the firm.

For months the head of this department has been abroad securing treasures in the way of bric-a-brac, marbles, rare chinas and carved woods, handsome favences and odd articles of virtu.

The placing of these beautiful objects was happily consummated, and those who visited the place yesterday admired as freely the harmonious arrangement of the whole as the exquisite taste in the selection of the articles themselves.

The opening will continue today and Saturday of the present week.

CONGRATULATES COUNCIL.

The Executive Committee of the Municipal League adopted resolutions yesterday congratulating the Council upon its solution of the Main-street traffic congestion problem, and commending the freight-carrying franchise recommended yesterday by the Council Legislation Committee.

Death Death.

HOME ALONE, WOMAN SLAIN.

Crime Revealed After Lapse of Two Days.

Broken Furniture Indicates Fierce Struggle.

Motive for Act Puzzles the City Authorities.

Worried by the non-appearance of Mrs. Marie Rachel, believed to be the sister daughter of Dr. F. W. Lilienthal, a wealthy New York physician, who lived alone in a cottage at No. 5403 South San Pedro street, neighbors investigated yesterday and discovered the body of the aged woman lying dead in the wreckage of her household effects. Broken furniture and dishes bore witness to the desperate struggle of the victim who had after having been struck on the head repeatedly with a sharp instrument, apparently an iron spoon or some other crescent-shaped weapon.

The tragedy, which adds to the criminal annals of Los Angeles, was discovered by accident. Mrs. A. Werking, No. 5879 South San Pedro street, saw the body through a bedroom window after repeated knocking had failed to elicit a response, and notified the police of the University Station. The woman had not been seen about the house since Monday and it is thought she was killed that night.

Motorcycle Policeman Werne effected an entrance to the house through the front door and made an investigation of the interior. Dressed in a nightgown and stockings the victim lay face down on the carpet in the parlor. On every hand was evidence of a desperate fight for life. Lamps had been knocked from the center table; lace curtains were torn from their fastenings; portiers were dragged from the doors and dishes were shattered on the floor. The story of the fatal struggle is told by the mute evidence of broken furniture more eloquently than written words can portray it. Not a room in the house remained intact, and following in the path of the devastation is a trail of crimson that speaks volumes.

News of the crime spread rapidly and hundreds of curious, mostly women and children, flocked to the scene of the tragedy. Almost with the first arrival came persons who threw light on the situation. Mrs. R. C. Duncan, No. 5883 South San Pedro street, told of hearing screams for help late Monday night, while passing the Rachel cottage.

CALLS FOR HELP.

"I heard someone scream 'Help! Help!' in a woman's voice, but I was a little frightened and did not know just where the sound came from," Mrs. Duncan said yesterday. "It was about 11:30 at night and I am a new comer so I felt timid about investigating. I had heard there was a man in the neighborhood who drank heavily and sometimes abused his wife, so I went home and paid no further attention to the moment. This was Monday night and I understand no one saw Mrs. Rachel after that evening. Later in the night we heard some one running down the sidewalk. It seemed like one foot struck harder than the other as though one of the persons running was lame. It sounded like two persons running."

Mrs. F. L. Stanley, who lives almost directly across the street from the cottage where the crime was committed, heard screams for help at about the same time. Meeting a neighbor, Mrs. Sarah Romeo, No. 5905 South San Pedro street, the following morning, she inquired whether she, too, had heard the cry for help and the two women discussed the unusual occurence without attaching any special significance to the happening.

"I do not know what time it was when I was startled by the cries," Mrs. Stanley said, "but I heard them very distinctly. They seemed rather faint, but in a woman's voice. It was almost impossible for me to determine just where they came from. I listended a little while and when I heard nothing more I supposed it might have been some boys or some one passing in the alley back of the house. The incident worried me, however, and I spoke to the neighbors about it the following morning."

The results of the detectives' search apparently eliminated the motive of robbery. A gold watch, two bracelets, several rings, a small jewel box and several breastpins were found, in addition to a small purse containing $6.13. A bank book showed a credit of $350 in the Security Trust and Savings Bank of this city.

LAST SEEN ALIVE.

So far as the police were able to learn, the last person who saw Mrs. Rachel alive, aside from the assassin, was J. A. Copes, a grocer at No. 400 East Slauson avenue. According to Copes, Mrs. Rachel came to his store about 7:30 o'clock Monday night and left after exchanging some books. The theory of the police is that she was killed late Monday night and this theory is borne out by the physicians who conducted the post mortem examination.

Dr. J. L. Owens, who has an office at Forty-first street and South Park avenue, said yesterday that he received a call from Mrs. Rachel Monday afternoon but was unable to go to her home because of other business. He had been attending her as her physician for some months.

Mrs. F. J. Gehres, No. 5867 South San Pedro street, who has lived next door to Mrs. Rachel for almost two years, said that the aged woman appeared to possess considerable money as it was not unusual for her to cash checks for large sums.

"She had an income from some one, some wealthy relative in the East as near as I can remember from what she has told me at odd times," Mrs. Gehres said. "Her husband was a veteran of the Civil War and she received a pension. She was eccentric in many ways and few of the neighbors were friendly with her. This probably explains why none of us lived near the house sooner when we missed her for a couple of days. She was a very bright woman apparently, well educated, and told me that she was a graduate physician."

Mrs. Rachel lived in the house where she was killed for almost two years. Formerly she lived at No. 217 East Fifty-ninth place, where a stepbrother is said to have resided with her. The name of this step-brother could not be learned, although he is said to have been the proprietor of a candy store in this city for some time. Later he left the city after visiting a few weeks with Mrs. Rachel at her home on San Pedro street. Aside from this brother, the neighbors say she had a son from whom she was estranged, in Seattle and her mother is thought to be living in New York. Letters found among her effects gave the addresses of friends in New York, and one letter, written in German, addressed Dr. F. W. Lilienthal, No. 405 West One Hundred and Fifty-fourth street, as foster father.

The body was taken to Booth & Boylson's undertaking rooms where a post mortem examination was conducted by Dr. L. J. Huff. She had been struck repeatedly on the head with a sharp instrument, the wounds extending to the skull and causing hemorrhages. There was a heavy bruise above the left eye and an abrasion on the left side of the face.

Mrs. Marie Rachel, Slain Woman, and Her Home.

The body was found in the parlor by a neighbor yesterday, and the cross indicates where it lay.

Signed Statement.

FREEHOLDERS BOARD ON THE CITY CHARTER.

THE following signed statement was issued last night by the city charter framers:

To the People of Los Angeles:

The Board of Freeholders elected by the people of this city in May last to carry on the work begun by the Charter Revision Commission has completed and filed with the City Clerk and County Recorder a new charter for the city of Los Angeles, providing for the commission form of government, with such modifications as local conditions make necessary. The instrument is now in course of official publication; and a special election on the question of its adoption will be held within a few weeks.

The need for a new charter is conceded on all hands. The present charter was adopted in 1889, when the city had less than 50,000 people, and has been amended and re-amended until it has become a veritable patchwork, unintelligible even to its authors, and still more so to the multitudes of newcomers who are constantly arriving. It does not clearly locate power and responsibility; and under its provisions our officials, even with the best intentions, cannot transact the public business in a manner satisfactory to the citizens or with due credit to themselves.

The new charter is adapted to present-day conditions and provides for the larger future now foreseen by all. It differs from the existing charter in being shorter, simpler and easier to understand; in reserving for the city a wider range of power—in fact, as we believe, larger powers than are enjoyed by any other city in the world; in recognizing more fully, at the instance of the women of the city, the humanitarian side of municipal life; in providing a more efficent and business-like organization of the administrative forces of the city; in greater flexibility as to election laws and various policies which the people may in future desire to change; and in placing in the hands of the people a surer and more effective control of every department of the city government and of the government as a whole. It is doubtful whether any charter ever submitted to an American city so thoroughly embodied the views of the leading authorities on municipal government as does the Los Angeles plan now proposed. Yet it is in every sense a local product, adapted by careful study and deliberation to the special needs and requirements of Los Angeles. In working out the plan adopted many details have been omitted, and will be included in an administrative code soon to be prepared and, at a later election, submitted to the people for approval.

While following, in its principal features, the commission plan, thus far remarkably satisfactory in its results in many cities, we have thought best to depart from its usual type to the extent of providing for seven instead of five commissioners; and making the auditor, or controller, an elective official instead of permitting the commission to audit its expenditures through an officer of its own selection. Acting, too, upon the unanimous counsel of the city's expert advisers, the Board of Freeholders decided to remove all appointive offices from the domain of politics and place them under the merit system, thus opening the door of equal opportunity to all the people. To strengthen and guarantee the enforcement of this most democratic provision, a special jury—the only one in the charter—was provided for support of the work of the Civil Service Board and that of the Efficiency Bureau, another important agency provided for improvement of the city's service.

The new municipal organization proposed is extremely simple. The business of the city is divided among eight great departments, each of which will be in charge of a single official, elected by the people, directly responsible to them, removable by them, and well paid for devoting his undivided time to the city's interests. One of these officials will be elected as Mayor, and will be commissioner of public safety, in control of the police and fire departments; one will be elected as controller and will manage the department of audit and control; and the six others will be elected simply as commissioners and assigned by the Mayor, after the election, as managers of the departments of (1) public utilities, (2) public works, (3) harbors and transportation, (4) finance, (5) public welfare and (6) parks, libraries and recreations. The people will thus be able to hold an elective official directly responsible for every part of the administration.

To insure the co-operation of these departments and the co-ordination of every part of the business of the city, the Mayor and the six other commissioners are made a municipal commission, which is required to meet daily, and, in session, exercise supervisory control of all the departments; and, to render this governing body of the city absolutely responsible to the people, the charter provides that every ordinance, order, resolution and motion shall be reduced to writing and read before a vote is taken; that the yeas and nays shall be recorded on every question; and that no act of the commission shall go into effect until signed by four of the commissioners. A more effective basis for publicity as to the conduct of a legislative and administrative body could hardly be conceived.

In so large a body as the board of freeholders, representing practically every element of the population of the city, it was inevitable that there should be earnest differences of opinion, and that the conclusions arrived at should in some cases represent compromises; but, while concessions had to be made by all in order to reach common ground, this was done without sacrificing the rights or interests of the people. In our opinion the charter as prepared marks a great and distinct advance upon any instrument of the kind ever before drafted, and if adopted, will give Los Angeles a position of enviable distinction among the best governed cities in the world. With its safeguards of the initiative, referendum and recall, the people of Los Angeles will find it worthy of their hearty and unqualified support. We urge that every citizen give its provisions the fullest consideration. In this action, every member of the board of freeholders earnestly and unreservedly joins.

Finds Wife's Note, Prepares Babes' Meal, Then Takes Poison—Rushed to Hospital.

Mrs. Frances Atchley, petite, attractive and just 20, bought a jounty plaid overcoat yesterday afternoon, returned to her home, No. 5842 South Hoover street, kissed her fifteen months old baby goodbye, wrote a farewell not to her husband, and disappeared. Two hours later John Atchley, her husband, returned home, read the note, prepared a meal for the children, wrote a message to neighbors asking them to provide for them and swallowed a vial of bichloride of mercury.

Diamond Markets are Advancing

The steady and persistent rise of the diamond markets is accounted for by the dual fact that—while the supply of perfect stones is constantly diminishing—the aesthetic growth of the world is increasing the demand.

The ownership of perfect diamonds, therefore, can scarcely be otherwise than profitable, providing one relies in selection on such a house as Feagans and Company—where none but perfect gems of rarest quality can gain admittance—and where every stone is sold at its actual market worth.

This store has had the honor of showing the most important gem diamonds ever brought to Los Angeles. We pride ourselves not so much in enormous extent of our showing, but rather in the unsurpassable perfection of every gem.

Clark's tragic death, with John W. Tanner of Los Angeles, in New York.

Immediately after her arrival here last night Mrs. Tanner, accompanied by her attorneys, went directly from the depot to the residence of her father-in-law, No. 710 West Adams street. She was not accompanied by her husband. There a dramatic scene ehsued.

When J. Ross Clark came into the reception-room he stopped in the doorway, looked long and steadily at Mrs. Tanner, and then in a broken voice asked:

NO REPLY.

"Why, oh, why, did you bring this sorrow upon us—this marriage?"

Weeping, Mrs. Tanner made no reply.

Restraining emotion which threatened hysteria, the mother requested Mr. Clark to permit her to see her baby. The child was led into the room. In a moment mother and son were clasped, weeping, in each other's arms.

"My baby boy! My boy! My darling!" The mother exclaimed, as she clutched the child excitedly. "They want to take you from me! They want to steal you from your mother. But they shan't. They cannot!"

J. Ross Clark obtained guardianship of the child while the mother was on her second bridal tour, alleging that she had deserted the baby here.

"It's all so unjust, so persecuting," said Mrs. Tanner. "It almost kills me to think that I cannot have my own baby. What guardianship is any but a mother's? Little Walter's grandfather is driving me mad. It is my baby, not his; he has no right to treat me this way. I received cable advices that he had succeeded in having himself made guardian, and that very night I started from Paris for Havre, where I made connections with the steamship Savoy, arrived in New York Saturday, and at once I left for Los Angeles.

"I intend to fight for my child. I know they will do everything they can to keep him away from me, as he is the last male heir of the Clark family and I have married again. But they shall not succeed."

Mrs. Tanner knew the futility of attempting to take her baby from beneath her father-in-law's roof, but, motherlike, she made the request, and was politely refused.

"The court has given the child into my keeping. I shall carry out the order of the court," said the father-in-law.

AT MOTHER'S HOME.

Leaving the Clark mansion, Mrs. Tanner went to the home of her mother, Mrs. Ada McDowell, No. 2121 Park Grove avenue, who has been sick as a result of notoriety incumbent upon her daughter's marriage to Tanner. Her daughter was married to Walter Miller Clark three years ago last January.

Scarcely had the shock of the Titanic horror subsided when the widow of one who had been most conspicuously brave on that terrible night fired the country again with her name and the memory of his heroism by wedding Tanner, well known here and in New York.

ATTORNEY'S STATEMENT.

"Mrs. Tanner—at that time Mrs. Clark—was on the verge of nervous prostration as a result of her father-in-law's attempts to get possession of the child," said Attorney Youngworth last night. "Her physicians ordered her away, unincumbered, for rest. She went to New York. There Tanner proposed to her. She said she could not wed him at the time. Tanner's mother, in Paris, cabled him—or rather her physicians did—that she was dying. He had to go to her at once. Naturally, he pressed his suit with Mrs. Clark and won. It was expected news of the marriage would not become public until the couple's return to the United States. But it got out some way. However, they went to Paris and there they were when Mrs. Tanner received the cable that J. Ross Clark had secured guardianship of the baby.

"Mrs. Tanner is ready to prove that she not only left the child safely with her mother, but supplied funds for its maintenance, paid the rent of the house, and so on. That does not look as though she deserted her baby, does it? She begins her fight for recovery of the youngster immediately."

J. Ross Clark, however, has views obviously different from these expressions.

"Virginia McDowell Clark shut herself out of our lives," he says. "Her love was evidently a negligible quantity. She is not now, nor shall she ever again be, a member of our family. Not only did she wound our affections, but she caused her own mother's illness."

HEARING TOMORROW.

Late yesterday afternoon Mrs. Tanner, accompanied by Attorney Youngworth, appeared at the Van Nuys and called on Judge R. M. Clarke of Ventura, requesting a date for a hearing in the effort to secure a modification of the order awarding the custody of the child to J. Ross Clark. Immediate action was requested, but Judge Clarke, who is sitting in Judge Rives's court, stated that this was impossible, and set tomorrow morning at 9:30.

ON FREW OR FERRIS.

Because Justice G. H. Brown's calendar was too full for a complete hearing, the case of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation against Dick Ferris, W. L. Frew and Roy Knabenshue was continued yesterday after a brief session, until next Wednesday. The company is suing for $284, alleged to be due for gas consumed during the last aviation meet. By mutual consent Knabenshue's name has been dropped as a joint defendant, and the responsibility will fall upon Frew or Ferris. Both admit that the gas was used and the bill is correct. The contract produced shows no partnership. Each claims he was only an agent, Ferris of Frew, and Frew of the whole promotion crowd.

"Have used Eckman's Alterative in several cases of tubercular glands of the neck, with excellent results every time. Coats That Can't Be Duplicated for Less Than From $22.50 to $30

For Women—As stunning garments as you could wish to see, composed mainly of women's fancy cloakings, that overflowed from the cutting-room into the corridors and witness-rooms. Guy Eddie, suspended City Prosecutor, was given a public hearing yesterday afternoon before Judge Graham on the charge of contributing to the delinquency of Alma Jones, a colored. The examination will be resumed tomorrow morning, but will probably not be concluded until next week.

Eddie's jury trial on a similar delinquency charge, the complaining witness being Alice Phelps, will begin November 21. This will also be public.

In yesterday afternoon's proceedings, the colored girl who accuses the city's moral censor of attempt to commit a crime in his private office was subjected to a long cross-examination by Attorney Domingues, chief counsel for the defendant. She admitted a number of shady things in connection with her past.

Effort as was suggested by Judge Graham during the proceedings, the state has not attempted to prove any special virtues on the part of the complaining witness, and her admissions on cross-examination tended all the more to place her within the category of a dependent child. The court has repeatedly held that marriage does not change the status of a woman under 21 who is proved wayward.

FLOURISHES A BOTTLE.

At one period in his cross-examination Attorney Domingues flourished an empty bottle toward the witness, exclaiming: "Do you know what that is?"

The witness was sure that it was a bottle, but the lawyer declared that he would show on the defense that Mrs. Jones tried to commit suicide by taking carbolic acid contained in the bottle he so dramatically flourished.

It is evident that the defense will use witnesses to show that the lonely colored girl was addicted to strong drink and liked cigarettes.

"Isn't it a fact that you smoke Egyptian cigarettes by the bushel?" asked Domingues.

"Oh, no," replied the witness carefully, "I have often smoked cigarettes, but not in such quantities."

A bubble of laughter from richly-dressed colored women in the rear of the courtroom followed the sally. The court administered a stern rebuke and declared that any further outbreaks would result in the court-room being cleared.

The alleged suicide incident will evidently be made much of by the defense.

When the hearing first opened, Attorney Works asked that the girl witness be placed in a chair facing the lawyers. This was done and Mrs. Jones sat within a few feet of Judge Graham during her examination. She spoke in low tones and only in immediate proximity could hear what she said. IN HIS OWN BEHALF.

Alleged Head of National Homestead Association Denies Government's Land Fraud Charges.

The trend of the defense in the trial of Elias C. Redman, president of the National Homestead Association, charged with having used the mails to defraud, was indicated yesterday in the United States District Court, when Redman testified.

Redman said he met E. C. Rideout, part-time manager of the company, when Edward Sherman, a real estate operator, said he had a customer who wanted to purchase considerable land. They met in Sherman's office in the Citizens' National Bank building. The witness and Rideout later discussed the proposition that Redman should buy certain lands in the Antelope Valley for Rideout.

Rideout and Dr. Wilkinson entered into a contract to purchase 4000 acres. Redman said he had the lands transferred to on option. He said Charles A. George, Charles M. Read and Edward Sherman owned the land. He accepted the position of president of the National Homestead Association in April, 1908, the company being organized by Wilkinson, Rideout and himself. It was the understanding that they were to do all the business and he was to be only a figurehead. The witness declared that he owned only one share of the stock. Later Redman assumed the management of the business of the National Homestead Association, because he did not like the way in which it was being conducted, he said, and opened a new set of books. He denied all the charges of the government that he was the directing head of the corporation and that after he assumed active management of its affairs he continued to send out alluring literature that caused a number of persons to invest in Antelope Valley land.

SUPREME COURT'S GRIST.

Hears Appeal of Heirs, Who Assert Will Was Signed Under Duress. Evening News Echo.

The appeal of heirs of Mary E. Farrell, involving the disposition of property valued at more than $400,000, was heard on argument in Department One, of the State Supreme Court yesterday. The brother of the deceased, James F. Garner, and his heirs, are seeking to break the will, alleging it was signed under duress. The instrument gave all of the property, with the exception of a few bequests, to Charles A. Purcell, a son-in-law, of Oakwood Park, Chicago, and about twenty other heirs.

In Department Two, the case of R. Stange against Newton Skinner, Los Angeles Stove Company, W. Schofield and C. J. Roser, was argued. Garstang alleges he lent the company $15,000 on the security of Skinner. Afterward Garstang signed releases, which he alleges he did not understand.

Another case was that of the Long Electrical Manufacturing Company, against Agostine Orcill. Orcill, working for the company invented an electrical fuse, and took it as his own. The company sued for possession.

The case of Thomas F. Cooke against Joseph Meamber, involving the payment of notes pledged by business men to start the old Evening Herald, was heard in Department One. Cooke and Cooke, who is assignee of the banks, is asking payment of the notes individually, the publishing company being out of business.

One doddering man with gold eyeglasses and a cane, toddled into one of the seats reserved by the press and was ejected by Bailiff Strohm.

The move to have a public hearing instituted by Dominguez had a good effect, according to court officials. They stated the only possible disadvantage would be from the rush of purient-minded persons to hear the testimony. But as no one outside the railing can hear the witnesses, their journey to court will be in vain.

Mrs. Eddie and her mother, Mrs. Park, sat by themselves. The former looked pale and worn. She seemed to suffer from headache, and frequently passed her hand to her eyes as though in pain. She seldom looked at her husband.

The defendant was seated by the side of H. J. Giesler, the new counsel for the defence. Arranged along the table were Works, Stephens, Dehm, and Dominguez, all defense lawyers.

Deputy District-Attorneys McCartney and Blair, with Humane Officer McLaughlin, occupied the other end of the table.

IN EDDIE'S OFFICE.

After telling her name, age and residence, Mrs. Jones told of her successive visits to the office of Eddie. She said on the first occasion, she was trying to get her husband out of jail. They had a "scrap," she said, and as a result, the Pullman porter landed in jail on a charge of disturbing the peace.

She said when Eddie had talked with her a few minutes, he complimented her upon her shapely ankles. Later, she swore, he went much further in his remarks and physical attentions and tried to seduce her.

"Mr. Eddie asked me if I didn't want to work for him," said the witness. "I didn't like the idea of getting evidence against places, but told him I would think about it."

She testified she returned to the office of the genial City Prosecutor several times to talk over her "work." Finally, she said she asked him for some money. He gave her a check for $3 and had Deputy Choate go with her to a bank to identify her and get the paper cashed.

The girl told how she had worked for different families in the city and her tones showed that she had been with cultivated persons, whatever her life had been at intervals.

The direct examination was short and to the point. Then came the cross-examination and the many impeaching questions.

Mrs. Jones was asked about her acquaintance with Fred Grant, Jr., Arthur Gibson, Homer Anderson Sparr, George Johnson and others who will doubtless appear on behalf of the defendant.

The girl frankly admitted some things and denied others. Most of these related to unprintable matters.

While it has been hinted by the prosecutors that there is corraborative evidence, the defense professes to believe that Mrs. Jones is virtually the sole witness against Eddie as relating to alleged actions on his part when the negress and he were alone together.

The case is not considered as strong as the Phelps case, which has four corroborating witnesses.

SEARCHLIGHT ON PAST.

Police Believe Man Captured With Plunder in Pocket, Has Committed Many Burglaries.

That Charles Monroe, who was arrested Tuesday afternoon by Patrolman Frost, after he had robbed the residence of M. L. Henderson, No. 3420 Fresno street, has committed numerous burglaries in this city is the opinion of the police.

Monroe has steadfastly refused to assist the detectives in tracing his movements during the past two months and the officers are busily endeavoring to unravel the mystery surrounding his career here. The officers are gathering fragments of evidence which they assert will connect Monroe with more than twenty house burglaries. Most of them, according to the police, were committed by daylight.

When arrested, he had about $300 worth of jewelry on his person, consisting mostly of rings, stick pins, and bracelets, with a revolver of antique pattern, a pair of mounted pearl opera glasses and check drawn on the Home Telephone Company. The opera glasses connect him with the robbery of the home of R. F. Ottoway, No. 972 Euclid avenue, and the check, with the robbery of the home of T. A. Brown of Huntington Park. At the same time, two other residences at Huntington Park were robbed of jewelry valued at $500.

Monroe is about 36 years old, and weighs 180 pounds. When arrested he wore a salt and pepper suit, with a black campaign felt hat, and black button shoes.

ATTACKS FRESNO'S RATES.

Gas Company Declares Charges Are all Wrong and Seeks Injunction. Wants Deposit.

The Pacific Gas and Electric Company brought suit in the United States District Court yesterday against the city of Fresno, to have an order issued by the court temporarily restraining the defendant from enforcing an ordinance arbitrarily fixing the rates to be charged for gas there. The application for the injunction will be made this morning.

It is alleged that March 4, last, the Board of Trustees adopted an ordinance establishing gas rates for illuminating, heating and cooking at $1 for 1000 cubic feet from the 1st inst. to September 30, 1913.

Neither the Mayor nor the Board of Trustees, it is charged, had any knowledge of the cost of producing and delivering gas or the cost of the plant. It is further declared that the old rate of $1.25 for 1000 feet was sufficient to secure a net income of only .056 per cent. of the value of the physical properties of the company.

The value of the plant in Fresno is asserted to be $654,631, which includes the land, valued at $22,700, mains, pipes, meters, machinery, tools and good will.

Pending the outcome of the suit the company asks to be permitted to require advance payment for gas or the deposit of proper security.

AUTO VERSUS MOTORCYCLE.

Arthur Cole, 18 years old, a special delivery messenger, while riding on his motorcycle at Twelfth and San Pedro streets yesterday afternoon was struck by an automobile driven by L. Wood, No. 516 East Twenty-third street, and painfully injured. At the Receiving Hospital it was found he had sustained numerous cuts and bruises about the body. Cole lives at No. 1325 East Fourteenth street. He will recover.

Inspection Clinches.

and a mobile army post, was devoted to a presentation of the pressing need for a reserve army in the United States.

"The department is anxious to do the right thing by the Pacific Coast," said Gen. Wood. "This coast is well fortified except at San Pedro. Here the defenses should be built and the department will do all it can to secure them. We want to make the army as useful as possible to the people of the United States in return for the money spent. There will probably be established three groups on the Pacific Coast; one in the Puget Sound country, the other at San Francisco, which is already in existence, and the third in the South, probably in the vicinity of Los Angeles. At least I know pretty well what we shall recommend."

Gen. Wood explained that he considered the Hawaiian Islands the most important single defense on the Pacific Coast, upon which hinges the dependence of the trade of the United States and the Far East. This, he thinks, would be the first point of attack in the event of war and he would make it impregnable.

"There will be serious opposition to the removal of army posts from the interior where they were located in the days of Indian warfare, but the country generally will support our policy. Our destiny now is to preserve the Indian rather than kill him.

"The regular army is not urging militarism but is urging preparedness for trouble. We need reserves. The regular army when recruited at its full strength is only 100,000 men. We have about 90,000 men under arms, half of whom are stationed out of the country. We not only need reserves but we need military supplies. It is a serious condition and people must take heed of it as they would of an epidemic or other menace.

"PREPARE FOR WAR."

"We may some day be confronted by a great war with little time in which to get ready. Proportionately the navy is much stronger than the army. At present the people will not listen to suggestions for a great standing army. The solution lies in the reserve system."

In effect the reserve system proposed by Gen. Wood and the one which he is preaching as the "stitch in time," provides for a short term enlistment "under colors," that is in active service. During this active service, however, the enlisted man is to be taught the art of soldiering. He will learn to shoot; he will learn maneuvering; he will learn to fight scientifically, and when his term is over he will go upon a reserve list with a stipend of $5 per month, $2 of which will be paid him and $3 reserved. He is to be called upon only in time of war when the reserve fund which has been accumulating will be turned over to his family. He will not be molested in his civic pursuits except that every other year he must spend ten days in "brushing up," for which he will receive full pay. In this way Gen. Wood believes that an army of 400,000 trained soldiers could be put into the field on short notice.

The Chief of Staff would not keep men on enlistment for long terms of years. If a soldier develops no ambition and is content to serve as a private, and finally, when his usefulness as a fighting man is gone, be made a non-commissioned officer on a charity basis and retire on half pay, he is not worth keeping, in the opinion of the general. He thinks the money expended in maintaining this soldier might better be expended in training ten young men during short enlistments for a long service in the reserves.

These reserves would be assigned to a regiment when they went upon the reserve list and would be given credentials, which would enable them to reach their command over any railroad on short notice. Each man would know just where he belonged and each commander would know where to recruit his force in the event of emergency. A competent staff of selected officers should be retained permanently as a teaching staff. The status of such a reservist would be that of a soldier on furlough, except that he would not be subject to recall except in case of actual war.

LOOKS TO MILITIA.

The general again referred to the militia as an important part of the national defense, indorsed the proposed military pay bill which requires a certain standard of efficiency for officers, and will work, in Gen. Wood's opinion, in the betterment of the service and the divorcing it from politics. The officers failing to measure up to the requirements of the act will find their positions untenable and those remaining will be paid for their services.

The speaker expressed the hope that, when the plan is in working order, it will be possible to have an instructing officer from the regular army for every regiment of militia. This would not only serve to train the men but would also develop officers who would be ready when the word is "fight."

He urges military training in the public schools; the teaching of rifle shooting to the "young idea" being otherwise instructed. "Put up your money before the close of business," he said. "We are not working towards militarism but to give a military people instruction in military pursuits. Our people are ready to fight when it becomes necessary, but the best way to secure peace is to be ready to effectually defend ourselves if anybody attacks us."

A feature of the luncheon was an enthusiastic toast proposed by Capt. Osborne and drunk standing to "the Commander in Chief of the Army of the United States, The President."

Following the luncheon Gen. Wood became the guest of Gen. J. P. Story and Gen. Patton and was whirled away for an inspection of Pasadena and as much of the foothill country as could be seen before dark. Gen. Wood said he was often in Pasadena before 1889. He noted a few changes in the place since his last visit, but finally identified it by the surrounding topography.

TODAY'S PROGRAMME.

At 9 o'clock this morning Gen. Wood will visit the Harvard Military School and talk to the cadets. From there he will be taken by the Chamber of Commerce for an automobile ride over the city, to the Old Soldiers' Home, and through Santa Monica and the other beach cities. His visit will conclude at 3 o'clock this afternoon, when he leaves for San Diego. There he will inspect the harbor and possible sites for fortifications and post. From that point he will proceed East along the frontier and gain a knowledge first-hand of the condition of the troops stationed along the border and of the Mexican situation generally.

The Chief of Staff is greatly pleased with the results of his stay in Los Angeles, with the hearty and unaffected welcome he has received, with what he has seen and with what he terms the miraculous growth of the city.

Those present at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon yesterday, were: Maj.-Gen. Wood, Capt. F. R. McCoy, Capt. H. Z. Osborne, Percy H. Clark, A. W. Kinney, Willis H. Booth, F. Q. Story, D. P. N. Drink Habit Drives Away Happiness and Success

Because It Wrecks Homes And Makes Men Unfit For Business.

A drinking man's home is always an unhappy one, for drunkenness and home-life do not go well together.

The excessive drinker is not tolerated in business, for as soon as it becomes known that a business man is drinking regularly investigation starts, and the confidence of business associates, acquaintances and the general public disappears. No man can succeed without the confidence of those with whom he proposes to do business. Therefore, when men find the appetite and necessity for alcoholic stimulants has become stronger than the willpower to resist they should have medical help—the Neal Treatment—which will thoroughly eliminate all alcohol from the system and neutralize its functional effect upon the body tissues. The Neal Treatment—which is the most successful drink habit treatment known—will accomplish this in three days, without the use of painful, dangerous hypodermic injections.

Thousands of excessive drinkers are successfully treated annually at fifty-three Neal Institutes in the principal cities of the United States, Canada, and Australia.

Men who drink too much should go, at once, to the Los Angeles Neal Institute, spend three days taking the Neal Treatment, and return to home and business on the fourth day with all craving and necessity for drink removed. Then home will again be home and business will be a pleasure instead of a drag.

For full information and reference regarding the Neal Treatment call at the Los Angeles Neal Institute, 945 South Olive street, or, write or phone G. U. Neal, manager for Dr. Neal's free book. Phone Bdwy. 4602, A4072. —[Adv.

WHO WANTS A BOY?

Offers to take Jack Empting, son of Mrs. Marjorie Empting, into families which want a boy about the house, have been frequent at Constable Lyons's office ever since notice was published in The Times that the mother is not able to care for her boy, but will pay for his board if the right foster-parents can be found. Mrs. Empting was recently adjudged not guilty of embezzlement in Justice Summerfield's court. She and Lyons have been in conference, but have not settled on a home for the boy. They would like to hear from other applicants.

Miss Hazel Bagley,

Young New York belle, who with her mother is visiting in this city. Miss Bagley's betrothal to Ensign W. L. Lind of the torpedo flotilla is announced for the first time today.

ANOTHER naval romance and one that gracefully implicates another officer of the torpedo flotilla stationed at San Diego, is to be announced over the tea cups this morning.

Ensign W. L. Lind, of the torpedo-boat destroyer Stewart, is the fortunate young man who is to wed Miss Hazel Bagley, one of the daintiest little persons imaginable. Miss Bagley and her mother, Mrs. Lillian R. Bagley, came to this city from New York a week ago. Anxiously awaiting the arrival of the overland train was the young officer, whose shore leave was for only thirty-six hours. A fair bargain was sealed and the ring chosen before it was time for the ensign to rejoin the flotilla. The wedding will be solemnized in this city in the early spring.

Lind was a classmate of Lieut. Irving Hall Mayfield, whose wedding to Miss Juliet Borden was a brilliant event of this month, and also of Lieut. James Barrett Oldendorf, U.S.N., whose betrothal was made known at the Borden-Mayfield wedding. Lieut. Oldendorf was one of the ushers.

With her mother, Miss Bagley will leave December 15 for San Francisco, where they will pass the holidays and on their return will go to Coronado, where they will remain until the wedding. Miss Bagley attended a seminary in St. Louis and later finished in New York. She has had the additional advantage of travel and will be a decided addition to the naval colony at San Diego, where the couple will reside after the wedding.

Assistance League Benefit.

Purchasers of boxes for the Assistance League benefit baseball game Saturday afternoon, November 9, are E. R. Maier, Mrs. Dean Mason, Mrs. J. F. Sartori, Mrs. R. H. Miner, Mrs. M. J. Connell, Mrs. Mary Longstreet, Miss F. S. Hicks, Mrs. Frank Griffith, Mrs. W. A. Barker, Mrs. H. W. O'Melveny, Mrs. Granville MacGowan, J. C. Drake, R. I. Rogers, A. L. Cheney, Mrs. E. T. Earl. Fifty seats have been bought by Mrs. Gregory Perkins, Jr., for the boys of St. Paul's choir and 100 seats have been sold to Louis F. Netter, who will number the members of the Working Boys' Club among his guests. Application for boxes should be made to Mrs. Granville MacGowan.

Beautiful Church Wedding.

The West Adams Presbyterian Church was beautifully decorated last evening with bamboo, palms, ferns, pink chrysanthemums and huge bows of tulle for the wedding of Miss Ethel V. Davenport, daughter of Mrs. James P. Davenport, No. 1219 Fourth avenue, to Lester H. Hibbard, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. L. Hibbard, No. 906 Westlake avenue. Dr. Charles Edward Locke, pastor of the First Methodist Church, officiated, the service being read at 8:30 o'clock. The entire front of the church was banked with bamboo, palms and ferns, and on each side of the chancel were gold baskets filled with long-stemmed pink chrysanthemums, while suspended from the gallery were balls of Fair Maid carnations and maidenhair fern and tied to each pew with perky bows of tulle were pink chrysanthemums.

The bridal gown was a dainty affair of imported white satin faille with a bodice and sleeves of Point de Venise lace and entraine slightly draped. With this a long tulle veil was worn, caught up with orange blossoms and a shower bouquet of orchids and lilies-of-the-valley was carried.

Miss Mary Vail, maid-of-honor, was attired in a beautiful creation of pink charmeuse satin with an overdress of pink silk net, and wore a white aigrette in her hair and carried a shower of Madam Chatney roses. Miss Edith Holder and Miss Della French, gowned alike in pink brocaded charmeuse, trimmed with English lace, and carrying arm bouquets of long-stemmed pink chrysanthemums, assisted as bridesmaids. Hudson Hibbard, brother of the groom, was best man, and the ushers were Vilas Hubbard and Theodore Cadwalder. Curtis Armstrong presented a musical programme while the guests were gathering and during the ceremony played the aria from Aida, as well as popular wedding marches.

Following the ceremony supper was served at the California Club for the bridal party, the immediate relatives, and a few intimate friends. Miss Waite had charge of the decorations and for the center of the large round banquet table, a lake was represented, surrounded by ferns and Killarney roses, and hanging over this was a parasol fashioned of pink pon-pon chrysanthemums. Hand-painted place cards, set on standards, were ornamented with twentieth century girls gowned in pink and wearing picture hats. The smaller tables were embellished with rustic baskets filled with Killarney roses and maidenhair fern.

Mr. and Mrs. Hibbard will pass a month touring the United States and will sail November 19 on the President for Europe. They will pass the winter in Paris.

Mr. Hibbard expects to travel and study European architecture for a year. He is a graduate of the Los Angeles High School and of the University of California, and is a member of the Delta Upsilon and Skull and Keys fraternities. Mrs. Hibbard is a native daughter, a graduate of Los Angeles High School and a student at Berkeley and a member of the Delta Gamma Sorority.

Informal Afternoon.

Miss Hortense Barnhart Janes, who will become the bride of Edgar Harold Dorr next Thursday, was the complimented guest at an informal afternoon reception given yesterday by Miss Nellie Beacom at her home, No. 1938 Western avenue, to which only intimate friends of the bride-to-be were bidden. Great shaggy yellow chrysanthemums were used to ornament the home and dainty refreshments were served. The guests included Mrs. E. J. Salyer, Mrs. Rose Nettleton, Miss Alice Atwell Flint, Miss Italia Bower, Miss Anna Kellam, Miss Lydia Kellam, Miss Martha Hunter, Miss Yarnell, Miss McCutcheon, Miss Helen Bushnel and Mrs. Harrison McDonald.

WIRELESS NOT NEEDED.

Alleged Forger Doesn't Take Steamer and Message Is Useless, But He's Apprehended Anyhow.

J. B. DeMoss was held to answer to a charge of forgery in the Superior Court after an examination yesterday before Justice Forbes, in which he was charged with having forged the signature of the Baltimore Hotel Cafe, by Joseph Wallos, to a check for $30. Officials of the Home Savings Bank declared that Wallos had no account there, and Wallos himself testified that he did not sign the check. It was cashed late one night by A. C. Mentry, the complaining witness, who owns a cigar stand near the Baltimore.

The arrest of DeMoss might have been accomplished by wireless if he had taken the Harvard to San Francisco, as Constable Hayes suspected when he started the aerial dot-and-dash system humming from the mainland. Instead, DeMoss remained on shore, where he was recognized by acquaintances, who pursued him in a taxicab when he boarded a car, and induced a police officer to arrest him.

Car Runs Over Child's Leg and Fails to Stop—There's Little Hope for Recovery.

Rena Rays, a 5-year-old school girl, was caught beneath a street car turning a corner at Fifty-third street and Moneta avenue yesterday morning and received injuries that probably will prove fatal. Rena was on her way to school when the accident occurred, and the car passed on, the crew apparently unconscious of the accident.

Rena was picked up by a watchman who witnessed the accident from a near-by shed, and he obtained the number of the car, 469, and reported it to the police. She was taken to a real estate office. Dr. M. McFarland was called and took her in his automobile to the Clara Barton Hospital.

An amputation operation was performed, the right leg of the girl being removed close to the hip. Her condition was critical at a late hour last night and little hope is held out for her recovery.

She is the daughter of David Rays, an employee of the Los Angeles Ice and Cold Storage Company, and lives with her parents at No. 324 West Fifty-sixth street. Charges may be preferred against Motorman Reynolds and Conductor Bennet for having failed to stop the car.

LITTLE GIRLS HER LEGACIES.

FATHER LIVING, THEY'RE LEFT TO GRANDMOTHER.

Strange Will of Mother Precipitates Sharp Fight in Juvenile Court for Custody of Wee Lassies Between Septuagenarian Relatives and Surviving Parent.

"As their father has separated from me and should not have the custody of them, I bequeath the care of my two children, Zorah and Mecah, to my mother," reads an unusual clause in the will of Mrs. Zorah Alice Harris. This precipitated a sharp contest yesterday in the Juvenile Court for the custody of the two little girls. The father, Elmer M. Harris, chief engineer of the Alexandria, and the grandmother, Mrs. Elinor J. Caroway, of No. 1710 Reid street, are the contestants.

Humane Society Officer Davis recently filed a petition in Juvenile Court to have the children declared dependent in order to get the ruling of the court on the unusual situation. His brother officer, D. F. McLaughlin, who was one of the strong witnesses for the father. Judge Wilbur continued the case one week and put the two little girls in care of Mrs. John McLeod, No. 1032 Bonnie Brae street, until the next hearing.

Mrs. Harris died August 12, 1913, and in her will left all her property, valued at $4500, to the children. Harris, who had not lived with his family for six years preceding the wife's death, married again on the 5th inst.

The engineer told the court that he had made his life and accident insurance policies payable to the children, had put money in the bank for them, and had paid for the elder's musical education for the past two years. Zorah is 8 and Mecah 14.

Harris said he and his wife had separated because of incompatibility of temperament and declared that he had absolutely nothing to say against her except that she had poisoned the children's mind against him. "The grandmother began where my wife left off," he said, "and has kept it up." He had numerous witnesses on hand to back up his assertions.

Mrs. Caroway declares that Harris, as executor of the dead wife's estate, has given her notice to leave the house at No. 1710 Reid street, and told the court she is in dependent circumstances. She charges that Harris has acted in such a manner as to unfit him to have the custody of the children. The aged woman pleaded with the court to let her have the children, according to the terms of the daughter's will.

"I have brought these children up, Judge, and cared for them and dressed them, and I can't bear them taken away," she said. While the little girls were waiting the grandmother sat beside them, lovingly stroking their hair and now and then reaching over to press reassuringly the trembling little hands.

ELECTRICIAN INJURED.

Live Wire Seizes Him on Top of Pole at Azusa, and Only Rescue by Superintendent Saves His Life.

AZUSA, Oct. 24.—F. C. Alexander, an electrician, while stringing wires at the top of a fifty-foot pole on Azusa avenue, came in contact with a live wire carrying 2200 volts yesterday. He was burned and severely injured, suffered the loss of a thumb, which was completely severed, and sustained serious burns about the groin, thighs and legs.

Bystanders immediately went to the rescue and the presence of mind of Superintendent Hardin Thompson probably saved the man's life when, at the risk of danger to himself, he climbed a pole and with his knife cut the wires carrying the high voltage. The belt strap prevented Alexander from dropping to the pavement below.

Fully fifteen minutes elapsed before he was rescued from his perilous position, as it required a block and tackle to extricate him. The man's clothing was completely burned off about the groin and abdomen, and the charred flesh could be plainly seen. Alexander was taken to the Brunjes Hotel, where Drs. Hill and Granville pronounced his wounds serious.

All is in readiness for the two-days' carnival which will be held here Friday and Saturday. In a spirited contest for queen of the carnival, Eva Granville polled 1121 votes; Eva Ream, 806; Flora Culler, 441, and May Poston, 408. The streets are gaily decorated and the business men have shown interest and enthusiasm. The programme is complete and interesting events will take place. Motorcycle and automobile races will be run from Duarte, finishing within the city limits.

SWEARS "NEVER AGAIN!"

Only the declaration under oath that he will not touch liquor for six months saved George Sillerman yesterday from being bound over by Justice Brown for trial in the Superior Court on a charge of failure to provide for his wife and family. Sillerman is a cook, able to earn $20 a week, and was recently released on a like charge.

SQUARE DEAL TO SAN FERNANDO.

WATER DISTRIBUTION MATTER BEFORE REALTY BOARD.

Charges of Public Service Commissioner Refuted—Graham Makes Some Explanations of Lack of Preparations for Caring for the Surplus—Board's Ideas.

The five members of the Public Service Commission were guests at the weekly luncheon of the Realty Board yesterday. S. C. Graham, as spokesman for the commission, outlined his views as to the manner of distributing the surplus waters from the Owens River.

At the close of his remarks, a number of the members asked the commissioners questions about the plans and Dr. Peter Janss in particular took occasion to refute some charges made by Graham against San Fernando Valley settlers. The speaker intimated several times that the persons who had gone out there to make their homes wanted water too cheap. Dr. Janss declared the men interested in the development of the vast San Fernando Valley only wanted a square deal and an opportunity to get aqueduct water on the fertile tracts.

Frank Henderson, ex-court reporter and formerly the Mayor's secretary but now drawing a substantial salary as president of the Public Service Commission, also spoke to the extent of saying that the ground had been fully covered by his associate.

Graham incidentally declared that if the plan of confining the aqueduct surplus waters to the district west of the city were followed, the city would lose a revenue of many millions a year.

"To get the surplus water into use immediately is more than can be hoped for," said Graham in explaining why there are no preparations for taking care of the water when it gets here within a few months. "I believe in the large distributing system, for the revenues will be four times as large as under the plan for the smaller distributing system."

He went on to say that the Public Service Commission believes the irrigation rate where water is sold should be gradually raised as the domestic use grew. He said the price for water should be taken into consideration with the productiveness of the land. He said he did not believe his plan for pipe systems would displace present irrigation systems. He asserted that the annual income from the sale of surplus water under the plan of Henderson and himself would pay for three aqueducts in twenty years. The speaker said he did not expect the State Railroad Commission to have jurisdiction of rates to be charged users of Los Angeles water. If it does, he believed, it would fix a fair sum for the owner of the water.

He said that the aqueduct and the proposed distributing system would cost about $23,000,000, and that the income from the sale of surplus water would be over $2,000,000 a year. He expressed the belief that a charge of 2½ cents per inch per hour would be a reasonable one.

ON WRONG SIDE OF STREET.

Driver Who Runs Down Woman Makes Admission in Report to Police—Condition Critical.

Prosecution of automobile drivers who violate traffic laws by running on the wrong side of the street will be instituted with renewed vigor by the police as a result of the accident to Mrs. F. A. Morgan, No. 4681 Kingswell street, East Hollywood, on Sunset boulevard late Wednesday evening.

According to the information given by witnesses to the police, J. Steen, No. 4625 Los Feliz road, driver of the machine, was driving his car on the wrong side of the street. It appears that Mrs. Morgan stepped from the curb to board a Hollywood car and was struck by Steen's machine.

She was removed to the Sisters' Hospital, where it was found that she was suffering from severe shock, a severe cut on the head and numerous lacerations and bruises on the body. Steen made a report to the police yesterday in which he admitted he was driving on the wrong side of the street. Mrs. Morgan's condition is critical.

HOW JACK JOHNSON TORTURED HIS WHITE WIFE

Why Didn't Jeff Kill 'Im?

THE STORY OF A BEAST.

Jack Johnson Drove His Wife to Suicide.

Terrible Revelations by Her Mother.

"I Ask God to Send Him His Punishment."

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. David Terry, widowed mother of Etta Duryea Johnson, the white wife of Jack Johnson, who shot herself in Chicago on September 12 last, made a statement today believing it to be her Christian duty, she said, to help Mrs. Cameron drive the negro pugilist from Chicago and the country.

Mrs. Terry was seen in her home in Brooklyn, where she lives, broken in health, and under the care of a physician. Mrs. Terry was told the story of the Chicago grand jury's investigation into Johnson's alleged kidnaping of Lucille Cameron and the girl's mother's fight for her daughter.

"Mrs. Terry, what in your opinion, should be done with the husband of your dead daughter?" she was asked.

"It would be wrong for me to tell you what ought to be done," Mrs. Terry answered, her voice hardening. "It is not for me to judge. God will do that, but every night a prayer goesup from my pillow, asking God to send upon this man the punishment he deserves. Two weeks ago I had a vision of Jack Johnson's end.

HARVEY HERRICK IN TIMES CASE CAR TO CLEAR COURSE.

DEPUTY sheriffs, under instructions from Under Sheriff Robert Brain, in a Case and a Cartercar offered to The Times, will clear the course on the night of the Los Angeles-Phoenix road race. Harvey Herrick will be at the wheel of the Case racer and James J. Canavan of the Vance-Canavan Company will drive the Cartercar.

These two machines will be driven on either side of the road from the city limits through the thickly-settled districts. Autoists and pedestrians will be warned of the danger from the approaching cars.

Harvey Herrick won the last Phoenix road race. He will have a Case car stripped, a machine he tried to get ready for the race. Canavan will drive a Cartercar roadster. Any autoist who turns the lights of his machine in the wrong direction will also be warned in order to avoid danger either to the drivers of racing cars or to pedestrians.

LAST WORD FOR PHOENIX DRIVERS FROM MITCHELL.

Desert Racers Get Final Instructions for the Fierce Road Race Which Is to Be Started Saturday Night. Gruelling Test to Prove Grit and Determination of Classy Bunch of Cars and Drivers.

BY BERT C. SMITH.

FINAL instructions were given yesterday afternoon to the drivers who are to figure in the Los Angeles-to-Phoenix road race by John S. Mitchell, who has charge of the race at this end. This race will be started by Eddie Maier from in front of the Hollenbeck Hotel, Saturday night at 11 o'clock.

Five men stand out in strong relief against the other six drivers. They are Ralph Hamlin, on the Franklin, Louis Nikrent on the Buick, Bill Bramlette on the Cadillac, Charles H. Bigelow on the Mercedes and Fred Fuller on the National. This quintette of seasoned drivers would figure in any road race staged anywhere in the world. Hamlin is now only a slight choice over Nikrent with the others close up. Each has a host of rooters, who feel certain that his man will reach Phoenix first.

The other drivers are Leonard Jones on the Hupmobile, who has a fighting chance for first place, who may reach Phoenix in second position, but who has an excellent chance for third place. Jones is the real "baby-faced" boy and yesterday an effort was made to bar him out as being under the age of 21 years. Though he looks younger Leonard was over 21 when he finished first in The Times-to-Lakeside tour and he had a card from the Automobile Association of America then and was granted one for this race by Manager Mitchell yesterday. John S. Mitchell has been empowered by the Contest Board to grant cards to the racers.

Close up to Leonard Jones as the next choice is Charles Soules on the Cadillac. There are those who grant Soules a chance for first place. He has a chance, but experience should count against even this true and tried racing driver. Charley is a crack race track driver. He is an unknown quantity in a road race. There is not a better driver, however, when it comes to handling a car. He has figured in some of the biggest racing events in this country, but a battle through the sands of the desert is a new experience for Soules and he is handicapped.

SCHACHT RACE.

Gus Floershiem with the Schacht is an interesting entry. Allowed to start at the last minute this plucky lad will send his car into the race, not as the favorite, but with a fighting chance to place. The Schacht looks particularly good, and there is no reason why Floershiem should not get into Phoenix well within the money.

The two American cars are hard

TIGERS SCORE SIX RUNS IN THE FIRST INNING

Vernon Bats Quickly Drive Higginbotham to Cover. McCredie Sends Gregg to Relief of Veteran Star After Eight Men Have Faced Him—"Spider" Baum Holds Beavers Safe.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

THE deep and heretofore unfathomable Mr. Higginbotham was fathomed yesterday. "Fathomed" is here used in the sense of murdered. Higg was fathomed to a finish. Bent on taking the third game of the series, Walter McCredie led out Higginbotham, reputed to be one of his best pitchers, and the Tigers won, 7 to 2. Six of the seven runs were fashioned during Higginbotham's brief but turbulent sojourn. Thus the Tigers remained in the race. But if you have a tear handy, prepare to shed it now. With C "Bill" Malarkey on the mound, Oa land won from Los Angeles. Othe wise, the Tigers would be in fi place.

Higginbotham was fathomed the first inning. Had he been pe mitted to linger longer he mig have been fathomed further. B be that as it may, he was fathom sufficiently for all practical purpos in the brief period set aside for t undertaking. Last night Higg d nothing but dream of bean hits a tallies. The memory of that fa inning will haunt him like a horrif fantasy up to the very minute that croaks.

He was hit six times in the fi round, and these bracketed with t errors and a wild pitch, spilled w for Portland in the shape of six ru The Tigers traveled clear through t batting order, and Cravath, w started the stampede with a sing wound it up by striking out.

Dave Gregg succeeded Hig Higginbotham's battle-scarred shuttle aft eight men had faced Higg. Gre pitched a grand game, allowing h three scattered hits and striking ou Tigers on strikes, but Vernon ll locking up the livery stable aft the roan mare has been kidnap for "Spider" Baum was enjoying prosperous day and pitched fi ball. "Spider" was hit only six tim in various localities. That the blows didn't amount to much is be gleaned from the fact that t Beavers, aided and abetted by fi errors, were able to make them sta for but two runs. With perfect su port, "Spider" would have shut the out a finish. So much for B Baum.

THE SLAUGHTER.

Now to revert, as it were, to Higginbotham and the glorious fir Carlisle hit smartly to center, t ball pursuing a course directly ov second base. Capt. Rogers made valiant effort to block the drive, b could only deflect it toward ce center. Art Krueger, apparently in semi-comatose condition, let the b jolly him into a juggle, and Walt whisked down to second. Burr sacrificed to Norton, Rogers cov ing on the play. Bayless bounced t ball over Rogers for a single, sc ing Carlisle. Roy Bradshaw fondl his new bat while watching Higgi botham out of the corner of his e and then calmly slammed a doub just inside the right field line, t ball barely eluding the fast a frantic Fitzgerald. Bayless scored the drive without undue effort. Ho noting the success of some of h compatriots in driving the b against the ground, bounced blithely over Baker, scoring Engle and Bradshaw in a bunch. Hoop c tempted to steal second and fortu intervened to save him, Rogers bu ter-fingering Fisher's precise peg j as Pranz looked like a dead bird Higginbotham made a diligent search for the plate, but could locate it, and Litschi walked. M Donnell leaned on the ball for a sing to left. This thrust scored Hoop a deposited Litschi at second. M

HUSKY DENVER MINISTERS READY FOR OXY TIGERS.

BY OWEN R. BIRD.

THE Denver Ministers are going hunting tomorrow afternoon, but this time it will be the "Preacher and the Tiger," instead of the "Preacher and the Bear." In the old story, Mr. Bruin chased the divine up a tree and kept him there all night, finally going away, after a long wait, with a lot of religion inside.

The public is going to see one of the best football games ever played in the south, if form and condition can be taken as criterions.

The Tigers have a team of dazzling speed and wonderful formations, trained to the minute and ready to fight for the Alma Mater and the American game. Denver will be represented by a rangy crew of young giants, hard as nails, and fighting a tricky foe in a foreign land.

The man who wants to see the plunging game will be satisfied, the man who wants to see the wide-open thrills will be satisfied and the man who wants to see a punting duel will also be gratified.

The Denver backs are heavy and fast and with the big rush line out in front, the chances are that the Mountaineers will start in smashing at first, in the hope that the younger and lighter Tiger team will be crushed before the first onslaught. If this does not work, Coach Crowley will call on his fast men to open up and we will see one of those remarkable exhibitions of forward passing and wide end runs, the features that always bring the thousands on the bleachers to their feet.

Against the iron men from the mile-high city, Coach Pipal will send out his team of race horses. Every man on the home team is in perfect condition and ready for the game of his life. This will be the greatest game ever played in by some of the men on the Highland Park team. Most of the Tiger warriors are young fellows, but all have had a great deal of football experience, either in college or high school, and only one or two are playing the game for the first time this season.

No one knows just how good the Oxy squad really is. So far this season no fit competition has been found in the south. Last year the team had a hard time defeating some of the larger high schools, but this fall the Black and Orange men have been walking rough-shod over all the teams played. The last offering was the University of Redlands, defeated by a score of 69 to 0.

GUS HETLING WINS AUTO AS MOST VALUABLE MAN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RESULT OF VOTE.

Gus Hetling, Oakland, 38.
John Kane, Vernon, 24.
Joel Berger, Los Angeles, 21.
Walter Carlisle, Vernon, 16.
Peter Daley, Los Angeles, 12.
Carl Mitze, Oakland, 7.
Ivan Howard, Los Angeles, 5.
Paul Krueger, Portland, 4.
Richard Bayless, Vernon, 3.

Francis Hosp, Vernon, 2.

Klawitter, Portland, 1.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Gus Hetling, third baseman of the Oakland baseball team, has been adjudged the "most valuable ball player to his team" in the Pacific Coast League by a vote of the six official scorers of the circuit, and on Sunday next will be presented with a 1913 model Chalmers "36" automobile offered by Hugh Chalmers, and the agents at Los Angeles, Portland and San Francisco.

As will be noted from the above table of the aggregate vote, the contest was a close one particularly between Hetling of Oakland and Kane of the Vernon club, with Berger a good third. Hetling was the first choice of three of the scorers, while Kane was picked as No. 1 by the two southern scorers and was ranked second by two more.

In order to explain the vote, the method of balloting should be understood. The official scorers of the six cities in the league were named as members of the Chalmers commission, with W. A. Lange officiating as chairman, but not voting. Each commissioner was instructed to vote for six candidates, named in the order of their estimated value. Under this arrangement, the man selected as the leader was entitled to 6 votes, the next man to 5 votes, the next to 4, and so on until the sixth, and last man, received 1 vote. A total was then struck and the winner determined.

At a request of Commissioner Lange not alone the aggregate vote and result is announced, but the individual vote of each commissioner, in order that the fans can study for themselves just how the award was made and the winner selected.

The southerners who rank well up in the voting list, are Kane, Berger, Carlisle and Daley. All of them have been valuable ball players to the teams they represent and it would be difficult indeed to single out any one of them as more deserving than the other.

The individual vote of the various commissioners is as follows:

R. A. Cronin, sporting editor, Evening Journal, Portland—First, Gus Hetling; second, Pete Daley; third, Johnny Kane; fourth, Joel Berger; fifth, Walter Carlisle; sixth, Klawitter.

Grey Oliver, official scorer, Los Angeles Club—First, Johnny Kane; second, Peter Daley; third, Paul Krueger; fourth, Gus Hetling; fifth, Jimmy Shinn; sixth, Harry McArdle.

Harry A. Williams, official scorer, Vernon club—First, Johnny Kane; second, Joel Berger; third, Gus Hetling; fourth, Carl Mitze; fifth, Francis Hosp; sixth, Peter Daley.

Carl E. Brasler, sporting editor, Record Union, Sacramento—First, Joel Berger; second, Walter Carlisle; third; Carl Mitze; fourth, Gus Hetling; fifth, Richard Bayless; sixth, Johnny Kane.

John J. Earle, official scorer, Oakland—First, Gus Hetling; second, Johnny Kane; third, Walter Carlisle; fourth; Joel Berger; fifth, Ivan Howard; sixth, Richard Bayless.

Harry B. Smith, San Francisco—First, Gus Hetling; second, Walter Carlisle; third, Joel Berger; fourth, Ivan Howard; fifth, Johnny Kane; sixth, Peter Daley.

Federal (Wireless) Line to The Times.]
AN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF E TIMES, Oct. 24.—[Special Dis-ch.] The Oaks refused to release eir grip on first place today by ding the Angels in check on the eeman Park lot. The winning of Oaks was accomplished prin-ally through the sharp-shooting ner William Malarkey, aged, and decrepit, who at one time ed pills in the big brush. In nine ings the wingless Angels were un-le to get a chalk, while the Sharp-s registered four.
The Oaks seemed to realize that was up to them to perform. Gun-Malarkey probably realized this mselves better than any of his ow-mates for he supplied himself h a complete round of ammu-tion and went forth on the hill. ile several thousand anxious but ardent supporters looked on.

ONE-MAN SHOW.

Malarkey's deeds are probably d better by the score. A com-ete record of his work is shown in ures that will give him the credit ich is due him. It was prac-ally a one-man exhibition. After couple of innings the trans-bay ers warmed up. His curves were mantlising and hypnotising that Angels stood awe-stricken and iched the sphere drift over the te while Umpire Jack McCarthy led them out on strikes.
While Malarkey twirled a clever me his fellow workers were strong n the bat. All of them seemed be there with the big stick and y laid it against the ball to the e of a full house of Oakland ters.
Leverens, the offside shooter of southern club, did not have any-ng that Sharpe's men did not derstand. Leverens was woefully t of his usual assortment. He ed to deceive, as is his usual tom, and in the second frame the e opened up their guns. The ack was well planned and exe-ted, the result being three bingles d two runs. The battle was won t here, but the Oaks seemed in-t on crushing the enemy further they made a couple of more at-pts which produced results.

COY SHINES AGAIN.

Bertram Coy, who has made him-f obnoxious to opposing pitchers for the past few months, put himself in Dutch with Flinger Leverens when he straightened out one of the southern pitcher's shooters in the second frame for a couple of bags. It looked as if he would be stranded in the deep, as Gustavus Hetling was waylaid on a grounder to Page and Cook popped to Moore.
Confidence began to wane in the bleachers and there was less cheering. However, Tiedemann was to be reckoned with. The orphan child of the bushes came to Coy's relief with a safe smash to center which helped Coy home. Then Leverens displayed a kindly feeling towards Mitze and passed him. His kindness was not appreciated, as Malarkey biffed safely to right while Tiedemann ambled home.

ANOTHER USELESS RUN.

Too much was not enough, for the Oakland went after more in the fifth frame. Three safe swats netted the pennant seekers another run and instilled more confidence into the fans. Malarkey, who was particularly bright from a defensive standpoint, again showed up in the offensive, for he started the smacking which gave the Oaks another run. A safe clout to the right field fence gave him the initial sack, but he was forced at second by Leard. Abbott singled to right, Leard going to third. Zacher hit to center, scoring Leard. Coy flied out to right, but Abbott was caught at the plate on the throw in.
The Angels managed to get one hit in each of the first three frames, but failed to count, then Malarkey tightened up and kept the Angels off the bags during the next four innings. He had beautiful control, as he refused to issue a pass during the game. During the ninth he eased up and allowed a couple of hits, but they failed to count.
The Oaks secured their fourth run in the eighth frame. Again three safe swats netted them the tally. Zacher singled to center field, but was forced by Coy. Hetling singled to center, Coy taking second. Cook popped out, but Tiedemann responded with a hit to right field, Coy scoring, but Hetling being thrown out at the plate trying to score on the play.

Behind the Scenes.

AME WAS BADLY WANTED AND TIGERS GRABBED IT.

Hap Tells Them How to Hit Higginbotham, and They Do It in First Inning—Beavers Think Baum Is Good Hay Pitcher—Big Mac Declares His Own Team Is a Very Rotten One.

BY AL G. WADDELL.

UMPIRE WHEELER was looting Hap's old black grip and salting down a cargo of new white balls in the numerous pockets of his working clothes. Officer Finney was keeping off the rubber with an abbreviated broom. McCredie paced up and down in front of the Portland bench like a "rookey" on guard. Hap and Jo in front of the Vernon seat with his arms folded, like an officer of the day.
"To arms! To arms!" burst forth from Hap. "They are off," yelled Hogan. "Let's go get 'em today boys," said McCredie; and the game started.
"This is the one we want," said Ole Maier to Baum as he started for the mound. "Spike, old boy, it's yours today. You are right. Make it a old one-two-three," was what Hap had to say; and one-two-three was.

HAP'S IDEAS GOOD.

The Vernon forces had Higginbotham stead up as a "male hombre;" and McCredie was confident that he still beat the Tigers," but Hap got hunch. "Hit to center, Walter," told Carlisle, and Carlisle did. rel's foot slipped but his sacri-was followed by Bayless's hit a score. "We will get three for this inning, Spider, and you can the rest," he said to Baum. "Make a dozen," said Hap. "About six I do," joined in Litschi. "We'll bat and then take it easy. "Very well then," said Hap meekly. "Six will do; make it six and I will be satisfied. How do you like it, Mr. Hit-the-bottom?"
When Hap scored Bayless and Brashear, Eddie Maier's Dutch pipe fell to the ground. "Yow-wee-yow-wee, look at those babies race around the old lot," he yelled. "They run like motorcycles. Yow! There's another run."
McCredie sat like one in a Turkish bath dream. "Well, what do you know about that?" was all he could say. Eddie Maier was not a bit dignified. He picked up his pipe and tried to poke the wrong end into his mouth. He called the players good old boys and slapped his hands over his knees to keep from pounding Baum.

GREGG GOES IN.

Gregg was warming up and Roy Brashear said he could braid his arms and legs together and make a piece of rope. When McDonnell crossed for the sixth run, McCredie sent Gregg to the rescue. Baum fanned, but Hap told him he did some great swinging. When Carlisle fanned in the first, McCredie again got cheerful, but Brashear said it served him right, as he had had two cracks at the old pill in one inning and that was not fair. "Still," volunteered Walter, "that human string has something on the marble today."
"What an awful punishing poor Higgy did get," wailed McCredie as the boys came to the bench. "Those fellows are sure some hitting fools. Any place in the field, any old curve, they hit it." Fitzgerald selected his pole and went up. Krueger stood outside the bench house and made a great speech about getting eight off that Baum guy. Mas opened with a great line of tabasco talk when Fitz singled, but when Norton hit into a double, he shut up. Hap was back o fthird. "How do you like it?" he called to Ollie Olsen, who was sitting in a box. Then he turned to the left field bleachers and asked them how the fans there felt. Fitzgerald wanted to know why he didn't hang his sign out instead of advertising that way and Hap came back with, "why don't you come up and spend a couple of your rusty nickles?"

ADVICE TO BAUM.

Fisher got on in the third and Portland stock went up. The boys in blue told Mr. Baum that he should be up in the San Joaquin Valley pitching hay, he was a poor old broken down bum and that he was slated to get knocked off the pile. "Come on now, let's get revenge," pleaded Mac. "We can get him. Every man go up there and knock the cover off. He has nothing and he never could pitch ball. Now go after him for your papa." Gregg planted one on the head and it looked good for over the fence, but there was too much Dick Bayless up against the fence and Mac said, "Foiled again."
Hap was not satisfied with six, so he begged the boys to get some more. Baum planted a single in the third and scored Litschi from second. That was not enough and Hap begged for more, but the lead was good enough and the Beavers were playing some ball, too.
"If I had only started Gregg," reflected McCredie. "Still, it seems that those clodhoppers do all their playing in the first and we will get 'em yet."

VERY SMALL HOPES.

Gregg singled in the fifth and scored Bancroft from second. "The unexpected has happened," announced McCredie, and the Beavers began to count on their fingers. "Only seven to win now, boys; come on brace one over the fence," pleaded little Cunningham, "We want the old chalk marks, boys; come on and tickle the marble on the nose." Krueger went after a mile high drive over the boards. "Run yourself out of breath," shouted Hap as the big Dutchman rounded the turn at first base. "Run, run, it may never come down," but Bayless spoiled it and McCredie said, "Fond hopes. So glimmering."
There was much applause offered up when Krueger's fly nestled in Dick's mit. "If he'd missed it he would a' lost his job. Catches it and they all go nutty," muttered Fitzgerald.
Fisher went to the water bucket to get a drink, during the sixth and when he found the water all gone he kicked the bucket. A chunk of ice slid over the floor and someone said, "Gee, but you got a mean disposition." The crabid catcher looked from behind his mast for a few seconds and the offended bucket was picked up by McCredie with a laugh and the offender took to a far corner of the bench-house.
Norton was at bat. Big McCredie looked at him and did some thinking out loud. "That kid don't bat right. He is too stiff at the plate. Can't get the big swing. Cunningham stands loose and gets action into his swings." Cunningham got him and blushed. "Tie it outside," he whispered from the corner, but Mac failed to hear him.

KOESTNER A HINDU.

Koestner threw a volley of overgrown peanuts at Cunningham. "Cut it out, you Hindu," Cunny ordered. "Gee, but you fellows treat a poor busher mean." "Go over there and relieve Butcher, Cunny," commanded the big fellow. The picked-on-busher trembled, but went over on the first base line to take his medicine. "That boo-hooing stuff will do him good," said Howley, "but I feel sorry for him." "You get used to it," declared Sutor, "but it never becomes bearable to have that pack of wolves yelling at you. They are brave all right up there, but you never see one who will call you names in the open. Still, it's baseball and we have to take it. They wait for a chance and then you get it even if you have starred for a whole season without an error and a batting averageof over .500. They seem to think we make errors on purpose."

BEAVERS ARE ROTTEN.

"With the bases drunk and none down, the best we can do is to chase in one measly run," grumbled McCredie. "That's what I call rotten luck. We are a rotten team at that, when we can't win with all that chance." This was what Mac had to say after the seventh.
There were no strained nerves on the Vernon bench. The most important thing after the third inning was the score board across the field. "Oaks, 2; Angels, 0," read Hap. "Oh! that's all right, they can't win every one and we can," said Eddie Maier, "The Angels will get the big one tomorrow and we will take the lead. The only time in my life, I ever pulled for the Angels."
In the eighth Sam Agnew grabbed two high fouls. The sun was in his face and he was a bit unsteady as he followed the ball with his eyes. "What kind of a dance is the lob trying to pull off out there?" inquired Baker. "That's one of Polly Perrit's Texas Tommys," explained Dan Howley. When Sam started to dance his second number half the members of the Portland club were on their feet, trying to get the movement.
Butcher went to bat in the ninth. "Cut and slash now," said the Portland manager, "we are still after them and you never can tell. A hit or two will fill the bases and Krueger is due to knock one over the fence. I sure would like to beat those fellows out in a big rally. They think we have all lost our dobbers, but we are still in the old game, so get 'em, Butch, kiss one on the nose for me."
Butch was greeted by many boos from the stands and Hap brought a big laugh from the boys on the bench when he recited: "Butcher, Butcher, kill a calf; hang him up and cut him in half."
Speck Harkness paid a visit to the Vernon seat and was told that he should take the cure for his pitching arm. Speck wandered out on the grass and a fan wanted to know when he was going to pitch.
"Better not pitch this week, old boy," said Stewart, "you will get the wadding kicked out of you. We knock the big ones out in the first inning and you would never get started."
"Bet you can't find a crap game," offered Roy Brashear. "Speck, you are a long way from home, better get back to McCredie."
Portland's cut-and-slash stuff failed to materialize and Hap said "The same thing tomorrow, boys. Harry Sutor is the next victim," as the crowd headed for the gates.

The rising generation should all be expert marksmen. That is what Kellogg thinks and he is doing his best to develop shooting in his family.

Tigers Score Six.

Credie, hoping ever for a forceout or a double play, was emitting sulphurous fumes, and wanting to know where Higginbotham ever went to school. Higg, fully as cheerful as an active pallbearer, swather a glittering galaxy of cold beads from his noble brow, and armed over a wild pitch, Litschi advancing to third and McDonnell to second. Both of them advanced home when Drummond Brown, bearlike in the extreme, hit an able-bodied single to left.
This was more than McCredie could bear. Higginbotham, long expecting the hook, submitted gracefully. Gregg proved that he had something by striking out Baum and Carlisle just as fast as they could present themselves at the plate. Curse Malarkey! This is digressing, but we can't help it.

GREGG AN ENIGMA.

'Tis well we made runs while Mr. Higginbotham was shining, for Gregg was just about as good as his big brother, Vean. Dave's escutcheon was smeared but once, and then for but one run. That was in the third, when Litschi chaperoned a tally around the course on his own walk. McDonnell's sacrifice and a single by Baum, who was advised by some cornfed boob in the grand stand "to win his own game." Imagine being required to win your own game with the other fellows so far behind that you couldn't see them with the aid of a 90-horse-power lens.
Subsequent to this, Carlisle was the only member of the local guild to reach second base. Walter singled to center with one down in the sixth. He thought some of continuing to second, but Krueger scared him back with a malignant look and a threatening gesture of his powerful right arm. Carlisle did go to second, however, while Rogers and Norton were embalming Burrell. Bayless retired the side with a meek and lowly grounder to Gregg.
Chadbourne opened the matinee for the Beavers with one that Litschi had to field while balanced on one ear. The play was beautifully completed when McDonnell spread himself far afield, ever keeping one foot anchored to the bag, and hauled in the wide throw with his worthy left mit. Krueger and Rogers, try as they would, couldn't get the ball outside of the infield.
Fitzgerald started the second with a neat single to right. Norton drove to Litschi, and both men were gobbled into the maw of the Vernon defense. Litschi to Brashear to McDonnell. This was but the first of three double plays which the Tigers utilized for the purpose of snuffing out Portland prospects. Brashear and McDonnell were the executioners in a double play on Fitzgerald and Norton in the sixth, and Hosp and Brashear choked a budding rally in the ninth with a two-ply play on Butcher and Chadbourne.
Dick Bayless, able and urbane as usual, enlivened the third with a very star catch of rGegg's fly in deep left. Dick had to retreat well nigh to the stockade in order to accomplish his purpose, the same being executed while under full sail.

PORTLAND IN FIFTH.

Rogers doubled in the fourth, and acted as though he intended to score on Fitzgerald's single. Bayless's throw sent him scrambling back to third. Fitzgerald did some tall scrambling on his own account when Baum intercepted Bayless's heave and threw to first. Fitzgerald regained that sanctuary just in the nick of time. Emboldened by his success he tried to steal second with Baum holding the ball. You can work those things on a spring chicken, but not on a person of Baum's mature years. Fitz slid long and nobly, but Baum's throw to Brashear beat him to it. Norton and Baker retired on flies.
Portland began to pick up in the fifth, but didn't make great headway. Bancroft hit sharply to Hosp. The drive pulled Hosp off his balance, and a wide fling to first followed. Bancroft took second on the error. Brashear knocked down Fisher's drive and threw his man out for one of the prettiest plays of the game. Bancroft took third on the play, and scored when Gregg spun a bunt to Baum and beat the throw. Chadbourne forced Gregg at second, and Bayless then proceeded to make his aforementioned star catch of Krueger's fly.
Bancroft had the honor of hanging up Portland's other run, the same being racked in the seventh. Hosp, his arm creaking and wanting in its customary accuracy, spared Baker at first with a throw that pulled McDonnell heavenward. Bancroft walked and Fisher glutted the bases with a single. Gregg dumped the ball in front of the plate. Baum shovelled it along to Brown, forcing Baker. The latter crashed into the plate feet first, almost ripping a shoe from Drummond Brown. Brown experienced a lot of physical and mental anguish. After nursing his lame foot for a few minutes, he tossed the ball back in the infield carelessly. Bancroft took advantage of this to sneak in from third, but as time had been called, Umpire Finney sent him back in disgrace. Bancroft got even by coming in on Chadbourne's long fly to Bayless. Krueger forced Fisher at second.

BEAVERS' DYING KICK.

The Beavers tried to start something in the ninth, but were not eminently successful. Bancroft was not permitted to figure in this rallyette, Carlisle gathering in his short fly after a hard run. Fisher fenced a double. Butcher was recalled from first base coaching box, where he had been trying to out-kid the gallery, and sent to the plate with Gregg's bat. Butch fashioned a fly in short right, the same going for a double. It looked for a time that Burrell might by some marvelous means contrive to catch the ball. Fisher lingered to make sure of these things, and only advanced to third on the hit. Anyway, there was no call for Gus to extend himself, as one run didn't mean anything to the Beavers at that stage. Their only chance was to get 'em in flocks, and they didn't gather any flocks because Hosp absorbed Chadbourne's fly and tossed to Brashear, doubling Butcher at second.
Koestner, Klawitter and Higginbotham. Next!

HAP HOGAN DECIDES TO BECOME REAL ACTOR

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

"HPPY" HOGAN, matinee idol? o you get that?
Stranger things may never have happened, but this one is on the cards. Late last night "Happy" signed a contract with the Sullivan & Considine people to appear on their Coast circuit for a period of ten weeks. The contract was tendered him by George A. Harrison, Sullivan & Considine's business agent on the Coast, and was approved by Dean Worley, manager of the Empress Theater. All that remains is the O.K. of the New York office, and Mr. Harrison says that this is sure to be forthcoming. The arrangement is regarded as closed by all those concerned.

"Hap" Hogan, Actor.

Hogan is to do a baseball monologue, which he has already prepared. Being an original "cuss," he may decide to make some changes in it. Changes or no changes, "Hap" is sure to make a success as a thespian, for he has never yet failed to deliver the goods.
"Happy" has had his share of the limelight, but this will be his first venture among the footlights. For three years, Hogan has been behe siezed with offers from theatrical managers, but not until last night did he fall for the lure of the lucre. "Hap" will receive $500 a week for his histrionic talents, which all will have to admit is a tidy little sum. Personally, I would lay down my life every week in the year for a salary like that.
Hogan's contract calls for him to make his first appearance about November 15. He will open in the Northwest, and it is probable that Victoria or Spokane will have the pleasure of witnessing his debut. He will work down toward Los Angeles by gradual degrees, and wind up his stage career for the year in San Diego. When "Hap" lands here we will all be out on the coaching line.
"A second Jimmy Callahan." That is Mr. Harrison's estimate of Hogan.

GAME FOR VENICE TEAM.

Venice Polytechnic is to meet Dean Cromwell's Y.M.C.A. eleven tomorrow afternoon. The Venice boys lost their game with Long Beach High's second squad. This was the first football game ever played by the Venice lads. Charles Jennings, the coach, has been drilling his boys hard since Saturday and says the experience did them a lot of good and they will do much better work tomorrow.

CORNELL SUBSTITUTED.

CAMBRIDGE (Mass.) Oct. 24.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Cornell will be substituted for Dartmouth in Harvard's track schedule, according to the action of the Harvard athletic committee tonight. The track committee was authorized to make a two-years' agreement with Cornell. The first dual track meet will be held in Cambridge next spring.

KANE SAYS THE BEST MAN WON.

"The best man won." That was the spirit in which Johnny Kane, rival of Gus Hetling for the Chalmers auto, received the news of the award. "Hetling has played grand ball for his club this season, and I am glad that he has been awarded the trophy."
"Naturally I would have been pleased had one of my men received the prize, but I have no hesitancy in saying that it went to the man who deserved it," said Hogan. "Hetling has played phenomenal ball this season."

WALTER E. FLANDERS TO HEAD UNITED STATES MOTOR CO.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 24.—[Special Dispatch.] Walter E. Flanders will be the new head of the United States Motor Company, with headquarters at Detroit. This announcement comes from sources which make it practically official. It is reported here tonight that the United States Motor Company will take the Flanders Motor Company, capitalized at $3,750,000, and assume all of its debts and obligations and is also to pay a big cash bonus to the Flanders organization and its stockholders. The banking interests back of the reorganization of the United States Motor Company are said to have insisted that the deal should be made with Flanders and negotiations have practically been completed.

Norman W. Church received a dispatch yesterday confirming the news from New York. These negotiations, according to Church, have been in progress for five weeks. Had it not been that Flanders insisted that the Flanders Motor Company be included in the deal the reorganization would have been completed on the first conference. This makes the Flanders Motor Company one of the strongest organizations.

Trojans Holding Tryouts.

Coach Boyd Comstock of U.S.C., is holding weekly tryouts for his track men in the field events. Every Friday afternoon Capt. Linton Smith calls the freshmen together and a handicap meet is held in the hammer, shot, broad jump, high jump and pole vault. It was thought, during the first part of this season, that the varsity would be weak in these events, but a wealth of material is showing up and the propects for a great track season are brighter than ever.

L.A.H.S. to Meet Hollywood.

The Los Angeles High School Rugby team will clash with the Hollywood aggregation tomorrow afternoon on Bovard field, in a regular league game, the result of which will bear directly on the Southern High School championship.

The odds seem to favor the Los Angeles High School squad, as it is heavier and has more experienced men among its players, but they say that these foothill kids are goers, once they are warmed up. In the game Wednesday afternoon with Manual Arts, Manual scored all of the nine points of the winning score in the first ten minutes of play and, after that, Hollywood team had them on the defense all the time.

Second Team Struggle.

The Los Angeles High School second team will play the U.S.C. scrubs before the Hollywood game. The seconds will have in this struggle, their first hard game of the season, and are looking forward to smearing the Trojan subs.

Pomona High Has Chance.

In looking over the High School championship prospects for Southern California, Los Angeles High School, Manual Arts and Pomona High seem to be out in front in the mater of class. This latter squad should give the local High School a hard rub for honors, as thirteen men on the team are veterans, and the other two have played Rugby on the second team for one season.

Manual has a strong team, and after the game this afternoon with the Trojans, we will be able to get a better line on its chances in the local race for High School prestige.

It is believed that the brewery will refuse to take a chance of revocal of the license by retransferring it to Johnson, and if this is the case the negro's $30,000 resort will become only a show place and useless to him.

Two women residents of Chicago and relatives of Lucille Cameron, the white girl in the case, are being sought by the Federal authorities to confirm the statement that Johnson really brought the girl from Minneapolis. They are in hiding and efforts are being made to get quick service on them.

A number of other important witnesses have also left the State, fearing the publicity through the linking of their names with that of Johnson. The Federal officials have until next Monday to get them before the grand jury. The Cameron girl was returned today to the jail at Rockford, Ill., and her mother accompanied her, the parent sharing the girl's cell until next Monday.

JOHNSON SAYS HE HAS $75,000 OFFER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Jack Johnson today received an offer, according to his own statement, from a promoter in Russia offering him $75,000 for a finish match with either Sam Langford or Sam McVey, to take place either in Moscow or St. Petersburg.

Jack Johnson's standing in the pugilistic world seems to be losing ground as a result of his relations with Lucille Cameron.

—Australia has barred him and California managers have taken similar action.

Story of a Beast.

I believe that vision was God's promise of its fulfillment.

IS THIS PROPHETIC?

"In a vision as plain as day I saw a boat on a beautiful stream. In that boat was my daughter, glorified in white, talking to my dead husband. Suddenly up out of the water rose a giant black man. It was Jack Johnson. With both hands he grabbed for the boat as if he would crush it, but he missed. My daughter rowed away and disappeared with a ripple of happy laughter on her lips. Then the water turned as black as ink and swallowed the black man up.

"It was so real that it frightened me, though I am a practical woman and not given to visions."

"Is it true that your daughter's married life with Johnson was unhappy?"

BEAT HIS WIFE.

"There can be but one reply to that," the mother answered. "She killed herself. Why she married him has been a mystery to me always, although Etta was never right in her mind, and I have attributed many things to that fact. And I believe her suicide came at a period, not of temporary madness, but of extra lucidness. I believe that for one brief moment the mental fog lifted from her, revealing her position to her in all its hideousness. In the revolt which followed she shot herself."

"Was Johnson cruel to her?"

"No one will ever know just how cruel," Mrs. Terry answered in a low, tired voice. "He beat her so she had to go to the hospital for treatment. She was mortally afraid of him. She ran away not long before she killed herself, hiding in a hotel near Chicago. Johnson set detectives after her, found her and had her brought back. I have seen her with her eyes black and bruises on her face. Before she left for Paris she told me she would rather die than go.

HUMILIATED HER MOTHER.

"When Etta shot herself I was prostrated, but went to Chicago with my daughter, Arline. We stayed at a hotel and not at Johnson's house, as some papers stated.

"When we went to Etta's home to see her, I begged the negro to grant me one request—I wanted the body of my dead girl. He refused. He said he was the husband of the girl and would stick to his rights. I told him he would forget, but that a mother never could. He said he was going to give Etta a funeral which I couldn't afford.

"He wanted me to ride about Chicago in his automobile. I refused.

"On the front porch of his house, in front of which a battery of newspaper photographers had lined up, when I passed out with a Red Cross nurse on one side and my daughter on the other, he pushed my daughter aside so he could have his picture taken at my side, making it appear that I was leaning on his arm.

SHAMED—HUMBLED.

"He forced his company upon us like that until we left Chicago.

"I told him I could not, and would not, go with him or his crowd to the church or cemetery. After Arline and I got in an automobile, which we were told was for us, Johnson climbed in. Shamed, humbled, I pulled down the curtains. Johnson lifted them up. Arline pulled them down again, and again Johnson lifted them so the crowd could see us together and photographers could take pictures.

"On the way to the cemetery, by the side of the grave, on the way back, at the railway station, in the train itself, he pursued us relentlessly. He sat on the arm of Arline's chair, and said so everybody could hear him: "I'll forgive you, Arline, for the way you treated me today!"

"It was not because he loved us he did it. He did it for show. At the time I was tortured by the desire to cry out so all the world might hear that it was all sham. I have kept silent because I wanted the world to forget the tragedy. I can never forget it. But I don't care for myself now, and I am willing to bear further humiliation if I can keep some other girl from going the way my daughter went; if I can save one other daughter from a similar tragedy.

"If I could feel that I am thus doing some good, my own burden of sorrow would oppress me less and I would know that my daughter's life and death had not been in vain."

GAME ASSOCIATION FAVORS SHORT SEASON.

[Special Correspondence of the Times.]

VISALIA, Oct. 23.—Despite the frantic efforts of the several officials of local gun clubs, the Tulare County Fish and Game Protective Association will go on record as favoring a longer closed season for deer and a much later opening of the season.

That resolutions embodying the changes suggested will be adopted by a vote of more than 90 per cent. of the members, and that steps will be taken toward a game preserve was the statement of Temporary Chairman Dan McFadyean today, made after he had appointed the standing committees of the association, which will serve until permanent organization is completed.

George Fleming heads the Committee on Rules and Constitution and E. L. Scott, banker of Porterville, is the head of the Membership Committee. The latter organization includes one member from each of the cities and towns and postoffices of the county, totaling about thirty members. A membership of close to 500 is anticipated when the organization meeting is called by the chairman.

HORSE OWNERS STILL KEPT FROM RACING.

[By Federal (Wireless) Line to The Times.]

MINERAL SPRINGS (Ind.) Oct. 24.—[Special Dispatch.] Indignant horse owners were again prevented from racing here today and even the exercise boys were forbidden to breeze the animals over the track. The two companies of State troops are quartered in the grand stand and a heavy guard is maintained over all the track property to prevent disgruntled employes starting a fire and leaving the State liable for damage to the owners.

The fate of the track will be known tomorrow and until that time the majority of the horse owners show an inclination to keep their stables at the track.

Another trophy was added to Co. A's collection last night. The State cup for the best thirty-man team arrived from Sacramento. Some of the members wanted to know what it was for. It was more than a year ago that this cup was won.

JOHNSON WOULD GO TO RUSSIA.

[By Federal (Wireless) Line to The Times.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 23.—[Special Dispatch.] That Jack Johnson is anxious to get out of the United States is said to be shown in a telegram received by Richard Klegin, the promoter of sporting events in Europe, from Jack Curley. Johnson's manager assures Klegin that Johnson is willing to go to Russia to fight.

A year ago Klegin tried to run a boxing club in Moscow. At that time the Russian government didn't take kindly to the idea of allowing ring contests, although the officials were personally friendly to the promoter. The bouts were not allowed to go on. Klegin returned to this country, leaving his boxing proposition in the hands of Mr. Thomas, owner of the Aquarium Gardens in Moscow.

A few days ago he received a cable informing him that the Russian government has decided to allow boxing contests and suggesting opening with a great tournament beginning January 1, and lasting a week, winding up with a battle between Johnson and McVey (who, is very popular in Europe,) for the heavyweight championship. This battle would be permitted to go to a finish. The bouts would all be held in the Gardens, which have a seating capacity of 10,000.

Klegin wired Johnson's manager, bringing out a prompt assurance that Johnson would like to fight in either Moscow or St. Petersburg.

Rather Die Than Go Back to Jack."

IN MEMORY OF MISS TRIXIE.

RUBY'S SILK STOCKINGS PROVE SHE'S IN MOURNING.

Eyebrows at Empress All Take on Darker Hue in Sympathy With Sad Event—Cramps Instead of Altruistic Weiner Route Does Terrible Deed.

BY GRACE KINGSLEY.

There is crepe all over the dressing catacombs at the "Empress" this week.

Trixie is dead, and pretty little Ruby Lusby, favorite of the bill, summs up her make-up, and has a damp rush of eyebrow to the collar every time she thinks of it. There's a tear-jug on her dresser. You might think it was a stein, but no, she says it's a tear-jug.

And the plaintive little sign that used to adorn the greenroom—"Don't howl the dog!" is gone, for Trixie wept easily and aloud.

"I wear mourning, of course!"

I looked the slithering Ruby all over and wondered, considering her costume, if it could be in the form of a porous plaster, on the wee-est small of her back, or a mourning ring on her little toe! But the deep black on her brows, the black silk stockings, the large black letters of her name on the programme—all, all speak of her grief!

Looking at me with tears in her eyes, Ruby said there was something about me that reminded her of Trixie. Naturally, I supposed that Trixie was a little flaxen-haired child, or maybe her husband—we do call husbands such funny names, nowadays, when we wear Fido's picture next our hearts and use hubby's to stop up a crack in the window. Or I thought maybe Trixie was a rich relative, or a manager who had put herto the calcium, or a pet hen, or maybe somebody that owed her money.

And then the truth came out—Trixie was just a cutsy little fox terrier.

The pretty little actress pulled some tear-coaxers out of a trunk. "This was hers!" she murmured, waving a delicate blanket toward me, "and these,"—delicately indicating by the pronoun the plural nature of the garment. "Worn just like a p-p-person, you see!" Charming, I thought—but the seat of the little things must have trailed in the snow sometimes!

"Her little feet never touched the ground," cried Ruby. And I came near asking her, with matter-of-fact anxiety, if it was because her legs weren't long enough, when the booties were pulled out, and I was glad I hadn't, because it might have sounded unsympathetic.

Trixie wasn't any common dog. Trixie was a dog with blue veins on her forehead—a real lady, who turned out her toes and kept her nose clean! Trixie's pedigree was so long it had a perspective, and her blood was like unto the inside of a blueberry pie.

"What did she die of?" I inquired sympathetically.

One fancied Trix had met death nobly, as, bravely singing, "My Bark Is on the Sea," she had gone down trying to save the life of some foolhardy cat who had ventured too far in the surf; or died the hallowed death of the misguided dog who misjudges another's championship abilities; or had gone mad trying to understand the recall and referendum, or maybe had departed by the altruistic route of the humble weiner!

"C-c-cramps!" cried Ruby, putting a little more mourning on an eyebrow; "just c-c-cramps—these here awful ice-cream cramps!"

Trixie certainly could nearly speak—and she knew she was going to die—I seen it in her eyes."

Well, one doesn't question the illusions of those who love.

"She was so tender and sweet!" And the way she said it, it sounded just like a beefsteak!

And she said Trixie was the most intelligent little thing—that she always knew a nice person from a horrid one, and always bit the horrid ones; she said that's how she, Ruby, knew they were horrid—and she never had another thing to do with 'em!

She said: "Please put it 'In Memory of Trixie.'" But I reminded her this was not a cold marble slab, but the pink sheet. She said she thought it would be so sweet, and that such a lot of people would read it around the hearthstone. I refrained from telling her this was not the open season for hearthstones, but I don't suppose it would have made any difference, anyhow.

And was Trixie buried in an ordinary old corpse-corral for common people? No, sires. Trixie turns up her little toes to the daisies underneath a blue gum tree in sunny Southern Cal.—where flea powders cease from troubling and dog catchers are at rest.

However, we are sure we'll meet Trixie on the other side, where she will wear her tail curled up into a halo, and bury her bones in a golden ash-heap, while she howls melodiously to a golden harp, and the naughty cherubs will tie gold nectarcans to her quivering tail!

HUNS TO MEET SPEEDY POETS.

POMONA FACING TOUGH PROBLEM SATURDAY.

Stanton's Team, in Very Weakened Condition, Must Do Battle With Best Team Ever Turned Out of Whittier — Quakers Have Shown Class in Early Games.

Pomona will have a hard time with the Whittier team tomorrow afternoon on Alumni field, Claremont, if the showing of the Poets in the practice games this season can be taken as any criterion. The Quakers have been going some, and with the Huns in their present weakened condition, due to injuries, it looks as though Stanton's men might suffer defeat.

Whittier is the dark horse of the season, having played none of the important games in the city, where the critics could get a look at the work. Redlands University went down to a 46 to 0 defeat, the cadets of the State school dropped a game, 60 to 0 and Long Beach went under, 24 to 0, while Whittier High School was badly beaten in a practice game. It will be seen by these scores that will keep him on the side lines of speed boys.

The Huns have not yet hit mid-season form and Stanton is finding it hard work to get his men shifted around for best results. Capt. Lutz will be played at half, with Brooks for a team mate, while Barnes will start at full, though he has been out of the game for the past few days with a bad tendon. Chauncey Gillette, the fighting center, is another star who will not be seen in the line-up Saturday. He has a broken rib that will keep hi mon the side lines for some time, though it is thought that he will be all right for the Oxy game November 16.

LYCEUM TEAM WINS FROM HOGAN'S BUNCH.

What promises to be an interesting double team match at pocket billiards between the Hogan, Lyceum and Blake Balls, was commenced last night at Hogan's with a game between Handcock and Banks of Hogan's, and O'Brien and Phillips of the Lyceum, which resulted in a win for the latter team by the score of 125 points to 50, after thirty-four innings.

The chances of the four-handed game gave George Banks little opportunity, as his work consisted largely of breaking the frames; and in his few other plays the fickle goddess refused to smile upon him. Shorty O'Brien, on the other hand, wielded his cue as if the balls ran in grooves, making runs of 15, 12, 12, and various smaller totals. Charley Phillips also played with the characteristic smoothness which makes him a dangerous competitor at all times. Handcock was substituting for James Hurley, who failed to appear, but he started off with a pretty run of 12.

The match consists of six games, which will be played alternately at the three halls mentioned. The game tonight is to be at the Lyceum, where Phillips and O'Brien are to meet C. Wilson and Fred Weeks, representing the Blake. The team winning the largest number of games will take first place, irrespective of the number of balls required.

BRESNAHAN TO FIGHT FOR HIS RIGHTS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 23.—"Fight? Am I going to fight? Well, I guess yes," Roger Bresnahan, deposed manager of the St. Louis Nationals, said today. "I am ready to fight for my rights and will go into any court they want me to. I never quit on the ball field and I won't quit now."

Rumors were in circulation today that President Robert L. Hedges of the St. Louis Americans was after Bresnahan to manage his club next season and was ready to pay the catcher the $10,000 a year, his contract with the St. Louis Nationals called for, but not the 10 per cent. of the profits. It is believed Bresnahan would be peculiarly valuable to the local Americans because of his ability to steady young pitchers. The American team has a number of promising youngsters.

ST. MARY'S IN FRONT.

SAN JOSE (Cal.) Oct. 23.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] In a desperately-fought game the College of the Pacific was defeated this afternoon at Rugby by the St. Mary's College team of Oakland, 14 to 0. St. Mary's scored twice in the first five minutes of play.

to place. W. H. Pipher is a driver of experience who has practiced faithfully. He is ready to get into this race with a bid for the right kind of honors, but he is up against men who have driven the race before and he has a hard fight before him. This car is one of the machines that will be worth watching.

C. Fred Grundy has a hunch that one of the Americans will place. He has a right to think that way after the trial trips in which both machines showed up remarkably well. The runs to Phoenix made by the American cars have shown that both machines are well within the running in this great race.

S. A. McKee on the 1912 Cadillac is working faithfully and is out every minute with his car. Now here is a man who may surprise everybody. He has been at the bat every minute and he has never failed even though the stunt was the most gruelling ever offered to a man who is unused to the rigors of a great race. He is as fit as a fiddle and fat as a prince. The race is doing him an immense amount of good.

The Simplex press car is practically out of the running. Should this touring car be stripped the Simplex would be first choice provided the car was started with a racing driver. Though the Simplex will be sent away with theother racers it is not fair to expect this machine to place as the handicap will be too great to overcome.

All arrangements have been made for the "Howdy" Special. This afternoon Clarence Smith will have the uniforms for the band at Smith Brothers' salesroom. There are to be five coaches and the largest bunch of rooters ever sent away on the Phoenix Special will leave this city at 12:50 o'clock, thirty minutes after the last car is sent away.

Leon T. Shettler, who is taking full charge of the special train, has made reservations for four coaches. He has other reservations and today will decide whether the train is to be made up with four or five cars.

MOVING PICTURES OF TEAM.

ITHACA (N. Y.) Oct. 23.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] The Cornell football squad which has been the despair of the coaches throughout the early season, will have an opportunity to study some of its weaknesses as they are seen by the spectators. A series of moving piejures of the team in action was taken this week. Analysis of the pictures is expected to bring home in a striking way some of the weak points of the players.

SENATORS GET ONE. ARELLANES AFTER FAME.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 24.—The tailenders played an errorless game of the early season variety today. Swain's three-bagger with two men on bases in the sixth inning followed by Orr's sacrifice fly enabling Sacramento to overcome San Francisco's one run lead and figuring as the deciding feature of a 5 to 3 victory for the locals.

The visitors out hit the locals, but good base running by the Senators more than offset their lack of hits. Score:

PRINCETON LOOKS FOR WORK WITH DARTHMOUTH.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 24.—[Special Dispatch.] One of the standard games of the football season is that between Princeton and Dartmouth. Since the series was inaugurated, football enthusiasts have come to look forward to the annual contests between these universities with eager anticipation.

Fifty per cent., of the members of the Dartmouth eleven of 1912 are from cities outside of New England. There has been an impression that the Dartmouth student body is mostly made up of New England men, doubtless due to the fact that Dartmouth, until the last three or four years, has been prominently identified with New England college athletics. However, the students are recruited from all the States of the Union, and there is about as great a proportion of western men and eastern men at Hanover as there is at most of the larger educational institutions.

Dartmouth will meet Princeton with a good line of forwards this season, and a clever backfield and the Tigers will find that they will have to play faster and harder football to win, than they have played since the practice season began.

The Princeton coaches are well aware of the fact that the team is up to something a little better than has been played since the football year began, and they have been coaching their charges accordingly.

Special trains will run from New York to Princeton on the day of the game, Saturday, and there will be a larger attendance, it is predicted, than saw the Dartmouth-Princeton contest last season at Princeton. If the teams had been able to arrange the game in New York this year, they would have played to one of the best football crowds which has seen a contest in this city for many seasons.

Active work for Saturday's game is being done by all the teams. Head Coach Graves, of West Point, drove the men through the hardest twenty-minute scrimmage the army team has had this year on the plains, this afternoon. It was the first line-up since the Yale game. Several of the regulars were missing. Capt. Devore is still out and will not play against Colgate. Wynne, who played the tackle position against Yale, is also out and his place was filled by Larkin, who will play against the up-Staters Saturday. Gillespie's place at end was taken by Marko, who played brilliantly and Hoge, at the other end, gave way to Merrell after a few minutes scrimmage. Hodgson was in the game last season and did brilliant work in the scrimmage today for the first time.

FACTS, FEATURES AND FANCIES FOR WOMEN AND MEN BY OLIVE GRAY

"At first I became tired of paying rooms for shabby and uncomfortable rooms," said a girl in one of the big stores, "and decided to actually buy a home. That seemed rather a large undertaking for a girl alone and earning a moderate salary; but after thinking it all over, I decided that at the end of the next year I would have something more than a rent receipt to show for my labors. I found that there were many opportunities to buy pretty bungalows by the payment of from $50 to $100 down and an amount per month which at first seemed large. I could manage the first payment, but if I were to pay the monthly quota it would leave me with little to add to my savings and other provisional accounts. Finally I decided to advertise for someone to take a part of a house. I found shortly some people who were glad to pay a somewhat smaller rental than they had been paying and who take the best of care of my little home, giving me a room to myself and a small bit of garden where I can, at night and morning, work for a little while. I raised these roses," she said proudly, pointing to the luscious bouquet upon her desk, "and I have a few fresh vegetables for my own use. I was never so happy in my life," she added enthusiastically. "The best of it is," she continued, "that other girls have taken courage by my example and are buying homes. Some have even gone so far as to purchase small ranches within easy distance from the city and they expect to make fortunes—at one of them—on the increase in values while they are living better and in a more sanitary fashion than they have lived before." Is not of this delightfully wholesome?

Beautiful Opening.

The art department of which I have written heretofore, opened yesterday even more auspiciously than had been dreamed.

The entire second floor of the jewelry establishment was devoted to beautiful articles, bric-a-brac, rare cut glass and clocks. The arrangement of the place is most delightful, the furnishings and fittings being so arranged as to set off the beauty of the objects seen. An entire room is devoted to time pieces, so planned that one may see just how they will look in a home. It is a genuine treat to drop into this beautiful place for a look around even though one does not contemplate buying. One can never tell, in Los Angeles, just when a friend from away will ask one's opinion or advice as to the purchase of something and it is well to be informed.

Fine for Photography.

One of the leading dry goods stores has adopted the latest fad in the line of photography.

In the window, where a beautiful display is displayed, there stands beside each hat rest a photograph of a lady wearing that selfsame hat. Not only does it calls attention to the hat, but it shows exactly how it will look when worn. One does not always care to ask a friend along to see one dry one's headgear, nor could one be certain that any friend's taste would accord with one's own. In using a photograph one may see one's selected "true to life." I think a fine plan.

DAILY BEAUTY HINT: "Beauty culture for the teeth": This is the latest Parisian fad. It is said that there is but one dentist in the French capital who understands the work which is most novel and effective. A Sign of Paris Ivory.

Have you noticed the oddly different poster in the window of one of the Broadway drug houses where a varied display of Parisian ivory is on exhibition? This marvelous coat, glistening with the pristine sleekness of the jungle, is shown in the window of a high-class Broadway dry goods house.

Scarfs of ostrich feather are the correct thing, and they are very much worn in Paris. They are either very short or of medium length, the long ones are usually for evening.

Charming tea gowns are made of gamask silks and trimmed with gold and silver laces. Silk crepe de chine and charmeuse are also very good for tea gowns over negligees.

Chiffon and velvet ribbons are in great demand for trimmings. They come in most exquisite shades and are used with brocade often to accentuate one of the colors of the design.

Very fashionable are the white felt hats, faced with dull-finished old gold faille. This facing should be the only suggestion of color about the hat, all of its top trimming should be white.

Some tailored suits show skirts mostly draped and either short or three-quarter cutaway coats. The pleats take the form of pleated panels or of a pleated skirt beneath a draped polonaise.

MEN'S CLUB INITIATION.

Pastor of Temple Baptist Church Executes an Amusing Series of Stunts at a Jolly Meeting.

Dr. J. Whitcomb Brougher, strongly original, arranged and executed a novelty in the initiation of the new officers of the Men's Club of Temple Baptist Church, of which he is pastor. The members of the club and a number of others, were first served with a fine supper, after which the officers-elect were called in, one at a time, to hear the charge of the pastor. At the close of his more or less humorous talk the candidate was asked to stoop forward and touch the floor with the tips of his fingers, and as he complied was batted on the posterior portion of his anatomy with a pasteboard paddle, in the hands of an attendant.

Preceding this ceremony he was given a physical examination by Dr. Skinemandkillem, who performed his part of the frolic to the delight of the audience and embarrassment of the candidate. After all of the eleven candidates had taken their medicine they were subjected to a test of strength "to strengthen the weak backs of the officers for the burdens they were to bear," by attempting to lift a 300-pound weight, to which an electric wire was attached. Other features were the funeral march, a boxing match, a procession led by a candidate in a baby-carriage, and other amusing stunts. When the fun was at an end the officers were solemnly obligated for their several duties.

Estimates World's Production This Year at Fifteen Per Cent. More Than Any Previous Yield—Figures in Many Millions of Tons—Demand Is Growing.

Sugar will be cheaper than it has been in twenty years in this country if the predictions of some of the experts become actualities. The world can boast of the greatest sugar harvest in all its aeons of existence and there will be sweets for even some who are not sweet and don't deserve them according to the old saying.

W. J. L. Kieruff, official of the Western Sugar Refining Company who is passing a few days at the Alexandria while here on business, estimated yesterday that the production of sugar will exceed by 15 per cent. that of any previous year. "From Europe we have reports of an immense crop with estimates of 9,000,000 tons of the raw product, a good portion of which is now ready for the consumer," said Kieruff.

"Last year the European production totaled only 6,000,000 tons. Cuba will have at least 2,000,000 tons against 1,750,000 tons the year previous. The Philippines, Hawaiian Islands and the East Indies all promise record breaking production. In the United States, the production will reach 555,000 long tons—that is sugar tons which run 240 pounds over the ordinary ton. Last year this country produced 350,000 long tons.

"With all of these figures in mind, it can readily be seen why the price is coming down. There is no doubt of cheap sweets and the ratio of eighty-one pounds of sugar consumed by every individual in the United States according to reliable statistics, will undoubtedly expand to a still larger amount.

"The demand for sugar is growing, but is not as steady as it might be. Big dealers are buying just what they need and there has never been a time when less speculation in the commodity has been the rule. The sugar business is on a healthy basis. Until after the elections and the decisions as to what changes will be made in the sugar tariff, buying will continue along this line."

The small amount of sugar produced in the United States itself at the present time is, according to Kieruff, a revelation to most people. "We are getting the bulk of the raw sugar from Cuba, the Philippines, Hawaii and even a large amount from Europe, showing that there is little danger at this time of overproduction in this country and that the industry should be fostered and promoted, not by reducing the tariff, but if anything, increasing it."

TROUBLE KEEPS A-BOBBING UP.

HUSBAND OF WEALTHY SENORA OUT AGAIN; IN AGAIN.

Dishes of Famous "Reconciliation Dinner" Hardly Cold Before Young Man Is Made to Figure in Court Case Involving Marriage License but No Ceremony.

Although Lawrence Castino, recently arrested by his wealthy Spanish bride, Senora Dolores Marquez Castino, on a charge of embezzlement, several nights ago celebrated the fortunate outcome of that charge by a "reconciliation dinner" with the wife, various phases of its aftermath are still bobbing up to trouble him.

Senor Castino's name was mentioned yesterday in Juvenile Court in a decidedly uncomplimentary manner in connection with the troubles of Otto and Gretchen Lederer, who are fighting for the custody of their child. Mrs. Lederer is the pretty German "star" of a moving-picture company.

Lederer, who is also a moving-picture actor, testified on the witness stand yesterday that he tracked Castino and Mrs. Lederer to a downtown cafe on the afternoon of October 13 where, accompanied by detectives, he says he found them together.

The Lederers began to live together in 1907 in Virginia. It appears that they secured a marriage license, but failed to have a ceremony performed. "I didn't know at the time it was necessary," said the husband yesterday. "When I got the license they made me swear to a lot of things and I thought that was enough."

It was not until two or three years later that the couple discovered the deficiency. He says the woman refused to have a ceremony performed and they continued to live together. When the wife became a "star" in the moving-picture concern, of which Castino is manager, marital troubles began, and recently the husband filed a petition in the Juvenile Court for the custody of the 5-year-old boy.

According to E. F. Gerecht, who appeared for Juvenile Prosecutor McCartney at the hearing yesterday, Mrs. Lederer admits that she was in the hotel with Castino, saying she went there to rest. She refused to have a marriage ceremony performed, telling the judge that she did not love her husband and did not want to live with him.

In the hope that the couple might become reconciled, Judge Wilbur continued the case until November 1, putting the child temporarily in the care of Lederer's sister, Mrs. Hankin, of Pasadena. Judge Wilbur made it plain to the wife, however, that unless she marries her husband, she cannot have the child. Lederer stated in court that he is still in love with his wife and wants to marry her. Both live at Santa Monica.

PRAISES PROPOSED CHARTER.

Professor of Jurisprudence at State University Says Framers Are to Be Congratulated.

High praise for the county charter, proposed for adoption at the coming election, is contained in a letter received yesterday by Lewis R. Works, chairman of the Charter Commission, from William Carey Jones, professor of jurisprudence at the University of California and chairman of the commission that drafted the charter adopted by the city of Berkeley. Jones says:

"It (the charter) is an excellent piece of work, much better than I had thought could be done under the constitutional provision. I congratulate you."

The meeting Saturday noon at the Hall of Records, when Works will talk on the charter, will be informal, and questions will be welcomed. Works and Frank R. Seaver of Pomona, a member of the Board of Freeholders, will speak on the charter Tuesday noon at the Angelus, where the Municipal League will entertain representatives of the civic bodies of the county.

Helpful Hints on Hair Health

Scalp and Hair Troubles Generally Caused by Carelessness.

Dandruff is a contagious disease caused by a microbe, which also produces baldness. Never use a comb or brush belonging to someone else. No matter how cleanly the owner may be, these articles may be infected with microbes, which will infect your scalp. It is easier to catch hair microbes than it is to get rid of them, and a single stroke of an infected comb or brush may well lead to baldness. Never try on anybody else's hat. Many a hathand is a resting place for microbes.

If you happen to be troubled with dandruff, itching scalp, falling hair or baldness, we have a remedy which we believe will completely relieve these troubles. We are so sure of this that we offer it to you with the understanding that it will cost you nothing for the trial if it does not produce the results we claim. This remedy is called Rexall "93" Hair Tonic. We honestly believe it to be the most scientific remedy for scalp and hair troubles, and we know of nothing else that equals it for effectiveness, because of the results it has produced in thousands of cases.

Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is devised to banish dandruff, restore natural color when its loss has been brought about by disease, and make the hair naturally silky, soft and glossy. It does this because it stimulates the hair follicles, destroys the germ matter, and brings about a free, healthy circulation of blood, which nourishes the hair roots, causing them to tighten and grow new hair. We want everybody who has any trouble with hair or scalp to know that Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is the best hair tonic and restorative in existence, and no one should scoff at or doubt this statement until they have put our claims to a fair test, with the understanding that they pay us nothing for the remedy if it does not give full and complete satisfaction in every particular. Two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in Los Angeles only at our stores. Federal (Wireless) Line to The Times.]
SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 24.—[Special Dispatch.] The Oaks refused to release their grip on first place today by holding the Angels in check on the Freeman Park lot. The winning of the Oaks was accomplished principally through the sharp-shooting pitcher, William Malarkey, aged, but not decrepit, who at one time was pills in the big brush. In nine innings the wingless Angels were unable to get a chalk, while the Sharpmen registered four.

The Oaks seemed to realize that this was up to them to perform. Gunner Malarkey probably realized this matter better than any of his teammates for he supplied himself with a complete round of ammunition and went forth on the hill amidst several thousand anxious but diffident supporters looked on.

ONE-MAN SHOW.

Malarkey's deeds are probably rated better by the score. A complete record of his work is shown in figures that will give him the credit which is due him. It was practically a one-man exhibition. After a couple of innings the trans-bay leaguer warmed up. His curves were mystifying and hypnotising that the Angels stood awe-stricken and watched the sphere drift over the plate while Umpire Jack McCarthy called them out on strikes.

While Malarkey twirled a clever game his fellow workers were strong at the bat. All of them seemed to be there with the big stick and every laid it against the ball to the tune of a full house of Oakland stars.

Leverenz, the offside shooter of the southern club, did not have anything that Sharpe's men did not forward. Leverenz was woefully short of his usual assortment. He tried to deceive, as is his usual game, and in the second frame the Oaks opened up their guns. The attack was well planned and executed, the result being three bingles and two runs. The battle was won right here, but the Oaks seemed intent on crushing the enemy further as they made a couple of more attempts which produced results.

COY SHINES AGAIN.

Bertram Coy, who has made himself obnoxious to opposing pitchers for the past few months, put himself in Dutch with Flinger Leverenz when he straightened out one of the southern pitcher's shooters in the second frame for a couple of bags. It looked as if he would be stranded in the deep, as Gustavus Hetling was waylaid on a grounder to Page and Cook popped to Moore.

Confidence began to wane in the bleachers and there was less cheering. However, Tiedemann was to be reckoned with. The orphan child of the bushes came to Coy's relief with a safe smash to center which helped Coy home. Then Leverenz displayed a kindly feeling towards Mitze and passed him. His kindness was not appreciated, as Malarkey biffed safely to right while Tiedemann ambled home.

ANOTHER USELESS RUN.

Too much was not enough, for the Oakland went after more in the fifth frame. Three safe swats netted the pennant seekers another run and instilled more confidence into the fans. Malarkey, who was particularly bright from a defensive standpoint, again showed up in the offensive, for he started the smacking which gave the Oaks another run. A safe clout to the right field fence gave him the initial sack, but he was forced at second by Leard. Abbott singled to right, Leard going to third. Zacher hit to center, scoring Leard. Coy flied out to right, but Abbott was caught at the plate on the throw in.

The Angels managed to get one hit in each of the first three frames, but failed to count, then Malarkey tightened up and kept the Angels off the bags during the next four innings. He had beautiful control, as he refused to issue a pass during the game. During the ninth he eased up and allowed a couple of hits, but they failed to count.

The Oaks secured their fourth run in the eighth frame. Again three safe swats netted them the tally. Zacher singled to center field, but was forced by Coy. Hetling singled to center, Coy taking second. Cook popped out, but Tiedemann responded with a hit to right field, Coy scoring, but Hetling being thrown out at the plate trying to score on the play.

Behind the Scenes.

AME WAS BADLY WANTED AND TIGERS GRABBED IT.

Hap Tells Them How to Hit Higginbotham, and They Do It in First Inning—Beavers Think Baum Is a Good Hay Pitcher—Big Mac Declares His Own Team Is a Very Rotten One.

BY AL G. WADDELL.

UMPIRE WHEELER was looting Hap's old black grip and salting away a cargo of new white balls in the numerous pockets of his workclothes. Officer Finney was easing off the rubber with an abbreviated broom. McCredie paced up and down in front of the Portland bench like a "rookey" on guard. Hap stood in front of the Vernon seat with his arms folded, like an officer of the day.

"To arms! To arms!" burst forth from Finney. "They are off," yelled Hosp. "Let's go get 'em today boys," said McCredie; and the game started.

"This is the one we want," said Eddie Maier to Baum as he started for the mound. "Spide, old boy, it's yours today. You are right. Make this old one-two-three," was what he had to say; and one-two-three was.

HAP'S IDEAS GOOD.

The Vernon forces had Higginbotham sized up as a "malo hombre;" and McCredie was confident that he could beat the Tigers, but Hap got busy. "Hit to center, Walter," said Carlisle, and Carlisle did. Krueger's foot slipped but his escutcheon was followed by Bayless's hit for a score. "We will get three for this inning, Spider, and you can get the rest," he said to Baum. "Make a dozen," said Hosp. "About six I do," joined in Litschi. "We'll bat around and then take it easy. "Very well then," said Hap meekly. "Six will do; make it six and I will be satisfied. How do you like it, Mr. Hit-the-bottom?"

When Hosp scored Bayless and Brashear, Eddie Maier's Dutch pipe fell to the ground. "Yow-wee-yow-wee, look at those babies race around the old lot," he yelled. "They run like motorcycles. Yow! There's another run."

McCredie sat like one in a Turkish bath dream. "Well, what do you know about that?" was all he could say. Eddie Maier was not a bit dignified. He picked up his pipe and tried to poke the wrong end into his mouth. He called the players good old boys and slapped his hands over his knees to keep from pounding Baum.

GREGG GOES IN.

Gregg was warming up and Roy Brashear said he could braid his arms and legs together and make a piece of rope. When McDonnell crossed for the sixth run, McCredie sent Gregg to the rescue. Baum fanned, but Hap told him he did some great swinging. When Carlisle fanned in the first, McCredie again got cheerful, but Brashear said it served him right, as he had had two cracks at the old pill in one inning and that was not fair. "Bull," volunteered Walter, "that human string has something on the marble today."

"What an awful punishing poor Higgy did get," wailed McCredie as the boys came to the bench. "Those fellows are sure some hitting fools. Any place in the field, any old curve, they hit it." Fitzgerald selected his pole and went up. Krueger stood outside the bench house and made a great speech about getting eight off that Baum guy. Mas opened with a great line of tabasco talk when Fitz singled, but when Norton hit into a double, he shut up. Hap was back o fthird. "How do you like it?" he called to Ollie Olsen, who was sitting in a box. Then he turned to the left field bleachers and asked them how the fans there felt. Fitzgerald wanted to know why he didn't hang his sign out instead of advertising that way and Hap came back with, "why don't you come up and spend a couple of your rusty nickles?"

ADVICE TO BAUM.

Fisher got on in the third and Portland stock went up. The boys in blue told Mr. Baum that he should be up in the San Joaquin Valley pitching hay, he was a poor old broken down bum and that he was dated to get knocked off the pile. "Come on now, let's get revenge," pleaded Mac. "We can get him. Every man go up there and knock the cover off. He has nothing and he never could pitch ball. Now go after him for your papa." Gregg planted one on the head and it looked good for over the fence, but there was too much Dick Bayless up against the fence and Mac said, "Foiled again."

Hap was not satisfied with six, so he begged the boys to get some more. Baum planted a single in the third and scored Litschi from second. That was not enough and Hap begged for more, but the lead was good enough and the Beavers were playing some ball, too.

"If I had only started Gregg," reflected McCredie. "Still, it seems that those clodhoppers do all their playing in the first and we will get 'em yet."

VERY SMALL HOPES.

Gregg singled in the fifth and scored Bancroft from second. "The unexpected has happened," announced McCredie, and the Beavers began to count on their fingers. "Only seven to win now, boys; come on brace one over the fence," pleaded little Cunningham. "We want the old chalk marks, boys; come on and tickle the marble on the nose." Krueger went after a mile high drive over the boards. "Run yourself out of breath," shouted Hap as the big Dutchman rounded the turn at first base. "Run, run, it may never come down," but Bayless spoiled it and McCredie said, "Fond hopes. so glimmering."

There was much applause offered up when Krueger's fly nestled in Dick's mit. "If he'd missed it he would a' lost his job. Catches it and they all go nutty," muttered Fitzgerald.

Fisher went to the water bucket to get a drink, during the sixth and when he found the water all gone he kicked the bucket. A chunk of ice slid over the floor and someone said, "Gee, but you got a mean disposition." The crabid catcher looked from behind his mast for a few seconds and the offended bucket was picked up by McCredie with a laugh and the offender took to a far corner of the bench-house.

Norton was at bat. Big McCredie looked at him and did some thinking out-loud. "That kid don't bat right. He is too stiff at the plate. Can't get the big swing. Cunningham stands loose and gets action into his swings." Cunningham got him and blushed. "Tie it outside," he whispered from the corner, but Mac failed to hear him.

KOESTNER A HINDU.

Koestner threw a volley of overgrown peanuts at Cunningham. "Cut it out, you Hindu," Cunny ordered. "Gee, but you fellows treat a poor bushes mean." "Go over there and relieve Butcher, Cunny," commanded the big fellow. The picked-on-busher trembled, but went over on the first base line to take his medicine. "That boo-hooing stuff will do him good," said Howley, "but I feel sorry for him." "You get used to it," declared Sutor, "but it never becomes bearable to have that pack of wolves yelling at you. They are brave all right up there, but you never see one who will call you names in the open. Still, it's baseball and we have to take it. They wait for a chance and then you get it even if you have starred for a whole season without an error and a batting averageof over .500. They seem to think we make errors on purpose."

BEAVERS ARE ROTTEN.

"With the bases drunk and none down, the best we can do is to chase in one measly run," grumbled McCredie. "That's what I call rotten luck. We are a rotten team at that, when we can't win with all that chance." This was what Mac had to say after the seventh.

There were no strained nerves on the Vernon bench. The most important thing after the third inning was the score board across the field. "Oaks, 2; Angels, 0," read Hap. "Oh! that's all right, they can't win every one and we can," said Eddie Maier, "The Angels will get the big one tomorrow and we will take the lead. This only time in my life, I ever pulled for the Angels."

In the eighth Sam Agnew grabbed two high fouls. The sun was in his face and he was a bit unsteady as he followed the ball with his eyes. "What kind of a dance is the lob trying to pull off out there?" inquired Baker. "That's one of Polly Perrit's Texas Tommys," explained Dan Howley. When Sam started to dance his second number half the members of the Portland club were on their feet, trying to get the movement.

Butcher went to bat in the ninth. "Cut and slash now," said the Portland manager, "we are still after them and you never can tell. A hit or two will fill the bases and Krueger is due to knock one over the fence. I sure would like to beat those fellows out in a big rally. They think we have all lost our dobbers, but we are still in the old game, so get 'em, Butch, kiss one on the nose for me."

Butch was greeted by many boos from the stands and Hap brought a big laugh from the boys on the bench when he recited: "Butcher, Butcher, kill a calf; hang him up and cut him in half."

Speck Harkness paid a visit to the Vernon seat and was told that he should take the cure for his pitching arm. Speck wandered out on the grass and a fan wanted to know when he was going to pitch.

"Better not pitch this week, old boy," said Stewart, "you will get the wadding kicked out of you. We knock the big ones out in the first inning and you would never get started."

"Bet you can't find a crap game," offered Roy Brashear. "Speck, you are a long way from home, better get back to McCredie."

Portland's cut-and-slash stuff failed to materialize and Hap said "The same thing tomorrow, boys. Harry Sutor is the next victim," as the crowd headed for the gates.

The rising generation should all be expert marksmen. That is what Kellogg thinks and he is doing his best to develop shooting in his family.

Tigers Score Six.

Credle, hoping ever for a forceout or a double play, was emitting sulphurous fumes, and wanting to know where Higginbotham ever went to school. Higg, fully as cheerful as an active pallbearer, swather a glittering galaxy of cold beads from his noble brow, and armed over a wild pitch, Litschi advancing to third and McDonnell to second. Both of them advanced home when Drummond Brown, beatlike in the extreme, hit an able-bodied single to left.

This was more than McCredie could bear. Higginbotham, long expecting the hook, submitted gracefully. Gregg proved that he had something by striking out Baum and Carlisle just as fast as they could present themselves at the plate. Curse Malarkey! This is digressing, but we can't help it.

GREGG AN ENIGMA.

"Tis well we made runs while Mr. Higginbotham was shining, for Gregg was just about as good as his big brother, Vean. Dave's escutcheon was smeared but once, and then for but one run. That was in the third, when Litschi chaperoned a tally around the course on his own walk. McDonnell's sacrifice and a single by Baum, who was advised by some cornfed hoob in the grand stand "to win his own game." Imagine being required to win your own game with the other fellows so far behind that you couldn't see them with the aid of a 90-horse-power lens.

Subsequent to this, Carlisle was the only member of the local guild to reach second base. Walter singled to center with one down in the sixth. He thought some of continuing to second, but Krueger scared him back with a malignant look and a threatening gesture of his powerful right arm. Carlisle did go to second, however, while Rogers and Norton were embalming Burrell. Bayless retired the side with a meek and lowly grounder to Gregg.

Chadbourne opened the matinee for the Beavers with one that Litschi had to field while balanced on one ear. The play was beautifully completed when McDonnell spread himself far afield, ever keeping one foot anchored to the bag, and hauled in the wide throw with his worthy left mit. Krueger and Rogers, try as they would, couldn't get the ball outside of the infield.

Fitzgerald started the second with a neat single to right. Norton drove to Litschi, and both men were gobbled into the maw of the Vernon defense. Litschi to Brashear to McDonnell. This was but the first of three double plays which the Tigers utilized for the purpose of snuffing out Portland prospects. Brashear and McDonnell were the executioners in a double play on Fitzgerald and Norton in the sixth, and Hosp and Brashear choked a budding rally in the ninth with a two-ply play on Butcher and Chadbourne.

Dick Bayless, able and urbane as usual, enlivened the third with a very star catch of rGegg's fly in deep left. Dick, had to retreat well nigh to the stockade in order to accomplish his purpose, the same being executed while under full sail.

PORTLAND IN FIFTH.

Rogers doubled in the fourth, and acted as though he intended to score on Fitzgerald's single. Bayless's throw sent him scrambling back to third. Fitzgerald did some tall scrambling on his own account when Baum intercepted Bayless's heave and threw to first. Fitzgerald regained that sanctuary just in the nick of time. Emboldened by his success he tried to steal second with Baum holding the ball. You can work those things on a spring chicken, but not on a person of Baum's mature years. Fitz slid long and nobly, but Baum's throw to Brashear beat him to it. Norton and Baker retired on flies.

Portland began to pick up in the fifth, but didn't make great headway. Bancroft hit sharply to Hosp. The drive pulled Hosp off his balance, and a wide fling to first followed. Bancroft took second on the error. Brashear knocked down Fisher's drive and threw his man out for one of the prettiest plays of the game. Bancroft took third on the play, and scored when Gregg spun a bunt to Baum and beat the throw. Chadbourne forced Gregg at second, and Bayless then proceeded to make his aforementioned star catch of Krueger's fly.

Bancroft had the honor of hanging up Portland's other run, the same being racked in the seventh. Hosp, his arm creaking and wanting in its customary accuracy, spared Baker at first with a throw that pulled McDonnell heavenward. Bancroft walked and Fisher glutted the bases with a single. Gregg dumped the ball in front of the plate. Baum shovelled it along to Brown, forcing Baker. The latter crashed into the plate feet first, almost ripping a shoe from Drummond Brown. Brown experienced a lot of physical and mental anguish. After nursing his lame foot for a few minutes, he tossed the ball back in the infield carelessly. Bancroft took advantage of this to sneak in from third, but as time had been called, Umpire Finney sent him back in disgrace. Bancroft got even by coming in on Chadbourne's long fly to Bayless. Krueger forced Fisher at second.

BEAVERS' DYING KICK.

The Beavers tried to start something in the ninth, but were not eminently successful. Bancroft was not permitted to figure in this rallyette, Carlisle gathering in his short fly after a hard run. Fisher fenced a double. Butcher was recalled from first base coaching box, where he had been trying to out-kid the gallery, and sent to the plate with Gregg's bat. Butch fashioned a fly in short right, the same going for a double. It looked for a time that Burrell might by some marvelous means contrive to catch the ball. Fisher lingered to make sure of these things, and only advanced to third on the hit. Anyway, there was no call for Gus to extend himself, as one run didn't mean anything to the Beavers at that stage. Their only chance was to get 'em in flocks, and they didn't gather any flocks because Hosp absorbed Chadbourne's fly and tossed to Brashear, doubling Butcher at second.

Koestner, Klawitter and Higginbotham. Next!

HAP HOGAN DECIDES TO BECOME REAL ACTOR

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

"HPPY" HOGAN, matinee idol! o you get that?

Stranger things may never have happened, but this one is on the cards. Late last night "Happy" signed a contract with the Sullivan & Considine people to appear on their Coast circuit for a period of ten weeks. The contract was tendered him by George A. Harrison, Sullivan & Considine's business agent on the Coast, and was approved by Dean Worley, manager of the Empress Theater. All that remains is the O.K. of the New York office, and Mr. Harrison says that this is sure to be forthcoming. The arrangement is regarded as closed by all those concerned.

"Hap" Hogan, Actor.

Hogan is to do a baseball monologue, which he has already prepared. Being an original "cuss," he may decide to make some changes in it. Changes or no changes, "Hap" is sure to make a success as a theoplan, for he has never yet failed to deliver the goods.

"Happy" has had his share of the limelight, but this will be his first venture among the footlights. For three years, Hogan has been behe sieged with offers from theatrical managers, but not until last night did he fall for the lure of the lucre. "Hap" will receive $500 a week for his histrionic talents, which all will have to admit is a tidy little sum. Personally, I would lay down my life every week in the year for a salary like that.

Hogan's contract calls for him to make his first appearance about November 15. He will open in the Northwest, and it is probable that Victoria or Spokane will have the pleasure of witnessing his debut. He will work down toward Los Angeles by gradual degrees, and wind up his stage career for the year in San Diego. When "Hap" lands here we will all be out on the coaching line.

"A second Jimmy Callahan." That is Mr. Harrison's estimate of Hogan.

GAME FOR VENICE TEAM.

Venice Polytechnic is to meet Dean Cromwell's Y.M.C.A. eleven tomorrow afternoon. The Venice boys lost their game with Long Beach High's second squad. This was the first football game ever played by the Venice lads. Charles Jennings, the coach, has been drilling his boys hard since Saturday and says the experience did them a lot of good and they will do much better work tomorrow.

CORNELL SUBSTITUTED.

CAMBRIDGE (Mass.) Oct. 24.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Cornell will be substituted for Dartmouth in Harvard's track schedule, according to the action of the Harvard athletic committee tonight. The track committee was authorized to make a two-years' agreement with Cornell. The first dual track meet will be held in Cambridge next spring.

KANE SAYS THE BEST MAN WON.

"The best man won." That was the spirit in which Johnny Kane, rival of Gus Hetling for the Chalmers auto, received the news of the award. "Hetling has played grand ball for his club this season, and I am glad that he has been awarded the trophy."

"Naturally I would have been pleased had one of my men received the prize, but I have no hesitancy in saying that it went to the man who deserved it," said Hogan. "Hetling has played phenomenal ball this season."

WALTER E. FLANDERS TO HEAD UNITED STATES MOTOR CO.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 24.—[Special Dispatch.] Walter E. Flanders will be the new head of the United States Motor Company, with headquarters at Detroit. This announcement comes from sources which make it practically official. It is reported here tonight that the United States Motor Company will take the Flanders Motor Company, capitalized at $3,750,000, and assume all of its debts and obligations and is also to pay a big cash bonus to the Flanders organization and its stockholders. The banking interests back of the reorganization of the United States Motor Company are said to have insisted that the deal should be made with Flanders and negotiations have practically been completed.

Norman W. Church received a dispatch yesterday confirming the news from New York. These negotiations, according to Church, have been in progress for five weeks. Had it not been that Flanders insisted that the Flanders Motor Company be included in the deal the organization would have been completed on the first conference. This makes the Flanders Motor Company one of the strongest organizations.

Trojans Holding Tryouts.

Coach Boyd Comstock of U.S.C., is holding weekly tryouts for his track men in the field events. Every Friday afternoon Capt. Linton Smith calls the freshmen together and a handicap meet is held in the hammer, shot, broad jump, high jump and pole vault. It was thought, during the first part of this season, that the varsity would be weak in these events, but a wealth of material is showing up and the propects for a great track season are brighter than ever.

L.A.H.S. to Meet Hollywood.

The Los Angeles High School Rugby team will clash with the Hollywood aggregation tomorrow afternoon on Bovard field, in a regular league game, the result of which will bear directly on the Southern High School championship.

The odds seem to favor the Los Angeles High School squad, as it is heavier and has more experienced men among its players, but they say that these foothill kids are goers, once they are warmed up. In the game Wednesday afternoon with Manual Arts, Manual scored all of the nine points of the winning score in the first ten minutes of play and, after that, Hollywood team had them on the defense all the time.

Second Team Struggle.

The Los Angeles High School second team will play the U.S.C. scrubs before the Hollywood game. The seconds will have in this struggle, their first hard game of the season, and are looking forward to smearing the Trojan subs.

Pomona High Has Chance.

In looking over the High School championship prospects for Southern California, Los Angeles High School, Manual Arts and Pomona High seem to be out in front in the mater of class. This latter squad should give the local High School a hard rub for honors, as thirteen men on the team are veterans, and the other two have played Rugby on the second team for one season.

Manual has a strong team, and after the game this afternoon with the Trojans, we will be able to get a better line on its chances in the local race for High School prestige.

It is believed that the brewery will refuse to take a chance of revocal of the license by retransferring it to Johnson, and if this is the case the negro's $30,000 resort will become only a show place and useless to him.

Two women residents of Chicago and relatives of Lucille Cameron, the white girl in the case, are being sought by the Federal authorities to confirm the statement that Johnson really brought the girl from Minneapolis. They are in hiding and efforts are being made to get quick service on them.

A number of other important witnesses have also left the State, fearing the publicity through the linking of their names with that of Johnson. The Federal officials have until next Monday to get them before the grand jury. The Cameron girl was returned today to the jail at Rockford, Ill., and her mother accompanied her, the parent sharing the girl's cell until next Monday.

JOHNSON SAYS HE HAS $75,000 OFFER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Jack Johnson today received an offer, according to his own statement, from a promoter in Russia offering him $75,000 for a finish match with either Sam Langford or Sam McVey, to take place either in Moscow or St. Petersburg.

Jack Johnson's standing in the pugilistic world seems to be losing ground as a result of his relations with Lucille Cameron.

Australia has barred him and California managers have taken similar action.

Story of a Beast.

I believe that vision was God's promise of its fulfillment.

IS THIS PROPHETIC?

"In a vision as plain as day I saw a boat on a beautiful stream. In that boat was my daughter, glorified in white, talking to my dead husband. Suddenly up out of the water rose a giant black man. It was Jack Johnson. With both hands he grabbed for the boat as if he would crush it, but he missed. My daughter rowed away and disappeared with a ripple of happy laughter on her lips. Then the water turned as black as ink and swallowed the black man up.

"It was so real that it frightened me, though I am a practical woman and not given to visions."

"Is it true that your daughter's married life with Johnson was unhappy?"

BEAT HIS WIFE.

"There can be but one reply to that," the mother answered. "She killed herself. Why she married him has been a mystery to me always, although Etta was never right in her mind, and I have attributed many things to that fact. And I believe her suicide came at a period, not of temporary madness, but of extra lucidness. I believe that for one brief moment the mental fog lifted from her, revealing her position to her in all its hideousness. In the revolt which followed she shot herself."

"Was Johnson cruel to her?"

"No one will ever know just how cruel," Mrs. Terry answered in a low, tired voice. "He beat her so she had to go to the hospital for treatment. She was mortally afraid of him. She ran away not long before she killed herself, hiding in a hotel near Chicago. Johnson set detectives after her, found her and had her brought back. I have seen her with her eyes black and bruises on her face. Before she left for Paris she told me she would rather die than go.

HUMILIATED HER MOTHER.

"When Etta shot herself I was prostrated, but went to Chicago with my daughter, Arline. We stayed at a hotel and not at Johnson's house, as some papers stated.

"When we went to Etta's home to see her, I begged the negro to grant me one request—I wanted the body of my dead girl. He refused. He said he was the husband of the girl and would stick to his rights. I told him he would forget, but that a mother never could. He said he was going to give Etta a funeral which I couldn't afford.

"He wanted me to ride about Chicago in his automobile. I refused.

"On the front porch of his house, in front of which a battery of newspaper photographers had lined up, when I passed out with a Red Cross nurse on one side and my daughter on the other, he pushed my daughter aside so he could have his picture taken at my side, making it appear that I was leaning on his arm.

SHAMED—HUMBLED.

"He forced his company upon us like that until we left Chicago.

"I told him I could not, and would not, go with him or his crowd to the church or cemetery. After Arline and I got in an automobile, which we were told was for us, Johnson climbed in. Shamed, humbled, I pulled down the curtains. Johnson lifted them up. Arline pulled them down again, and again Johnson lifted them so the crowd could see us together and photographers could take pictures.

"On the way to the cemetery, by the side of the grave, on the way back, at the railway station, in the train itself, he pursued us relentlessly. He sat on the arm of Arline's chair, and said so everybody could hear him: "I'll forgive you, Arline, for the way you treated me today!"

"It was not because he loved us he did it. He did it for show. At the time I was tortured by the desire to cry out so all the world might hear that it was all sham. I have kept silent because I wanted the world to forget the tragedy. I can never forget it. But I don't care for myself now, and I am willing to bear further humiliation if I can keep some other girl from going the way my daughter went; if I can save one other daughter from a similar tragedy.

"If I could feel that I am thus doing some good, my own burden of sorrow would oppress me less and I would know that my daughter's life and death had not been in vain."

GAME ASSOCIATION FAVORS SHORT SEASON.

[Special Correspondence of the Times.]

VISALIA, Oct. 23.—Despite the frantic efforts of the several officials of local gun clubs, the Tulare County Fish and Game Protective Association will go on record as favoring a longer closed season for deer and a much later opening of the season.

That resolutions embodying the changes suggested will be adopted by a vote of more than 90 per cent. of the members, and that steps will be taken toward a game preserve was the statement of Temporary Chairman Dan McFadzean today, made after he had appointed the standing committees of the association, which will serve until permanent organization is completed.

George Fleming heads the Committee on Rules and Constitution and E. L. Scott, banker of Porterville, is the head of the Membership Committee. The latter organization includes one member from each of the cities and towns and postoffices of the county, totaling about thirty members. A membership of close to 500 is anticipated when the organization meeting is called by the chairman.

HORSE OWNERS STILL KEPT FROM RACING.

[By Federal (Wireless) Line to The Times.]

MINERAL SPRINGS (Ind.) Oct. 24.—[Special Dispatch.] Indignant horse owners were again prevented from racing here today and even the exercise boys were forbidden to breeze the animals over the track. The two companies of State troops are quartered in the grand stand and a heavy guard is maintained over all the track property to prevent disgruntled employees starting a fire and leaving the State liable for damage to the owners.

The fate of the track will be known tomorrow and until that time the majority of the horse owners show an inclination to keep their stables at the track.

A Black Brute; His Victim.

Jack Johnson and Wife,

Whom he tortured to suicide. This picture was taken in London at the height of their notoriety. Mrs. Johnson was the daughter of Duryea, the horseman.

Another trophy was added to Co. A's collection last night. The State cup for the best thirty-man team arrived from Sacramento. Some of the members wanted to know what it was for. It was more than a year ago that this cup was won.

JOHNSON WOULD GO TO RUSSIA.

[By Federal (Wireless) Line to The Times.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct 23.—[Special Dispatch.] That Jack Johnson is anxious to get out of the United States is said to be shown in a telegram received by Richard Klegin, the promoter of sporting events in Europe, from Jack Curley. Johnson's manager assures Klegin that Johnson is willing to go to Russia to fight.

A year ago Klegin tried to run a boxing club in Moscow. At that time the Russian government didn't take kindly to the idea of allowing ring contests, although the officials were personally friendly to the promoter. The bouts were not allowed to go on. Klegin returned to this country, leaving his boxing proposition in the hands of Mr. Thomas, owner of the Aquarium Gardens in Moscow.

A few days ago he received a cable informing him that the Russian government has decided to allow boxing contests and suggesting opening with a great tournament beginning January 1, and lasting a week, winding up with a battle between Johnson and McVey (who is very popular in Europe,) for the heavyweight championship. This battle would be permitted to go to a finish. The bouts would all be held in the Gardens, which have a seating capacity of 10,000.

Klegin wired Johnson's manager, bringing out a prompt assurance that Johnson would like to fight in either Moscow or St. Petersburg.

Tear Jug.

IN MEMORY OF MISS TRIXIE.

RUBY'S SILK STOCKINGS PROVE SHE'S IN MOURNING.

Eyebrows at Empress All Take on Darker Hue in Sympathy With Sad Event—Cramps Instead of Altruistic Weiner Route Done Terrible Deed.

BY GRACE KINGSLEY.

There is crepe all over the dressing cahcombs at the "Empress" this week.

Trixie is dead, and pretty little Ruby Lusby, favorite of the bill, dusses up her make-up, and has a damp rush of eyebrow to the collar every time she thinks of it. There's a tear-jug on her dresser. You might think it was a stein, but no, she says it's a tear-jug.

And the plaintive little sign that used to adorn the greenroom—"Don't howl the dog!" is gone, for Trixie wept easily and aloud.

"I wear mourning, of course!"

I looked the alluring Ruby all over and wondered, considering her costume, if it could be in the form of a porous plaster, on the wee-est small of her back, or a mourning ring on her little toe! But the deep black on her brown, the black silk stockings, the large black letters of her name on the programmic—all, all speak of her grief!

Looking at me with tears in her eyes, Ruby said there was something about me that reminded her of Trixie. Naturally, I supposed that Trixie was a little flaxen-haired child, or maybe her husband—we do call husbands such funny names, nowadays, when we wear Fido's picture next our hearts and use hubby's to stop up a crack in the window. Or, I thought maybe Trixie was a rich relative, or a manager who had put herto the cactum, or a pet hen, or maybe somebody that owed her money.

And then the truth came out—Trixie was just a cutey little fox terrier.

The pretty little actress pulled some tear-coaxers out of a trunk. "This was hers!" she murmured, waving a delicate blanket toward me, "and these,"—delicately indicating by the pronoun the plural nature of the garment. "Worn just like a p-p-person, you see!" Charming, I thought—but the rest of the little things must have trailed in the snow sometimes!

"Her little feet never touched the ground," cried Ruby. And I came near asking her, with matter-of-fact anxiety, if it was because her legs weren't long enough, when the booties were pulled out, and I was glad I hadn't, because it might have sounded unsympathetic.

Trixie wasn't any common dog. Trixie was a dog with blue veins on her forehead—a real lady, who turned out her toes and kept her nose clean! Trixie's pedigree was so long it had a perspective, and her blood was like unto the inside of a blueberry pie.

"What did she die of?" I inquired sympathetically.

One fancied Trix had met death nobly, as, bravely singing, "My Bark Is on the Sea," she had gone down trying to save the life of some foolhardy cat who had ventured too far in the surf; or died the hallowed death of the misguided dog who misjudges another's championship abilities; or had gone mad trying to understand the recall and referendum, or maybe had departed by the altruistic route of the humble weiner!

"C-c-cramps!" cried Ruby, putting a little more mourning on an eyebrow; "just c-c-cramps—these here awful ice-cream cramps!"

Trixie certainly could nearly speak—and she knew she was going to die—I seen it in her eyes."

Well, one doesn't question the illusions of those who love.

"She was so tender and sweet!" And the way she said it, it sounded just like a beefsteak!

And she said Trixie was the most intelligent little thing—that she always knew a nice person from a horrid one, and always bit the horrid ones; she said that's how she, Ruby, knew they were horrid—and she never had another thing to do with 'em!

She said: "Please put it 'In Memory of Trixie.'" But I reminded her this was not a cold marble slab, but the pink sheet. She said she thought it would be so sweet, and that such a lot of people would read it around the hearthstone. I refrained from telling her this was not the open season for hearthstones, but I don't suppose it would have made any difference, anyhow.

And was Trixie buried in an ordinary old corpse-corral for common people? No, siree. Trixie turns up her little toes to the daisies underneath a blue gum tree in sunny Southern Cal.—where flea powders cease from troubling and dog catchers are at rest.

However, we are sure we'll meet Trixie on the other side, where she will wear her tail curled up into a halo, and bury her bones in a golden ash-heap, while she howls melodiously to a golden harp, and the naughty cherubs will tie gold nectarcans to her quivering tail!

HUNS TO MEET SPEEDY POETS.

POMONA FACING TOUGH PROBLEM SATURDAY.

Stanton's Team, in Very Weakened Condition, Must Do Battle With Best Team Ever Turned Out of Whittier — Quakers Have Shown Class in Early Games.

Pomona will have a hard time with the Whittier team tomorrow afternoon on Alumni field, Claremont, if the showing of the Poets in the practice games this season can be taken as any criterion. The Quakers have been going some, and with the Huns in their present weakened condition, due to injuries, it looks as though Stanton's men might suffer defeat.

Whittier is the dark horse of the season, having played none of the important games in the city, where the critics could get a look at the work. Redlands University went down to a 48 to 0 defeat, the caddies of the State school dropped a game, 40 to 0 and Long Beach went under, 24 to 0, while Whittier High School was badly beaten in a practice game. It will be seen by these scores that will keep him on the side lines of speed boys.

The Huns have not yet hit mid-season form and Stanton is finding it hard work to get his men shifted around for best results. Capt. Luis will be played at half, with Brooks for a team mate, while Barnes will start at full, though he has been out of the game for the past few days with a bad tendon. Chauncey Gillette, the fighting center, is another star who will not be seen in the line-up Saturday. He has a broken rib that will keep hi mon the side lines for some time, though it is thought that he will be all right for the Oxy game November 16.

LYCEUM TEAM WINS FROM HOGAN'S BUNCH.

What promises to be an interesting double team match at pocket billiards between the Hogan, Lyceum and Blake Balls, was commenced last night at Hogan's with a game between Handcock and Banks of Hogan's, and O'Brien and Phillips of the Lyceum, which resulted in a win for the latter team by the score of 125 points to 80, after thirty-four innings.

The chances of the four-handed game gave George Banks little opportunity, as his work consisted largely of breaking the frames; and in his few other plays the fickle goddess refused to smile upon him. Shorty O'Brien, on the other hand, wielded his cue as if the balls ran in grooves, making runs of 18, 13, 12, and various smaller totals. Charley Phillips also played with the characteristic confidence which makes him a dangerous competitor at all times. Handcock was substituting for James Hurley, who failed to appear, but he started off with a pretty run of 12.

The match consists of six games, which will be played alternately at the three balls mentioned. The game tonight is to be at the Lyceum, where Phillips and O'Brien are to meet C. Wilson and Fred Weeks, representing the Blake. The team winning the largest number of games will take first place, irrespective of the number of balls required.

BRESNAHAN TO FIGHT FOR HIS RIGHTS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 25.—"Fight? Am I going to fight? Well, I guess yes," Roger Bresnahan, deposed manager of the St. Louis Nationals, said today. "I am ready to fight for my rights and will go into any court they want me to. I never quit on the ball field and I won't quit now."

Rumors were in circulation today that President Robert L. Hedges of the St. Louis Americans was after Bresnahan to manage his club next season and was ready to pay the catcher the $10,000 a year, his contract with the St. Louis Nationals called for, but not the 10 per cent. of the profits. It is believed Bresnahan would be peculiarly valuable to the local Americans because of his ability to steady young pitchers. The American team has a number of promising youngsters.

ST. MARY'S IN FRONT.

SAN JOSE (Cal.) Oct. 25.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] In a desperately-fought game the College of the Pacific was defeated this afternoon at Rugby by the St. Mary's College team of Oakland, 14 to 6. St. Mary's scored twice in the first five minutes of play.

to place. W. H. Pipher is a driver of experience who has practiced faithfully. He is ready to get into this race with a bid for the right kind of honors, but he is up against men who have driven the race before and he has a hard fight before him. This car is one of the machines that will be worth watching.

C. Fred Grundy has a hunch that one of the Americans will place. He has a right to think that way after the trial trips in which both machines showed up remarkably well. The runs to Phoenix made by the American cars have shown that both machines are well within the running in this great race.

S. A. McKee on the 1912 Cadillac is working faithfully and is out every minute with his car. Now here is a man who may surprise everybody. He has been at the bat every minute and he has never failed even though the stunt was the most gruelling ever offered to a man who is unused to the rigors of a great race. He is as fit as a fiddle and fat as a prince. The race is doing him an immense amount of good.

The Simplex press car is practically out of the running. Should this touring car be stripped the Simplex would be first choice provided the car was started with a racing driver. Though the Simplex will be sent away with theother racers it is not fair to expect this machine to place as the handicap will be too great to overcome.

All arrangements have been made for the "Howdy" Special. This afternoon Clarence Smith will have the uniforms for the band at Smith Brothers' salesroom. There are to be five coaches and the largest bunch of rooters ever sent away on the Phoenix Special will leave this city at 12:50 o'clock, thirty minutes after the last car is sent away.

Leon T. Shettler, who is taking full charge of the special train, has made reservations for four coaches. He has other reservations and today will decide whether the train is to be made up with four or five cars.

MOVING PICTURES OF TEAM.

ITHACA (N. Y.) Oct. 25.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] The Cornell football squad which has been the despair of the coaches throughout the early season, will have an opportunity to study some of its weaknesses as they are seen by the spectators. A series of moving pictures of the team in action was taken this week. Analysis of the pictures is expected to bring home in a striking way some of the weak points of the players.

SENATORS GET ONE. ARELLANES AFTER FAME.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 24.—The tail-enders played an errorless game of the early season variety today. Swain's three-bagger with two men on bases in the sixth inning followed by Orr's sacrifice fly enabling Sacramento to overcome San Francisco's one run lead and figuring as the deciding feature of a 5 to 3 victory for the locals.

The visitors out hit the locals, but good base running by the Senators more than offset their lack of hits. Score:

PRINCETON LOOKS FOR WORK WITH DARTHMOUTH.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 24.—[Special Dispatch.] One of the standard games of the football season is that between Princeton and Dartmouth. Since the series was inaugurated, football enthusiasts have come to look forward to the annual contests between these universities with eager anticipation.

Fifty per cent., of the members of the Dartmouth eleven of 1912 are from cities outside of New England. There has been an impression that the Dartmouth student body is mostly made up of New England men, doubtless due to the fact that Dartmouth, until the last three or four years, has been prominently identified with New England college athletics. However, the students are recruited from all the States of the Union, and there is about as great a proportion of western men and eastern men at Hanover as there is at most of the larger educational institutions.

Dartmouth will meet Princeton with a good line of forwards this season, and a clever backfield and the Tigers will find that they will have to play faster and harder football to win, than they have played since the practice season began.

The Princeton coaches are well aware of the fact that the team is up to something a little better than has been played since the football year began, and they have been coaching their charges accordingly.

Special trains will run from New York to Princeton on the day of the game, Saturday, and there will be a larger attendance, it is predicted, than saw the Dartmouth-Princeton contest last season at Princeton. If the teams had been able to arrange the game in New York this year, they would have played to one of the best football crowds which has seen a contest in this city for many seasons.

Active work for Saturday's game is being done by all the teams. Head Coach Graves, of West Point, drove the men through the hardest twenty-minute scrimmage the army team has had this year on the plains this afternoon. It was the first line-up since the Yale game. Several of the regulars were missing. Capt. Devore is still out and will not play against Colgate. Wynne, who played the tackle position against Yale, is also out and his place was filled by Larkin, who will play against the up-Staters Saturday. Gillespie's place at end was taken by Marko, who played brilliantly and Hoge, at the other end, gave way to Merrell after a few minutes scrimmage. Hodgson was in the game last season and did brilliant work in the scrimmage today for the first time.

there were many opportunities to buy pretty bungalows by the payment of from $50 to $100 down and an amount per month which at first seemed large. I could manage the down payment, but if I were to pay the monthly quota it would leave me with little to add to my savings and other provisional accounts. Finally I decided to advertise for someone to take a part of a house. I found pretty soon people who were glad to pay a somewhat smaller rental

Beautiful Opening.

The art department of which I have written heretofore, opened yesterday even more auspiciously than it had been dreamed.

The entire second floor of the jewelry establishment was devoted to beautiful articles, bric-a-brac, rare china, cut glass and clocks. The arrangement of the place is most delightful, the furnishings and fittings being so arranged as to set off the beauty of the objects seen. An entire room is devoted to time pieces, and I guessed that one may see just how they will look in a home. It is a positive treat to drop into this beautiful place for a look around even though one does not contemplate buying. One can never tell, in Los Angeles, just when a friend from the east will ask one's opinion or advice as to the purchase of something and it is well to be informed.

Time for Photography,

One of the leading dry goods stores has adopted the latest fad in the use of photography.

In the window, where a beautiful gown is displayed, there stands beside the hat rest a photograph of a lady wearing that selfsame hat. Not only does it call attention to the hat, but it shows exactly how it will look when worn. One does not always care to have a friend along to see one try on one's headgear, nor could one be certain that any friend's taste would be satisfied with one's own. In using a photograph one may see one's self selected "true to life." I think a fine plan.

Furs Are Free.

One of the large Broadway furniture houses presents to its customers with its compliments excellent Turkish bath wash cloths. These cloths are the same of the house woven in-the texture, but this serves only as a reminder that the house is most desirous with its patrons. Following the advice that the woman who would not use upon her face a cloth which has been allowed to accumulate germs and dust, it is policy to acquire as many wash cloths as possible, and here is an opportunity to replenish.

Fall Neckwear.

A foregimpse of the new importations in neckwear at one of the big stores is most interesting.

Bohemian lace abounds, as does also the new combination of Princess new, many being formed like the top of a tailored coat and also including revers. As finely spun as the web of the industrious spider, are some of these charming hand-made affairs.

Gobelin.

A genuine Gobelin tapestry thought to be at least 400 years old is among the treasures of one of the antiquarian shops on Broadway above Seventh.

A study of this handsome piece, which is owned in Los Angeles, gives an understanding of the reasons for the enduring popularity of these wonderful creations. It also leads one to see why "Gobelin blue" as a color has never lost its hold upon the affections. Every one who is interested in beautiful articles should see this piece.

Fall Hat Trimming.

One of the millinary departments, which is always abreast of the times, has just brought in the very latest kinds of flowers for use in trimming fall hats. These flowers are the creation of a woman in New York and are extremely chic. They are made in a novel and inexplicable way of tarnished leaves and petals all in one shade, as though a blur had fallen over them. Used on a smart tailored shape of either velvet or fur, a single spray of these flowers is all the trimming that is necessary.

Is not delightfully wholesome?

A Sign of Paris Ivory.

In Wild Animal Skins.

If I were asked to give it a name, I would call it "the Jungle Coat." It is made from at least four leopard skins, and truly it is luxurious. A bit theatrical, perhaps, but what stunning garment is not theatrical, nowadays, since the stage leads all else in fashion? This marvelous coat, glistening with the pristine sleekness of the jungle, is shown in the window of a high-class Broadway dry goods house.

Books for Less.

The person who makes it a practice to give books for Christmas, should not overlook the opportunity found in that sale of entire sets, in the book department of a Broadway store. Prices are astonishingly small and both print and bindings good enough for any gift.

Fashion's Sists.

Scarfs of ostrich feather are the correct thing, and they are very much worn in Paris. They are either very short or of medium length, the long ones are usually for evening.

Charming tea gowns are made of damask silks and trimmed with gold and silver laces. Silk crepe de chine and charmeuse are also very good for tea gowns over negligees.

Chiffon and velvet ribbons are in great demand for trimmings. They come in most exquisite shades and are used with brocade often to accentuate one of the colors of the design.

Very fashionable are the white felt hats, faced with dull-finished old gold faille. This facing should be the only suggestion of color about the hat, all of its top trimming should be white.

Some tailored suits show skirts mostly draped and either short or three-quarter cutaway coats. The pleats take the form of pleated panels or of a pleated skirt beneath a draped polonaise.

PERSONALS.

F. T. A. Fricke, special representative of the Australian government, who has come to this country to spread information relating to the antipodes and awaken greater interest in Australia, as well as to foster trade relations, will arrive at the Lankershim tomorrow. MEN'S CLUB INITIATION.

Pastor of Temple Baptist Church Executes an Amusing Series of Stunts at a Jolly Meeting.

Dr. J. Whitcomb Brougher, strongly original, arranged and executed a novelty in the initiation of the new officers of the Men's Club of Temple Baptist Church, of which he is pastor. The members of the club and a number of others, were first served with a fine supper, after which the officers-elect were called in, one at a time, to hear the charge of the pastor. At the close of his more or less humorous talk the candidate was asked to stoop forward and touch the floor with the tips of his fingers, and as he complied was batted on the posterior portion of his anatomy with a pasteboard paddle, in the hands of an attendant.

Preceding this ceremony he was given a physical examination by Dr. Skinnemandkillem, who performed his part of the frolic to the delight of the audience and embarrassment of the candidate. After all of the eleven candidates had taken their medicine they were subjected to a test of strength "to strengthen the weak backs of the officers for the burdens they were to bear," by attempting to lift a 300-pound weight, to which an electric wire was attached. Other features were the funeral march, a boxing match, a procession led by a candidate in a baby-carriage, and other amusing stunts. When the fun was at an end the officers were solemnly obligated for their several duties.

Sweetest of All.

CROP OF SUGAR LARGEST EVER.

EXPERT SAYS THE PRICE IS COMING DOWN.

Estimates World's Production This Year at Fifteen Per Cent. More Than Any Previous Yield—Figures in Many Millions of Tons—Demand Is Growing.

Sugar will be cheaper than it has been in twenty years in this country if the predictions of some of the experts become actualities. The world can boast of the greatest sugar harvest in all its aeons of existence and there will be sweets for even some who are not sweet and don't deserve them according to the old saying.

W. J. L. Kieruff, official of the Western Sugar Refining Company who is passing a few days at the Alexandria while here on business, estimated yesterday that the production of sugar will exceed by 15 per cent. that of any previous year. "From Europe we have reports of an immense crop with estimates of 9,000,000 tons of the raw product, a good portion of which is now ready for the consumer," said Kieruff.

"Last year the European production totaled only 6,000,000 tons. Cuba will have at least 2,000,000 tons against 1,750,000 tons the year previous. The Philippines, Hawaiian Islands and the East Indies all promise record breaking production. In the United States, the production will reach 555,000 long tons—that is sugar tons which run 240 pounds over the ordinary ton. Last year this country produced 350,000 long tons.

"With all of these figures in mind, it can readily be seen why the price is coming down. There is no doubt of cheap sweets and the ratio of eighty-one pounds of sugar consumed by every individual in the United States according to reliable statistics, will undoubtedly expand to a still larger amount.

"The demand for sugar is growing, but is not as steady as it might be. Big dealers are buying just what they need and there has never been a time when less speculation in the commodity has been the rule. The sugar business is on a healthy basis. Until after the elections and the decisions as to what changes will be made in the sugar tariff, buying will continue along this line."

The small amount of sugar produced in the United States itself at the present time is, according to Kieruff, a revelation to most people. "We are getting the bulk of the raw sugar from Cuba, the Philippines, Hawaii and even a large amount from Europe, showing that there is little danger at this time of overproduction in this country and that the industry should be fostered and promoted, not by reducing the tariff, but if anything, increasing it."

Aftermath.

TROUBLE KEEPS A-BOBBING UP.

HUSBAND OF WEALTHY SENORA OUT AGAIN; IN AGAIN.

Dishes of Famous "Reconciliation Dinner" Hardly Cold Before Young Man Is Made to Figure in Court Case Involving Marriage License but No Ceremony.

Although Lawrence Castino, recently arrested by his wealthy Spanish bride, Senora Dolores Marquez Castino, on a charge of embezzlement, several nights ago celebrated the fortunate outcome of that charge by a "reconciliation dinner" with the wife, various phases of its aftermath are still bobbing up to trouble him.

Senor Castino's name was mentioned yesterday in Juvenile Court in a decidedly uncomplimentary manner in connection with the troubles of Otto and Gretchen Lederer, who are fighting for the custody of their child. Mrs. Lederer is the pretty German "star" of a moving-picture company.

Lederer, who is also a moving-picture actor, testified on the witness stand yesterday that he tracked Castino and Mrs. Lederer to a downtown cafe on the afternoon of October 13 where, accompanied by detectives, he says he found them together.

The Lederers began to live together in 1907 in Virginia. It appears that they secured a marriage license, but failed to have a ceremony performed. "I didn't know at the time it was necessary," said the husband yesterday. "When I got the license they made me swear to a lot of things and I thought that was enough."

It was not until two or three years later that the couple discovered the deficiency. He says the woman refused to have a ceremony performed and they continued to live together. When the wife became a "star" in the moving-picture concern, of which Castino is manager, marital troubles began, and recently the husband filed a petition in the Juvenile Court for the custody of the 5-year-old boy.

According to E. F. Gerecht, who appeared for Juvenile Prosecutor McCartney at the hearing yesterday, Mrs. Lederer admits that she was in the hotel with Castino, saying she went there to rest. She refused to have a marriage ceremony performed, telling the judge that she did not love her husband and did not want to live with him.

In the hope that the couple might become reconciled, Judge Wilbur continued the case until November 1, putting the child temporarily in the care of Lederer's sister, Mrs. Hankin, of Pasadena. Judge Wilbur made it plain to the wife, however, that unless she marries her husband, she cannot have the child. Lederer stated in court that he is still in love with his wife and wants to marry her. Both live at Santa Monica.

PRAISES PROPOSED CHARTER.

Professor of Jurisprudence at State University Says Framers Are to Be Congratulated.

High praise for the county charter, proposed for adoption at the coming election, is contained in a letter received yesterday by Lewis R. Works, chairman of the Charter Commission, from William Carey Jones, professor of jurisprudence at the University of California and chairman of the commission that drafted the charter adopted by the city of Berkeley. Jones says:

"It (the charter) is an excellent piece of work, much better than I had thought could be done under the constitutional provision. I congratulate you."

The meeting Saturday noon at the Hall of Records, when Works will talk on the charter, will be informal, and questions will be welcomed. Works and Frank R. Seaver of Pomona, a member of the Board of Freeholders, will speak on the charter Tuesday noon at the Angelus, where the Municipal League will entertain representatives of the civic bodies of the county.

Helpful Hints on Hair Health

Scalp and Hair Troubles Generally Caused by Carelessness.

Dandruff is a contagious disease caused by a microbe, which also produces baldness. Never use a comb or brush belonging to someone else. No matter how cleanly the owner may be, these articles may be infected with microbes, which will infect your scalp. It is easier to catch hair microbes than it is to get rid of them, and a single stroke of an infected comb or brush may well lead to baldness. Never try on anybody else's hat. Many a hatband is a resting place for microbes.

If you happen to be troubled with dandruff, itching scalp, falling hair or baldness, we have a remedy which we believe will completely relieve these troubles. We are so sure of this that we offer it to you with the understanding that it will cost you nothing for the trial if it does not produce the results we claim. This remedy is called Rexall "93" Hair Tonic. We honestly believe it to be the most scientific remedy for scalp and hair troubles, and we know of nothing else that equals it for effectiveness, because of the results it has produced in thousands of cases.

Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is devised to banish dandruff, restore natural color when its loss has been brought about by disease, and make the hair naturally silky, soft and glossy. It does this because it stimulates the hair follicles, destroys the germ matter, and brings about a free, healthy circulation of blood, which nourishes the hair roots, causing them to tighten and grow new hair. We want everybody who has any trouble with hair or scalp to know that Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is the best hair tonic and restorative in existence, and no one should scoff at or doubt this statement until they have put our claims to a fair test, with the understanding that they pay us nothing for the remedy if it does not give full and complete satisfaction in every particular. Two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in Los Angeles only at our stores. AUSTRALIAN RAILROAD.

Without any flourish of trumpets the Australians are engaged in the construction of a railroad 1063 miles in length from Port Augusta to Kalgoorlie. The road will open up a large, valuable and sparsely-occupied pastoral and mineral country.

SHORT SIGNS.

The St. Louis Council has passed an ordinance inflicting a tax on signs of so much per square foot. When Cuba was under Spanish rule there was a tax on signs of so much per letter. An economical Connecticut Yankee named Aminadab Cadwallader, who had started a tea store in Havana, took in his elaborate sign and substituted one reading "A. Cad. T."

IN TEN DAYS.

In ten days the business of distorting opinions, misrepresenting opponents, stealing names, swiping party organizations, and all-around lying in the sanctums of our steamed contemporaries will cease. We shall then, after a threnody has been sung over the inodorous carcass of local and larcenous progressivism, be able to read charming and instructive articles about fighting in Montenegro and railroad building in Bolivia. Hail, happy day!

ADVANCE OF LO.

The "untutored mind" of "Lo, the poor Indian" has been tutored up in Montana to an Anglo-Saxon altitude. On the Fort Peck reservation an Indian county fair is being held. There is said to be an exhibition of grains, grasses and fruits that compete with the prize products of white farmers.

A football game is announced between the Poigan tribe from the Blackfoot reservation and the Mandan tribe of the Fort Peck reservation. The Sioux have not yet discarded their ponies for autos, or incorporated wampum-making factories with Federal stock based upon a value consisting of 5 per cent. of glass beads and 95 per cent. of knowing how to make the beads, protected by scalping knives. But these improvements are on the way.

OUR CANADIAN NEIGHBORS.

When the Duke of Connaught made his recent tour of Canada, visiting all the large towns en route, he was the innocent cause of many a heartache. At each city a reception was held for which the presiding Mayor issued the invitation. Sometimes the Mayor used his discretion, sometimes his partiality, sometimes his spite, but in any case there was weeping and wailing somewhere. The city of Victoria, B. C., having heard of these regrettable incidents, vowed that no such crudity should spoil her affair and a general invitation was issued to all who could present themselves "in full evening dress."

Three hundred Canadians of Seattle decided to slip across the border and pay their respects to His Grace, but they hadn't heard about the evening-dress standard. Woe and tribulation! Then His Grace hears of the matter in time and accords the American Canadians a separate audience—these Americans, you know, are so eccentric!

And they do say that Victoria had the most meager of official receptions, after all, for the few dress suits in the town seemed coy of exhibiting their beauty to the world. The ladies did their best, however—as also did the cow. The cow was discovered patiently awaiting her special audience, alone and undisturbed, at Esquimalt Harbor. Could a cow walt alone and undisturbed even in its present stage of completion at Los Angeles Harbor, we wonder? No wonder His Grace has returned to Ottawa full of plans for developing the vast, unpeopled West, and no wonder those Seattle Canadians said they had just hopped over to give the Duke a hand, but they guessed they were anchored in Seattle for the present.

Fred Snodgrass, a California boy who made history by muffing that fly ball in center field for the New York Giants, is "in our midst." He is occupying the niche in the Hall of Fame just vacated by Fred Merkle, who failed to touch second base in 1908.

TAG DAYS.

Theoretically, anything done in the sacred name of charity should be done spontaneously, with no other incentive than the love of humanity; also, if we obey strictly the mandate of our Master, with as little publicity as possible—for did he not tell us not to let the right hand know what the left hand doeth?

This no doubt is difficult in the present age of fierce lights beating upon all human actions. If charity that can only be done in secret becomes ineffective to stem the tide of suffering, apparently charity must be done openly and in public or cease to meet the emergency. We believe that charity—even when it unnecessarily advertises the giver, is preferable to charity that never reaches its object.

It is true that the noblest manifestations of this greatest of Christian virtues is when it really never manifests itself at all—when some humble and deserving case is generously relieved without knowing from what hand the relief came. Many instances of these unrecorded deeds of love and mercy occur daily everywhere throughout Christian America. The goodness of the poor to the poor is infinite. Nevertheless it is only through public charities on a large scale, openly advertised and made attractive, that the bulk of the funds must be obtained for relieving the inevitable ills to which all flesh is heir.

The wisdom or folly, the right or wrong, of establishing a "tag day," where the beauty and graces of attractive girlhood are employed to win alms for worthy causes, has been fiercely debated among the matrons of Chicago. And apparently they have decided that such is not a proper occupation for their fair daughters. One indignant mother declares, "If it robs young girls of their innocence, then we had better get along without charity."

We have held many and very successful tag days in Los Angeles; we venture to assert that no westerner ever insulted a fair Californian girl under such circumstances, nor would it have been safe or healthy for any man to have attempted anything of the sort in the streets of Los Angeles during one of our official tag days.

The Mayor of Chicago has set the ban of his official disapproval on tag days in the Windy City, in answer to the complaints of some of the leading society matrons. We trust for the credit of the men in the central metropolis that the reports were exaggerated—the better element should be so large a majority as to hold in check those who might be inclined to make a small contribution an excuse for undesirable advances.

At any rate, out West, our girls can generally take care of themselves, or, if they cannot, they have plenty of men champions. There may be—there probably are—some undesirable features about tag days, but the Chicago idea that it teaches girls to beg money from their male friends seems rather far-fetched. Many a woman would ask a thousand dollars for charity who would scorn to accept one penny for herself. At any rate, we in Los Angeles are quite willing to leave the verdict to the kind hearts and clear intellects of the more sympathetic sex.

TAFT AND THE PEOPLE'S WELFARE.

The interest of President Taft in the problems affecting the welfare and personal prosperity of the masses of people in this country is especially illustrated by the activities of his administration. The frequent complaints about the advance in the cost of living, which had been a marked characteristic of a considerable period prior to Mr. Taft's entrance upon the Presidency, were the subject of immediate and careful attention on his part. Studies were made of conditions at home, with the purpose of determining whether the advance was due to arbitrary control by great corporations. Examinations were carried on into the advance in values of the lands upon which some of the articles in question were produced; the cost of production growing out of advances in wages; and especial attention was given to study of similar conditions in foreign countries to find out whether the increases in the United States were due to local conditions and thus possible of remedy through new legislation or more strict enforcement of existing law. The results of these inquiries show that advances similar to those complained of have occurred in all countries and are, therefore, not chargeable to American local conditions; in other cases the advances at home are due to increased land values, increased wages, and the transfer of labor from the farm to the manufacturing centers. The studies of conditions abroad demonstrated that increased prices are practically identical under free trade in Great Britain and under protection in the United States and other "protection" countries.

Another phase of the President's active interest in the welfare of the people at large is seen in his recommendation to Congress for the enactment of the employers' liability and workmen's compensation law, which was passed just before the last session of Congress adjourned.

Other features of President Taft's care for the people have been the establishment of the Bureau of Mines, in the framing and passage of which he took a very personal and earnest interest; the abolition of the peonage (slavery) system in several Southern States, accomplished through the Department of Justice; preventing the entry of objectionable immigrants, obtaining employment for large numbers of immigrants, investigations into the labor conditions of the iron and steel industry, steps to stop the seven-days-a-week working in that industry and for a shorter work day, the installation of safety devices and means of accident prevention in the industries and on the railways, inquiry into the poisoning of operatives in match factories and the study of industrial poisons in general, the studies of workmen's compensation in all the leading industrial countries of the world, the study of the various systems of conciliation and arbitration in use in this country and in Europe, mediation in industrial pursuits under the Erdman act, the study of child labor in the industries of the country, investigation into the hours of labor of women in certain occupations, and the enactment of a law requiring every ocean-going passenger vessel to be equipped with a wireless telegraph outfit in charge of a competent operator.

The work of President Taft's administration in behalf of the people, through the Postoffice Department and legislation with reference thereto, has been of the utmost importance. The postal savings bank system has been established; a parcels-post system has been recommended; fraudulent concerns fleecing the people through unlawful use of the mails have been suppressed; and the large deficit of the Postoffice Department has been turned into a surplus.

And all this is only part of President Taft's work for the general welfare of the people.

WOULDN'T YOU?

Can you censure naturalized Greeks, and Bulgars, and Servians for returning by thousands to the land of their birth to give their strong arms, and their brave hearts, and the American money that they have accumulated by honest industry to aid their countrymen at home in their war with the unspeakable Turk?

Suppose that the calamity of a Roosevelt triumph should overtake this nation, and closed factories, fireless furnaces, silent forges and abandoned industries of every kind should result. Suppose that freed and reconstructed Greece, or Bulgaria, or Servia should offer such inducements to you that you were compelled, in justice to your family, to emigrate to Athens or one of the Balkan cities. Suppose that, after you had enjoyed some years of prosperity there, news should come to you that the oppressed and boss-ridden people of Los Angeles had risen in armed revolt against the robberies and oppressions of Lissner, and Tooplous, and Chet? Would you not hasten home to fight for the freedom and solvency and fair fame of Los Angeles? Sure—

"Breathes there the man with soul so dead
Who never to himself hath said,
This is my own, my native land!
Whose heart within him ne'er hath burn'd
As home his footsteps he hath turn'd
From wandering on a foreign strand?
If such there breathe, go, mark him well!
For him no minstrel raptures swell.
High though his titles, proud his name,
Boundless his wealth as wish can claim—
Despite those titles, power, and self,
The wretch, concentered all in pelf,
Living shall forfeit fair renown,
And doubly dying, shall go down
To that vile dust from whence he sprung
Unwept, unhonor'd and unsung."

THE BALKAN STRUGGLE.

Turkey has gained a great advantage by the surrender of turbulent Tripoli to Italy. Henceforth it will be for the latter power to deal with the Arabs and Berbers. These nomads are guerrilla fighters and bushwhackers and will give trouble to Italian troops when the latter are found outside of the garrisons.

The members of the Young Turks party are discontented with the relinquishment of Tripoli. It neutralizes their efforts to reconcile the Servians and Bulgarians and Montenegrins and other races in European Turkey with the government of the Sultan.

Italy is now securely seated on the North African side of the Mediterranean. At Tobruk she has a naval station that rivals Bizerta. Her fleet in the Byzantine will once more make Venice a great commercial city and cause Italy to rank with France as a Mediterranean power.

Turkey will undoubtedly put forth every effort to defeat the purpose of the Balkan powers and Greece to drive her out of Europe. The world will await with solicitude the attitude of Russia and Austria. The Bulgarians and Servians are Slav in race and Greek Catholic in religion. Austrians are of a different faith. The ambitions of the Russian Czar and Emperor Franz Josef clash. Austria will not consent to let go of Bosnia and Herzegovina. The people of these dependencies are closer of kin to Montenegro, and Servia, and Bulgaria than they are to Austria, and if a great Balkan confederacy should be the outcome of the present war they will probably be ardently desirous of joining it.

It is not impossible that before the contest is ended Constantinople itself may be once more a Christian city, as it was before Prince Mahmoud besieged it and wrested it from Constantine, and even Palestine and Jerusalem may displace the crescent flag of Mahomet that has for centuries waved above the very sepulcher of the Savior of mankind.

GOO-GOO FAIRNESS.

The Weekly Municipal News, a worthless journal, which has been published for the last six months at an expense of many thousands of dollars to the taxpayers of Los Angeles (all wasted) has no reason for its existence other than that of giving well-paid jobs to a few favorites of the Goo-Goo government.

It began life with the announcement that its 5th page would be devoted to the use of political parties, one column to each, to be filled by the County Committee of each party. It heads this page "A Fair Field and no Favor." In its last issue it gives a column to the Socialist party, a column to the Socialist-Labor party, a column to the Democrats, a column to the goo-goos and a column to the Roosevelttians under the stolen designation of "Republican." President Taft has no representation, while Roosevelt has practically two columns, Debs two and Wilson one.

The exclusion of the Republicans from representation in this valuable (wrapping) paper is really of no consequence, and The Times mentions it only to show what kind of a square deal the four-flushers give when they can stack the cards. The Times apologizes to its readers for the use of gambling terms. But in speaking of the Bull Moosers it is in a measure compelled to use the great Bull Mooser's dialect.

The Noise and the Music.

The everlasting song of the eternal siren.

UNCLE WALT.

This life we lead is far from nice, and going broke's our only goal. So long we've blown ourselves for ice! And now we blow ourselves for coal. We dig, we delve, we weave, we spin, to have a package when we're old; and now we have to blow it in for drugs to cure a doggone cold. The northern wind comes down and moans and plays its same old spiteful games, and we must blow our hoarded bones for rags to wrap around our frames. The Christmas spirit is abroad, the day will soon come down the tracks, and we must blow our little wad for evergreens and jumping jacks.
We blow ourselves for this and that, and t'other, till we have the blues; some kroners for the housewife's hat, some guilders for the children's shoes. We dig, we delve, we card, we spin, to put the hungry wolf to rout; alas! there's little coming in, and money always going out! A shilling for a can of whey, a shekel for some rough on rats, a doubloon for a bale of hay to feed our starving Thomas cats! And thus the winters always bring an ending to our saving scheme; and if we smile and dance and sing, we only do it when we dream.

HECKLING A SUFFRAGIST GOVERNOR.

[Letter to New York World:] I went to Saturday's meeting expecting Gov. Johnson to announce himself in favor of votes for women. I waited over half an hour, nearly the close of his address, when I saw he did not intend to touch that subject. Then I asked the question. Instead of a direct answer I was put off with a promise to speak of it later on. The Governor then allowed four of his committeemen to pull me from my place, pick me up bodily in their arms and throw me out of the hall, with my glasses broken, my clothes torn and my body bruised in many places.

Now I would like to ask the Governor what necessity was there for such violence on the part of the Progressive party men? I was known to be a supporter of the party. The party has a woman-suffrage plank in its platform and the Governor claims to be a suffragist. If the party is really in favor of woman suffrage, the Governor could have said so in a moment. Even after I was thrown out the Governor never said one word for votes for women, though he had promised to do so earlier in the evening. Is it true, as men say, that the Progressive party is for suffrage in the suffrage States and against in the non-suffrage States?

PROGRESSIVES AND PROTECTION.

BY FRANK H. SHORT.

This campaign began apparently as an insurrection against the tariff, and it is apparently to end in an equally powerful crusade in its favor. The most astonishing of all the astonishing things that have occurred in this campaign is the appearance of the Progressives as advocates of the protective tariff.

When we remember that insurgency had its origin when certain members of the Republican party insurged against the tariff, we will get a clearer idea of the real situation. The Republican party had been for half a century practically united upon the question of the protective tariff. Whatever differences may have existed on other lines we always rallied and won upon the issue of protection. But some six or eight years ago a crusade was begun by the newspapers and magazines to discredit the tariff and to cause the American people to believe that the protective tariff was the source of evil and the mother of the trusts.

Shortly after this crusade began, for the first time, a distinctive division appeared in the Republican party. Within a short time divisions appeared both in the House and in the Senate, particularly in the former, and there developed a distinct spirit of insurgency in the Republican party against the tariff, and those Republicans who opposed the party's position in connection with protection were referred to always as "Insurgents."

Congressman S. C. Smith is credited at about this time with having said, "There are many definitions for insurgency, but there is one definition that never fails. An insurgent is a Republican who always votes with the Democrats on the tariff."

While this was before Col. Roosevelt had absorbed the party and rechristened it the "Progressive party," it is nevertheless true that, as a continuous, consistent policy ever since this party came into existence, whether it be called the Insurgent party or the Progressive party, it has upon every occasion—we invite inspection of the record—voted with the Democrats (and sometimes, when even the Democrats were divided) for every free-trade measure and every bill for the reduction of the protective tariff.

Of course the Insurgents are historically, so far as they have any history, insurging against the protective tariff. Almost their sole reason for separating from the Republican party was their opposition to the protective tariff, and while possibly a few Pacific Coast Progressives, if elected to Congress, would vote for a continuance of protection on our own industries, we know from the record that the most consistent, persistent and insistent advocates of a removal of the tariff on our protected industries are the Insurgent Congressmen from the Middle West. And the Insurgent-Progressive party in truth is no more a friend to the protective tariff than is the Democratic party. In fact, we believe that, like all apostates from one doctrine and converts to another, the most dangerous enemies to protection in this country—certainly its most violent assailants in recent years—have been these same Insurgent-Progressives.

I respect the Democrat who disagrees with me; but for the Insurgent-Progressive, who comes sniveling around at this late day, and asks for my vote in favor of these insurging free-traders in the interest of protection, I feel constrained to the idea that it is better not to express my opinion at all, because there is no crime worse than insincerity, and when the Insurgents claim to be the friends of protection, insincerity has reached its insurging limits.

I believe that the industries of this State are in considerable peril, and while, of course, we can survive whatever may happen to us, as a loyal Republican I have striven with all my might to hold the party of protection together, and to rally the Republicans in this State on the one candidate for President who belongs to the party of protection and who can be trusted on that issue. But upon the issue of protection alone, upon the record and history of the two parties, I should be quite as willing to trust the protective industries of this State to the Democrats as to the Insurgent-Progressives. When we have successfully tried the experiment of employing hungry wolves to herd pet rabbits we may be persuaded to trust the protective tariff to the Insurgents, who were born to destroy it; but until then you will please excuse me and about two hundred thousand other Californla Republicans.

THE PURPOSE OF THE PROGRESSIVES APPEARS ONLY TO BE TO DEFEAT TAFT, AND TO DESTROY THE REPUBLICAN PARTY.

Two years ago the Democrats, largely upon the tariff issue, elected a majority of about sixty of the Representatives in Congress, and while we have believed that it was only temporary, it is obvious that the protective argument was not to be so persuasive in this campaign as it had been in previous campaigns; in fact, it looked, in any event, like a Democratic year and a possible return to comparative free trade, even if the Republican party had held together. Apparently the Insurgent-Progressives are not making any bid whatever for the votes of Democrats. Certainly they are not trying to win over free-traders just now. While born and brought into existence to fight the tariff, they are just now engaged principally in warning us of the evils and dangers of free trade, and of the beauties and benefits of protection. It is apparent that the Democrats are standing comparatively solid, and that the Progressives are drawing more than four votes out of five from the Republicans, and if they are sufficiently successful in this—in other words, if Roosevelt and Johnson run well at all—they will take away a sufficient percentage of the Republican votes to bring about the success of the Democrats. That they, by this process and without appealing to Democrats, could hope to get enough votes to elect the colonel and the Governor, is simply preposterous. Therefore, we have the spectacle of a man twice made President of the United States by the Republican party, and a man elected Governor of this State by the Republican party, apparently more devoted to the defeat and discredit of that party than they are to the defeat of the Democratic party. We therefore have a right to say that whatever its future hopes, purposes or ambitions may be, the Progressive party in this campaign has settled down to a vindictive, determined effort to defeat and, if possible, destroy the Republican party, with no present hope or intent of defeating the Democratic party in this campaign.

MOROSCO SECURES LEASE OF THE LYCEUM.

Will Be the Home of Melo-drama, With Dick Ferris as Manager—McKee Rankin in "The Fool of St. John" at Mason. Stage News and Items.

Oliver Morosco yesterday secured a lease of the Lyceum Theater—formerly the Orpheum—on Spring street, which recently has been given over to the presentation of musical comedy under E. A. Fischer's management.

Melodrama—melodrama of the same old better sort—will be the style of entertainment that will be furnished by Mr. Morosco at the Lyceum. The first performance will be given Sunday afternoon, November 24. The first play to be presented will be Bartley Campbell's "The White Slave," a splendid example of melodrama. During the past theatrical season Mr. Campbell's play has been presented throughout the important cities of the East by his two sons with financial results that have caused many supposedly "wise" theatrical managers to open their eyes and realize that melodrama of the better and cleaner kind is still a mighty popular form of entertainment.

Prices will be fixed at the popular 25-50-cent scale, with a few seats at 50 cents. There will be matinees Tuesday, Thursday, Saturday and Sunday, at which all seats will be 25 cents, except for the gallery, which will be 10 cents.

Nobody ever has accused Mr. Morosco of not knowing pretty well what the theater-going public wants, and in this newest move to capture one of the theaters of the city the manager personally evidences an open-minded attitude that has no shade of timidity of failure or even quasi hope himself.

Mr. Morosco says: "In taking over the Lyceum Theater for the purpose of putting on the better sort of melodrama I am bringing to a conclusion a plan I have had for some time. When I decided a year ago that the traveling companies that were sent to the coast and charged a dollar admission were not to the standard demanded by the patrons of Los Angeles, I made up my mind that at the very earliest opportunity I would get a theater and present the same type of plays that these organizations offered, giving the advantage of better casts, better productions, and in every way a better show—and at a reduction of prices that the traveling companies could not hope to compete with. I was directly instrumental in eliminating these dollar attractions from the Los Angeles amusement field, and I believe that my patrons see what I will give them at one-third the prices charged by the dollar traveling organizations they will readily perceive the wisdom of my course.

I have secured Dick Ferris as manager of the Lyceum; and as Mr. Ferris knows about as much of melodrama as any other person in this town and has a thorough knowledge of local conditions, I believe I can begin my direction of the Lyceum ideally. I am strongly convinced that the theatergoers of Los Angeles will rally to the support of the play as I propose to give at the Lyceum. telling here. Suffice to say that its tense moments, and there are not a few of them, and its light, almost subtle comedy, all set forth, by a masterly pen, make it one of the best melodramas of recent years. Yes, it really is melodrama, despite the fact that no one is slain in the first act.

It is Miss Drew who carries off first honors, but this is only natural, as it is really a woman's play, the vehicle in fact in which Nance O'Neil scored one of her greatest hits. Carrie Clark Ward is the old gypsy, and the scene between mother and daughter is admirable, a blending of heartaches and side splits that is indescribable.

Commencing with next Monday evening's performance at the Century, Loewen Brothers will present the well-known local German comedian, Mr. Jules Mendel, with his company of merry-makers, in the latest eastern musical comedy successes. Supporting Mr. Mendel will be such well-known favorites as Monte Carter, Al Franks, Walter Spencer, Vera Ransdale, Gertrude Brennan, Rose Mendel, "Bobbie" Deane and the finest singing and dancing that could be selected.

Another author is in our midst, and strange to say, he has no manuscripts to offer to any local managers—in fact, he is far more fortunate in having his work already accepted.

This new writer is Willie Dunlap, the male star and Cohanesque comedian of the musical comedy, "A Night on a Roof Garden," the present delightful feature act at the Empress Theater.

The United States Marine Band have but two more appearances at Shrine Auditorium under the direction of the local Shriners. This afternoon at 3:45 the special programme, unique and interesting, will be given for the teachers and pupils of the public schools and the students of the various high schools, universities and colleges in Los Angeles and the adjacent cities. The programmes as arranged by Lieut. Santleman, the conductor, are gems of classical, patriotic compositions. The soloists are exceptionally good.

Patrons of the cabaret show at Brink's cafe are eagerly looking forward to the try-out for amateurs, which is to be held tonight, being the second time an amateur night was ever pulled off in a cabaret show. Last Friday night's performance was an experiment, but it has become a recognized institution now, and will be kept up.

"Whenever the name of David Belasco precedes an attraction it is a beacon of assurance that the presentation is as perfect as brains, energy and capital can consummate, and whatever he does, he does thoroughly and accurately. This has been evidenced with lifelike fidelity upon every occasion a Belasco production comes to Los Angeles, and another exposition of his wonderful technique is assured at the Mason Operahouse, week beginning Monday, November 4, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday, when he will present William C. de Mille's powerful play of today, "The Woman."

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Eddy will be heard in a farewell programme at the Auditorium tomorrow afternoon, Saturday, at 3 o'clock. The programme is entirely different from the one of Thursday evening, at the organ recital, and Mrs. Eddy's numbers will add much to the enjoyment of the afternoon.

Paul Armstrong returned to Los Angeles yesterday morning and resumed direction of the rehearsals at the Burbank of his new drama, "The Escape," which is to have its first production next Sunday afternoon.

This morning the dress and scenic rehearsals will begin, and Author Armstrong will hold the watch on the different acts, so that those who witness the first performance may have no fear of not getting out of the theater until 6 o'clock, which is sometimes the case at first performances.

NEWS REPORTS FROM CORRESPONDENTS OF THE TIMES.

Pasadena.

SEEKS TO END CUT-RATE WAR.

City Attorney Explains Aim of Electric Suit.

Competitive Strife Furnished Sinews from Outside.

Flower Show Blooms With Society's Elite.

PASADENA, Oct. 25.—Following notification of the preliminary decision of the State Railroad Commission sustaining the demurrer of the Southern California Edison Company to the complaint filed by the city of Pasadena over two months ago, asking for an investigation of rates, which is partly favorable to the electric company and partly favorable to the city, City Attorney Carr yesterday issued the following statement.

"In effect, the commission has determined that any action it may take will be confined to the fixing of the rates of the Southern California Edison Company in unincorporated territory. The city's complaint will be amended to conform with the order of the commission so as to present squarely to the commission the question of the reasonableness of these rates.

"This action before the commission is simply one step in a comprehensive plan carefully mapped out by the city to put an end to the practice of this company in using moneys derived from the high rates it is permitted to charge in other cities and in outside territory to carry on a cut-rate competition with the municipal plant. In addition to filing the amended complaint, I think I am justified in saying that the city will very shortly take further action in the matter."

CHRYSANTHEMUMS.

The Pasadena Horticultural Society's flower show, which opened yesterday afternoon under most auspicious conditions, to continue to and including tomorrow night, is practically one glorious accumulation of chrysanthemums. Never before have so many of these blossoms been got together in the city and of all on exhibition there is not one that would not excite wonder and admiration even if it were to be seen by itself. The organization has surprised itself with the collection.

The flowers were all in place early yesterday morning and the judges accomplished their work and awarded the prizes before the doors were opened to the public in the afternoon.

The pupils of the Madison school captured the cup offered for the most attractive floral basket. This exhibit is a huge bouquet of chrysanthemums in an artistic basket, with an enormous handle. Probably the second most attractive basket was that presented by the Grant school. A list of the winners of first prizes follows:

Roses, field-grown, twelve blooms, M. L. Williams; carnations, field-grown, twelve blooms, Mrs. Edward Francis Holmes; chrysanthemums, thirty-six blooms, in six varieties, Mrs. H. C. French; chrysanthemums, twenty-four blooms, in four varieties, Mrs. H. C. French; chrysanthemums, twelve blooms, yellow, Mrs. Eva S. Fenyes; chrysanthemums, twelve blooms, pink, Mrs. Eva S. Fenyes; chrysanthemums, twelve blooms, bronze, C. H. Garvey; chrysanthemums, twelve blooms, any other one color, C. H. Garvey; chrysanthemums, six blooms, white, Mrs. H. C. Ewing; chrysanthemums, any other one color, Edith L. Ewing, and dahlias, six-bloom cactus, S. Roe.

MEETING IS PLANNED.

Arrangements have been made for a large meeting to be held at Woodman Hall next Monday night at which the proposed constitutional amendments to be voted on November 5 will be discussed. The word has gone forth that it is to be strictly a nonpartisan meeting and that no candidates for office are to receive any praise from the speakers. Each speaker will be given ten minutes' time and a large number will appear upon the programme. Some who are to speak are C. J. Willett, John D. Reavis, A. E. Edwards, S. W. Odell, Rev. Matt S. Hughes, City Attorney Carr and George F. Kernaghan. The meeting will be for both men and women, and a large attendance is expected.

CITY BRIEFS.

The Shakespeare Club has given its indorsement to a petition circulated by the Badger Club of Los Angeles asking the Los Angeles county Board of Supervisors for an ordinance prohibiting the wearing of hatpins that project more than three inches from the side of the hat.

The Board of Education yesterday declared that the public schools may be used by civic and other organizations for meetings that are non-partisan, which are held for the purpose of discussing questions of "public, civic and educational nature." Applications are to be made to the secretary of the board.

The Campfire Girls, a Carmelita Playground organization that has been formed for the larger girls, is now getting ready for a number of "hikes" into the mountains. The girls will go in a party, dressed suitably for climbing the steep trails, and will carry their provisions and do their cooking over open fires.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Braly of No. 201 South Orange Grove avenue, left yesterday for a tour around the world. They will be joined by Dr. and Mrs. Herman Janss and their daughter, Miss Louise Janss.

Members of the North Congregational Church are considering plans for a new church edifice. It is to cost about $6000.

A picture of Mrs. Elizabeth Boynton Harbert, painted by Frederick Webster, was on exhibition yesterday at the Shakespeare clubhouse. Mrs. Harbert was the founder of the Evanston Woman's Club, for which the picture is intended.

Two hundred and fifty square yards of the concrete work of the Colorado-street bridge across the Arroyo Seco, now under course of construction, are now complete. About 10,000 yards in all are to be poured before the bridge is done.

The Educational Committee of the Women's Civic League has opened a non-partisan school for voters at No. 395 East Colorado street.

John H. Kreitler, head of the city efficiency department, returned home yesterday from his vacation, which he spent in Mexico.

Copies of the annual report of the City Auditor for the fiscal year of 1911-12 were distributed about the City Hall yesterday.

The following made up the Pasadena delegation that last night attended the meeting of the Foothill Boulevard Association at Claremont: J. B. Coulston, Harry Goehegan, Leo G. MacLaughlin, R. D. Davis, L. H. Turner, W. F. Knight, C. D. Daggett, J. C. Brainard, A. J. Bertonneau, George F. Kernaghan and C. P. Day.

CHANGE SPECIFICATIONS.

Glendale City Trustees Cause Contractor Much Worry — Gas Line Permit Given for Long Time.

GLENDALE, Oct. 24.—The City Trustees are experiencing some trouble over the recent changing of the specifications for the improvement work done within the limits of Glendale. Several days ago the Trustees decided that hereafter the cement work done in this city should be of a better character than heretofore and they at once began to "doctor" the specifications for this kind of work.

At the Trustees' meeting held in the City Hall this week, Contractor Evans who has charge of installing sidewalking and curbs on Verdugo road, between Second and Third streets, made a protest against having to conform with the new specifications regarding the putting in of sidewalks, saying that he took the contracts under the old specifications, and that to conform with the new specifications would increase the cost of the job 2 cents per square foot.

The board advised the contractor to take up the matter with the property owners along Verdugo road and try to get them to pay the difference, for the board did not deem it advisable to make an exception in his case. Many residents are of the opinion that in this case the city can be made to pay the difference or allow the contractor to put in the work according to the old specifications.

GAS LINE PERMIT.

The local Trustees have given to the Southern California Gas Company a right of way for twenty-five years for the laying of the company's natural gas line through this city on its way to Los Angeles, and also for the laying of a distributing system throughout the city. A clause will also be inserted in the franchise to the effect that if the city so desires during the next five years it may purchase the distributing system owned by this gas company at a price determined by representatives from the company and the city.

TEACHERS' RECEPTION.

What promises to be the most popular event in the school life this year is the large reception which will be given by the Parent-Teachers' Association of the various schools to all of the grammar school teachers of this city, the event to be held in the High School auditorium on Friday evening, November 1. An excellent programme is being arranged and refreshments will be served.

CITY CHARTER.

The fifteen Freeholders who were elected some time ago to form a charter for the city of Glendale, are working earnestly over the affair. Two meetings every week are being held, and the charter used by the city of Modesto is being considered, the Freeholders picking out of it what they believe to be for the best interest of Glendale.

San Pedro.

PANAMA STEAMER HALTS TO WAIT FOR PRISONER.

SAN PEDRO, Oct. 24.—Policeman D. McDonald this afternoon prevented the escape of Charles W. Boxer, who is charged with having embezzled $1400 from the United States government two years ago while employed as a paymaster in the canal zone. Boxer was arrested in San Francisco some time ago and was a passenger on the Pacific Mail steamer Pennsylvania today en route to Balboa, Panama, in custody of Thomas Bryandt, a special officer. Just as the Pennsylvania left her dock, Boxer stepped ashore and before the vessel could again get back to the dock, made his escape.

Bryandt leaped ashore and made a frantic search all over town for his prisoner. McDonald was returning from Wilmington on a car and saw Boxer acting suspiciously on the trestle between San Pedro and Wilmington. He left the car and took Boxer into custody.

Meanwhile the Pennsylvania had proceeded, but a wireless message halted the steamer until Officer Bryandt chartered a launch and went out to her with his prisoner.

Long Beach.

RATE DISPUTE BREACH WIDENS.

Five-Cent Fare Is Folly, Says Traffic Man.

Annexation of the Beaches Would Complicate.

Horse Frightfully Injures Jap Fruit Worker.

LONG BEACH, Oct. 24.—The Pacific Electric officials this morning practically defied the Chamber of Commerce when Traffic Manager Pontius, following a statement of why the road could not grant any of the concessions sought in the way of transfers, repairs of trackage and extension of local lines, told the directors of the organization that the Pacific Electric had asked for no compromise in the pending suit, but had its defense prepared and was confident of winning and is ready to go ahead with the hearing before the State Railroad Commissioners on November 7.

He said it is folly to consider the question of a 5-cent rate within city limits, for if Los Angeles should extend her boundaries to take in the beach cities the road would be compelled to carry passengers twenty miles or more for 5 cents, which would be out of the question. He contended that the transfers provided in the Long Beach franchise were for local service only and did not embrace transfers from interurban lines to any point in the city.

Replying to a suggestion that if the State Railroad Commission were aware of the profits of the Pacific Electric it would scale the rate of every line on the system, Pontius said that the books of the company were available and would show the Pacific Electric had not paid a good rate of interest on the money expended.

At the conclusion of the discussion the Chamber of Commerce went into executive session and decided unanimously to go ahead with the prosecution of the suit and if necessary carry the case to the Supreme Court to gain the desired point of universal transfers and 5-cent fares within the city limits of Long Beach.

INSTALLING ENGINES.

The work of installing the engines in the steamship Paralso, launched last week at the Craig ship plant, was begun today. The engines, which are fore and aft compound, have been moving through the yards for several days. The new shearleg just erected will make it an easy task to lift the engines entire from the the yards to the ship.

HORSE KICKS HARD.

Sadayuki Kogan, a Jap, was frightfully injured this morning when a horse kicked him on the left leg, below the knee, at a fruit farm on Signal Hill. Both bones of the leg were splintered, the pieces protruding through the flesh. The victim was taken to a local hospital and an X-ray photo taken to enable the physician to work intelligently in removing the splinters of bone.

AGED WOMAN DIES.

Mrs. Sarah Siddons Purcell, aged 80, died this morning at the home of her granddaughter on Park boulevard. Mrs. Purcell was a native of Logansport, Ind., where the body will be taken for burial. She leaves a son and daughter. For the past five years she was blind and paralyzed and has been cared for by her granddaughter.

TAKES UNFAIR ADVANTAGE.

Stranger Makes Use Of Handy Time Checks and Fleeces Merchants.

SAN PEDRO, Oct. 24.—A stranger, giving the name of Frank Rogers, fleeced local business men out of nearly $500 by a clever series of forgeries Saturday night. Several days ago Rogers went to work for the North American Dredging Company and by some means, gained access to the company's office and obtained a number of time checks which were stamped, and countersigned by Superintendent F. H. Guthridge.

Filling in various amounts ranging from $50 to $70 and making the checks payable to himself, Rogers negotiated the paper on various business houses Saturday night, buying various articles of clothing and furnishings and taking the difference in change. Today the checks, which were drawn upon the First National Bank, Los Angeles, were returned protested. Meanwhile Rogers had disappeared and the accommodating business men are mourning their losses.

FRASER VALUES HOLDINGS.

Puts Price on Property Before Leaving Last Night for the North. Won't Reconsider Leaving.

OCEAN PARK, Oct. 24.—Before leaving for the North last night A. R. Fraser placed a price of $1500 per front foot on his ocean front holdings, there being 180 feet between Marine street and Pier avenue. This is not considered exhorbitant by beach realty men, for the concrete piling of the burned pier, put in at a cost of $75,000, goes with the frontage.

Fraser made the price announcement as a result of an interview with him of a committee of prominent Ocean Park men, who asked him to reconsider his intention of leaving Ocean Park, and to stay here and go on with his development plans. Fraser announced that he would not change his plans for leaving, as he was tired of warfare here, and would go where there was more peace. Accordingly he departed from Los Angeles last night.

Annual Fall Festivo Opening Salute at Six.

"City that Charms" Pulses With Glad Life.

All Southern California to Help to Celebrate.

ONTARIO, Oct. 24.—With her streets aflutter with the orange and green of the Festivo, intermingled with the national colors, with countless incandescent bulbs awaiting only the press of a button to flood the city at night with a brilliancy which will rival that of the sun by day, Ontario with fevered anticipation awaits the roar of the sunrise salute, that at 6 o'clock tomorrow morning will proclaim the opening of the Festivo de Ontario, which has come to be one of the most important annual fall events in the great Southwest.

Ontario, known far and wide as the "City that Charms," is prepared to entertain the greatest crowd that has ever gathered within her gates at one time. No effort has been spared to give the thousands of visitors who are planning to attend the Festivo a celebration worthy of cities many times the size of Ontario.

During the two days' merrymaking there are to be five parades. One of the most striking features of the Festivo this year is to be a pageant representing the history of Ontario from the earliest times to the present.

HISTORICAL PAGEANT.

The first period represented is to be the year 1512 and for this a float showing the desert waste covering the spot where Ontario now stands, will be used.

The next period is the year 1713 and will be represented by Indians on ponies, who at this time are supposed to have roamed the plains hereabouts.

A float portraying San Antonio Canyon to the north of this city, with monks cutting logs, which they were supposed to have done in the year 1771 for the building of the San Gabriel Mission, will be next.

This will be followed by a float of the period of 1812 when the mission period was at its height. Then will come the prairie schooner of 1841 arriving with the American settler. This will be followed by the surveyors laying out the Ontario lands in the year 1883.

Following the surveyors will be George Chaffey, the father of Ontario, who, with his brother, Benjamin Chaffey, founded Ontario in the year 1883. Mr. Chaffey, who will ride in an automobile, will be followed by the pioneers of Ontario in a tally-ho, the crowning feature of the pageant and the final float will be that of 1912; the "present," a beautiful creation, representing "Prosperity." The pageant will be a feature of the parades of both Friday and Saturday mornings.

One of the features of the celebration this year is to be the open-air concerts by the United States Marine Band which is to be heard on Saturday afternoon. A huge bandstand has been erected at the corner of B street and Euclid avenue and it is here that the concerts will be given. The Long Beach Municipal band and the Upland Concert band will also furnish music.

HOLIDAY ATTIRE.

Ontario never looked gayer than in her present holiday attire. The beautiful parkway in the center of Euclid avenue is lined for blocks with palm-covered Spanish pergolas beneath which the jobbers from all over Southern California will demonstrate their wares. B street east and west of Euclid, has been chosen this year for the concessions and already bears a striking resemblance to a midway. The first important event of the day tomorrow will be the crowning of Queen Elizabeth—Miss Elizabeth Taylor, who was recently chosen to reign over the gay city in a popular voting contest. The Queen will be crowned by Mayor W. A. Freemire, who will also hand over to her the keys of the city. Queen Elizabeth will be attended by her ladies in waiting, Lady Ruth and Lady Flora, Miss Ruth Whitney and Miss Flora Thurber.

The Queen, her ladies and her mounted attendants will lead all parades except the comic parade at 9 o'clock on Saturday night when "Kink" will reign supreme.

The first will be the industrial parade and in it will be also the civic and commercial bodies of the city, decorated automobiles, Pageant de Luxe and the industrial floats. In the afternoon of Friday will come the parade of the schools of the city. A great many handsome floats have been prepared by the various schools and the pupils in costume will also be a feature of the parade. Saturday morning will be the parade of products which the farmers of this section have entered with a will. On the evening of Saturday will be the illuminated automobile parade at 8 o'clock and the comic at 9.

California is extended to all Southern hear guests tomorrow and Saturday. The official programme of the Festivo follows:

FRIDAY.

6:00 a.m.—Sunrise salute.

LIGHT FROST AT OROSI.

Tomatoes and Other Vegetables Blackened by Cold Snap—Jack Comes Much Earlier Than Usual.

OROSI, Oct. 24.—Light frost occurring in several localities in the vicinity of Fresno and Orosi, Cal., was reported to the local office of the weather bureau during the day. Tomato vines and other tender vegetation was blackened and a few grapes in places show slight injury. The temperature was the lowest for the season to date, reports Forecaster Bonnett and the frost is the first of consequence that has been reported.

In 1911, the first light frost occurred on October 11 and the first killing frost on November 11. The latter was general over the interior of the State, and did considerable damage to late shipping grapes.

The average date for the first killing frost in Fresno is December 3.

MEETING OF CITRUS GROWERS.

RIVERSIDE, Oct. 24.—A meeting of exceptional interest to citrus growers of Southern California will be held in the auditorium of the Girls' High School, corner of Ninth and Lime streets, Riverside, on Friday, at 8 p.m. Director T. F. Hunt, who has recently succeeded Director Wickson as head of the California Agricultural Experiment Station and College of Agriculture at Berkeley, will preside. Addresses will be made by Dr. H. J. Webber, head of the department of experimental plant breeding in Cornell University, and A. V. Steubenrauch of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Dr. Webber, who will speak on "The Improvement of Citrus and Subtropical Fruits," is well known in scientific agricultural and horticultural circles, and has gained especial notice in work with citrus fruits through the results of his orange breeding experiments in Florida, while connected with the United States Department of Agriculture. Mr. Steubenrauch is already well known to citrus growers of this region by reason of his work in this vicinity.

The lectures will be of marked educational value and all persons interested are invited to attend.

A CHILD THE MAGNET.

Divorced Couple Struggle for Possession of Baby Born After Granting of Decree.

The odd spectable of a divorced couple struggling for possession of a child born after their separation, for which it is alleged no provision was made when the decree was issued, was presented yesterday when Deputy Constable Duarte served on Francisco Perrez of San Gabriel a citation issued by Judge Bordwell to show cause why he should not be held in contempt of court for refusing to honor an order, permitting his former spouse, Andrea Gutierrez de Perrez, to see their young son. Perrez was given until today to appear.

Mrs. Perrez told Duarte that her husband had never informed her that an interlocutory decree had been granted him until June 11, 1907, on ground of desertion. She speaks little English and could not read the papers served on her, she maintained. They separated for a time, she said, and then lived together for almost three years. During this time the child was born. It had not been mentioned in the decree, the woman asserted, because it had not been born when that was granted.

Mrs. Perrez has tried repeatedly to see the child, but has always been refused admittance to her former husband's home. Last Tuesday she petitioned for an order of the court permitting her to do this. It was issued the same day. The refusal of Perrez to honor it brought out the citation for contempt.

LITTLE PALACE FOR NEW CLUB.

KNICKERBOCKER BUILDING TO HOUSE KNICKERBOCKERS.

Ten-Story Edifice Planned by Shirley Ward for Seventh and Olive to Be Finished and Named for Youngest of City's Social Organizations.

With a roar that shook their Hill-street building to the roof and halted a curious crowd in the street below, 400 members of the Knickerbocker Club last night voted themselves into the future possession of what will be among the largest and best-appointed quarters for social organizations in the city. The decision followed two hours of heated discussion and was greeted with cheering that lasted for several minutes.

The proposition accepted by the club is that offered by Shirley C. Ward for the ten-story reinforced concrete building which he will shortly erect on the west side of Olive street, just north of Seventh. This is to finish the exterior of the building in Knickerbocker or Dutch style, name the building for the club and devote the three top stories and the roof garden to club purposes. Construction will begin on the building at once and is expected to be complete within ten months. Plus the rental consideration involved in the fifty-year lease held by Ward, the total cost will approximate $1,000,000.

Earlier in the evening an address of much popular interest was delivered to the club members by Prof. George E. Hale of the Mt. Wilson Solar Observatory, who spoke on "The Evolution of the Earth." Illustrating his address with stereopticon slides from photographs made at the observatory, Prof. Hale presented a lucid and entertaining geological history of the planet from the days when it existed only as gaseous nebula in space up to the present time.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL BANQUET.

The annual banquet of the great First Methodist Sunday-school was held last night at the Mt. Washington Hotel, attended by about 200 officers and teachers of the school and some special guests. Dr. H. W. Brodbeck, superintendent, presided, and Dr. Charles Edward Locke, pastor of the congregation, made the principal talk of the evening. The last report shows the enrollment of the school to be 3477, probably the largest Methodist Sunday-school in the world, and of which Dr. Brodbeck has been the superintendent for a score of years.

Redondo Beach.

BOTH SIDES THREATEN IN RECALL DISPUTES.

REDONDO BEACH, Oct. 24.—The first encounter in the recall contest which promises to be the bitterest political fight the city has ever known took place this evening when City Clerk W. A. Anderson reported to W. T. Fitzpatrick regarding the checking of the names of the petitions asking for the election for the recall of the city officials.

According to the certified report of the Clerk but about one-fifth of the signatures attached to the petitions are correct as compared with the Great Register. This does not leave a sufficient number of names to call an election.

Fitzpatrick, Rev. Mott Mitchell and E. M. Wardwell, representing the Greater Redondo Beach Civic Association, requested that a list of the names stricken from the petitions be submitted to them, but this was refused by the Clerk, who said he had complied with the law when he made an affidavit to the number of names that compare with the Great Register. He further refused to state any reasons for the removal of the names other than they did not compare with the Great Register and would not permit the petitions to be taken by Fitzpatrick, Mitchell and Wardwell to recheck them with the register.

According to the clerk's checkup the number of signatures on the petitions are reduced as follows: City Treasurer George Cate, original number 277, now fifty-seven; City Clerk W. A. Anderson, original number 218, now forty-seven; Trustee J. H. Cavanah, original number 302, now fifty-five; Trustee E. T. Thompson, original number 283, now sixty; Trustee O. N. Tomlinson, original number 262, now fifty-three; Trustee H. C. Feder, original number 280, now sixty; Trustee W. J. Hess, original number 306, now seventy-four.

Of the names stricken from the petitions by the Clerk are a number attached to a counter petition, circulated Saturday to have names removed from the original petitions. About forty names were taken from the petitions in this manner. The exact number of names on the counter petition is as follows: W. A. Anderson, fifty-one; George Cate, thirty-eight; W. J. Hess, forty-three; J. H. Cavanah, forty-two; O. N. Tomlinson, thirty-seven; E. T. Thompson, thirty-eight; H. C. Feder, thirty-nine.

The supporters of the recall who stated they are backed by legal opinion, hold that no names can be legally removed from the petitions after being filed. City Clerk Anderson asserts that names can be so removed until he has certified as to the correct number of names on the petitions. He is backed in this opinion by City Attorney F. L. Perry.

Rev. Mr. Mitchell, Fitzpatrick and Wardwell tonight stated that they would bring legal proceedings to force an accounting of the names removed from the petitions by the Clerk. They further stated that supplementary petitions will be circulated at once for additional signatures for the petitions.

Fitzpatrick, who insisted upon being allowed to hastily check over the names on the petitions, while in the Clerk's office, stated that in his opinion a large portion of the names of the petitions tallied with the Great Register and he did not know on what grounds they had been removed.

When Fitzpatrick, Mitchell and Wardwell called upon the Clerk for his report, City Treasurer George Cate and Trustee O. N. Tomlinson were present and several heated arguments took place between the two sides. Treasurer Cate referred to forgeries on the petitions and stated that he and other officials would bring libel suits against a number of those active in the recall.

City Clerk Anderson stated that he did not check the petitions against himself but that that was done by L. F. Bruce. Anderson was assisted in the checking by Bruce and W. M. Browning.

Patriotic.

MARINE BAND IS RARE TREAT.

THE "PRESIDENT'S OWN" DOES SOME SPLENDID WORK.

Band of Government Musicians on Tour of West Stirs Two Immense Audiences in Shrine Auditorium. The Classics and Soul-Stirring Marches Win Plaudits.

Los Angeles has been visited by many bands of renown, but it remained for the United States Marine Band, the "President's Own," which opened a two-days' engagement in Shrine Auditorium yesterday, to stir the vast audiences which gathered in the large auditorium both afternoon and evening, as they never had been before.

Fifty strong, the band plays as one. It is a splendid organization. Lieut. William H. Santelmann is the leader of this famous marine band and its personnel includes many soloists of world renown. Lieut. Santelmann has worked hard to perfect his aggregation, for under his leadership the men have gained that high degree of efficiency in concerted playing that they play as a single instrument. Artistic effects of the highest and most brilliant nature are attained.

They play with the delicacy of an orchestra if the composition so demands, and in their fortissimo passages their tone is full and round and full of expression, at all times evenly balanced. Too much cannot be said in praise of the splendid work being done by this wonderful band. The classics, stirring marches and popular pieces are played with equal facility by the United States Marine Band.

Besides the instrumental soloists, the band is accompanied by Miss Mary Sherier, soprano, of Washington, D. C. Miss Sherier is a young woman of charming personality and the possessor of a voice of much brilliancy. She sang an aria from Bizet's "Carmen" last evening.

The band will be heard again today, both morning and evening, the matinee programme being especially gotten up for public school teachers and pupils. Tonight the band will give its farewell programme. It is a splendid organization and deserving of the patronage of all lovers of the best in band music.

ASKS FOR AQUEDUCT WATER.

Glendora Anxious to Buy Life-giving Fluid of Los Angeles for Irrigation Purposes—Resolutions Adopted.

GLENDORA, Oct. 24.—A mass meeting to boost for Owens River water was held Tuesday evening at the Glendora Operahouse under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce. The auditorium was filled with Glendora ranchmen and representative delegations from Monrovia, Covina, Charter Oak, San Dimas and Lordsburg.

The audience was wrought up to a high pitch of enthusiasm as it listened to the speakers portray the advantages to be had in an abundant supply of water for every need and the gratifying assurance that from the amount of water in the Owens River at all times in the year the aqueduct supply would never fall below 20,000 California miner's inches. This was the assurance of J. H. Mulholland, a ranchman who has resided in the Owens River Valley for twenty years.

Mulholland not only assured those present of the quantity of the Owens River water and the ease with which it could be increased if need be in the future, but he made it clear that it was not excelled in quality by any water supply in the State. As an illustration the speaker pointed to the fact that the grain crops, alfalfa and fruit trees in this valley had been irrigated with water taken from the Owens River since the first irrigating ditches were dug in 1883-4, and that the land had been benefited as shown in the increased production from year to year since the Owens River water was first applied for use.

Resolutions were adopted calling on Los Angeles to supply the water and congratulating her on the enterprise of projecting the aqueduct.

PATRIOTIC SACRIFICE.

Bishop of Orthodox Eastern Catholic Church Will Offer Personal Decorations to Help Servians.

The Balkan war between the Serbs and Turks, has developed many cases of self-sacrifice among the Serbs in and around Los Angeles, but probably none greater than that of Father Sebastian Dabovitch, bishop of the Orthodox Eastern Catholic Church, who has for two years been working among the Slavs and Greeks of this city, to induce them to higher ideals in living. He has built a small chapel on Boyle Heights and has just begun to get his work on a better footing, when he feels called upon to sacrifice his personal belongings for the benefit of the hospital work in the Serb army.

At the meeting of the Friday Morning Club this morning, in the Woman's Clubhouse, the following historic relics will be offered at auction to the highest bidder above the minimum price named:

A bishop's gorgeous miter, hand-made and painted in Russia, by nuns, to be sold to the highest bidder above $100; a jeweled pectoral cross and chain, made by a Serb jeweler in Bosnia, minimum bid, $100; twelve sacred hand-paintings on panels of steel minimum $50 for the set; beautiful icon of the Savior, which belonged to a Russian nobleman, who had it with him in the campaign against Napoleon at Moscow, minimum, $50. Four decorations—Order of St. Sabbas, from the King of Servia; Order of Danilo, from the King of Montenegro; Order of St. Anne, from the Emperor of Russia; a medal from the Emperor of Russia, in memory of Alexander III; minimum bid for all, $25. A handsome medium-size hand-made rug, made by the Christian peasant girls of Macedonia; minimum bid, $50.

The Council Legislation Committee voted yesterday to recommend the granting of the freight-carrying franchise to the Pacific Electric for its lines east of Main street.

Formal notification was given to the City Engineer by the Board of Public Works yesterday to prepare plans and specifications for the railroad on San Pedro street, between Aliso and Ninth streets.

A man whose wife left him, he said, because he would not care for her "babies," who are a man and woman, was granted a divorce in the Superior Court yesterday.

BORE, OPEN CUT, OR HILL RAZE?

FINAL HEARING ON TUNNELS MONDAY NIGHT.

Streets and Boulevards Committee to Hold Open Meeting in Council Chamber—New Project of Opening First Street Through Height Proposed by Engineer Copley.

The Council Streets and Boulevards Committee decided yesterday to hold a final public hearing on the Bunker Hill problem Monday night at 7:30 o'clock in the Council chamber.

Councilman Langdon, chairman of the committee, had requested the City Engineer to make an estimate on the cost of removal of the hill area from Fifth to Temple streets, but the reply received indicated that it would be impossible to make an intelligent estimate until several questions were decided, as a basis of calculations, such as the distance to which the material would have to be hauled, the number of steam shovels to be employed, etc. Feeling that nothing could be gained by waiting further on this phase of the subject, the committee decided to have a final hearing and then make its recommendation to the City Council.

The hill-removing project was interjected in the tunnel discussion after both the First-street and Second-street tunnel schemes were well under way; and now comes another plan, proposed yesterday by Josiah Copley, a civil engineer, who has offices in the Union Oil building, and which must be considered in connection with the other projects. The Copley plan is to make an open cut of First-street from Hill to whatever street it might strike on the west side, so as to give an easy grade. Copley was at the meeting of the Streets and Boulevards Committee yesterday to urge his plan, but was invited to present it at next Monday night's meeting. He urges that the open-cut plan for First street would give the traffic access desired, and at the same time would be found highly practicable in case the city decided to go ahead with the hill removal, in which case the cut would be found serviceable for carrying the earth on a nearly level grade to the westward.

The plan would require the bridging of the cut over the cross streets on the hill district, and the cut itself might be for such portion of First street as would carry the traffic, leaving a portion on the grade as it now exists, so as to give access to and from the business district for properties on the hill.

Three-Block Plan.

The Streets and Boulevards Committee determined yesterday to recommend a plan that will permit the use of Wilshire boulevard for three consecutive blocks by light delivery wagons. A strong effort was made by some of the property owners to have all business traffic ruled off of this street, but the committee determined to try the three-block plan, and may limit this if it does not work out well.

Returns His Pass.

Councilman Reed returned to the Pacific Electric Company his pass to beach points yesterday, stating that he had decided not to use a pass that was provided merely by courtesy and not through the provisions of a franchise. He stated, however, that he has accepted and is using other street railway passes for which provision was made when the franchises for such lines were granted.

For Public Safety.

Councilman Andrews succeeded yesterday in securing the indorsement of the Legislation Committee to a proposed amendment in the traffic ordinance, whereby it is proposed to require automobiles to come to a halt five feet back of the rear ends of street cars at street crossings where the cars are stopped to discharge or receive passengers. Much complaint has been made that automobiles crowd directly to the line of the cross streets, and thus cut off the way for passengers from the cars to reach the sidewalks, and that several accidents have occurred by reason of the autos running down passengers leaving or trying to reach the cars.

Railroad Specifications.

The Board of Public Works formally notified the City Engineer yesterday to prepare the plans and specifications for the San Pedro-street railroad, from Aliso to Ninth street, in accordance with the plan adopted by the City Council last Tuesday.

It has been decided more desirable for the city to prepare its own plans and specifications than to use those already prepared by the Pacific Electric, although much of the data prepared by the company will be available for the City Engineer's office in carrying on this work. The estimate is made that from a week to ten days will be required to complete this work.

It is possible that the Council next Tuesday will order the publication of the advertisement of sale of the operating franchise over this line, so that the entire scheme may be carried forward with the least possible delay. The declaration is made that this can be done legally, although the road is not yet in existence.

Plans Extensive Work.

R. D. List was before the Streets and Boulevards Committee of the Council yesterday to ask for the adoption of new specifications for street work so that he may use a system of petrolithic paving found very serviceable in Denver and other cities, and which he wishes to adopt for the extensive street improvements in Chesterfield Square. The City Engineer was instructed to prepare specifications of this character for consideration.

List stated that he proposes to construct six miles of asphalt paving and twelve miles of cement walks and curbs in Chesterfield Square as soon as he can carry them forward under the specifications proposed.

Proceedings Abandoned.

The Streets and Boulevards Committee decided yesterday to abandon proceedings for the change of grade on Sunset boulevard, between Hill and Marion streets, a project that has been before the committee for weeks, and that has caused much controversy. The statement was made that as there is reasonable prospect of the Hill-street tunnel being carried through to Sunset boulevard from Temple street, this would give comparatively easy grades for a route to the business district and would do away with the necessity of making the deep cuts proposed by the change of grade on Sunset.

Would Save the Palms.

Representatives of the Native Sons of the Golden West and of the post-card manufacturers and dealers, presented a plea to the Streets and Boulevards Committee yesterday, asking that steps be taken to prevent the destruction of palms on streets and in parks, and urging that the palms were so distinctively Californian that every means should be taken to preserve them. The subject was referred to the Park Commission.

Freight-carrying Franchise.

"I think the Board of Public Utilities ought to stop this childish juggling with franchises. It is absurd. This ordinance is pretending to do something that it does not do," declared Councilman Reed yesterday when the Legislation Committee took up its consideration of the freight-carrying franchise for the Pacific Electric, which has been passed from one office to another for the past six months.

Reed's objection was to clauses inserted in the franchise at the instance of J. A. Anderson, president of the Municipal League, and he was sent for by the committee to defend his position and the legislation demanded. It referred to provisions that the city may revoke the twenty-one-year franchise at any time after five years, with one year's notice, provided it furnishes the spur tracks on the lines covered by the franchise with equally as good facilities for transportation.

Reed took the stand that this did not mean anything unless the city should purchase the tracks of the Pacific Electric.

After long discussion, the committee decided to recommend the granting of the franchise, with a provision included that will prevent the company from delivering freight cars to other railroad lines over these tracks, the idea being to eliminate hauling of trains from suburban points through the city's streets to the harbor.

The franchise covers the Pacific Electric's lines east of Main street. The company is to pay an annual sum of $1500 during the tenure of the franchise and 1 cent per car mile for both loaded and empty cars hauled over these tracks.

The Weeds Still Stand.

A communication from the Police Commission to the effect that the police department is unable to successfully handle the weed ordinance provisions, for the reason that there are a great many absentee lot owners upon whom it is unable to get action, and recommending that the lot cleaning be done and the cost assessed to the lots was filed by the Streets and Boulevards Committee yesterday. The weeds may still stand.

At the Courthouse.

WOMAN'S "BABIES" BIT TOO MUCH.

HUSBAND SHIES AT CARE OF GROWN CHILDREN.

Couple Are Married After Acquaintance of Two Months, and at Santa Ana—Judge Declares Most Matches of that Kind End in Divorce.

Santa Ana, as the modern Gretna Green, received a jolt in Judge Monroe's court yesterday when Harlow L. Minkler, an elderly man, sought to sever the ties which bound him to Mrs. Ella T. Minkler. The court ascertained that Minkler had married on a two months' acquaintance.

"Where were you married?" he asked.

"Santa Ana," replied Minkler.

"Don't you know that most couples who get married at Santa Ana eventually come into this court and ask for a divorce?" asked the court.

"No, I didn't know that," Minkler replied. He said he had other troubles that worried him. The court told him to tell his story.

It appeared that the couple, both of whom had been married before, lived together two months after they were married, and the apparent cause of Mrs. Minkler leaving her husband was the fact that he would not keep her "babies." When it transpired that the "babies" are a son and a daughter, each nearly 30 years of age, the court remarked that no man is going to marry a woman with the expectation of keeping her grown children.

Minkler's woe consisted of a vain attempt to find a home his wife would live in. He rented apartments on four occasions, and each time his wife refused to live in them unless he would take the babies.

Mrs. Minkler's story was that she met Minkler at her real estate office. She said she refused to marry him at first on account of her babies, but when he agreed that they should all live together, she consented. One of the "babies" is in the real estate business, the other is a telephone operator, and neither desired Minkler's support, apparently.

The court granted Minkler a decree on the ground of desertion.

COMMENDS ACT.

GENEROSITY LAUDED.

Through the generosity of Deputy Sheriff Martin Aguirre and Attorney J. H. Daley, Antonio Garcia was returned to Mexico yesterday instead of being sent to serve four years at Folsom. The circumstances in the case which appealed to these men and others was the fact that Garcia, while serving a term at Folsom, was permanently disabled by a rock which struck him on the head.

After his release from the penitentiary he committed petty larcenies and was arrested. Commenting on the case, Judge McCormick said yesterday it would be useless and inhuman to send Garcia back to Folsom, if there was any other way to take care of him, and he commended Aguirre and Daley for their disinterestedness.

The court declared it is easy enough to pronounce judgment on a man for any term, short or long, but it does not accomplish anything. A prisoner is useless to a community. It is because of the humanity and the beneficence of the laws of this State that the court is able to suspend the execution of the commitment, he said. In this case, he stated, he was trying not only to enforce the law but to engender some humanity in its enforcement.

MOTHER IS HOPEFUL.

WISHES TO ADOPT OWN CHILD.

Mrs. Mary Louise Harvey is in the peculiar position of asking permission of the Superior Court to adopt her own child. She filed a petition yesterday and will take her place before the bench the same as any other applicant.

The child, Alberta Maxine Quaid, aged 6, bears the name of her grandmother. Shortly after the child was born the parents agreed to give her to the grandmother. Mr. and Mrs. Harvey did not get along well together, and shortly after the baby went out of their lives, Harvey deserted his wife.

Mrs. Harvey brought suit for divorce and obtained an interlocutory decree. She asked that she might have her baby back, but the court held the grandmother had adopted her, with the consent of the parents, and Alberta could not be taken from her.

Mrs. Quaid is now dead, and Mrs. Harvey, declaring that she is in a better position for taking care of the girl, is buoyed up with the hope that they will soon be reunited in their little home.

FRIEND GETS ESTATE.

CONDITION IS ATTACHED.

A valuable collection of jewelry, including diamond sleeve buttons, sapphire and ruby rings, diamond locket, shirt studs with a wreath of diamonds, solitaire diamond ring and diamond horseshoe pin, 542 shares of the Interborough-Metropolitan Company of New York and seventy shares of United Wireless Telegraph Company stock, comprising the contents of a box at the Security Safe Deposit Company, are given to Mary Wisner Aldrich of this city on condition that she carry out the wishes of George Hutchins to place a monument on his grave.

Hutchins provides that his $25,000 estate, with the exception of a few bequests, shall go to Mary Wisner Aldrich if she complies with his request within one year of his death. He wished his remains to be interred in the Albany Rural Cemetery, the grave to be marked by a monument marked "Hutchins."

THEY DON'T GEE.

POLITICS OPENS BREACH.

Divergent political views, it appeared yesterday in the $50,000 alienation suit of Mrs. Josephine Scheer against her mother-in-law, was one cause of the differences between the two. Mrs. Ada Bram, whose son, Harry, Josephine married, related that Josephine electioneered for Harriman and the Socialist ticket at the late Mayoralty election. She said Josie tried to get Harry to vote for Harriman.

"Josie said if the Socialists were elected we would have free parks," Mrs. Bram testified, "and I told her it was more likely free soup. I told her greenhorns would come to this country and vote while an American boy has to live to be twenty-one before he could cast a ballot."

Mrs. Bram is charged with having influenced Harry to leave his wife, offering a cash consideration. Mrs. Bram denied yesterday that she ever influenced her son in that direction.

ATTACK ON WILL.

HUSBAND SAYS IT'S VOID.

John Cannon attacked the provisions of his wife's will bequeathing $500 to each of four charitable institutions, on the ground that the will is void because it was made within thirty days of her death. The case was taken under submission by Judge Clark yesterday.

It was brought out in the argument that Cannon and his wife, Hattie M. Cannon, had entered into a contract under the terms of which the property was divided. Later the couple separated. It was contended by M. J. McGarry, administrator of the estate, that Cannon had no interest in his wife's estate and that if the will is held to be void, the bequests should go to the heirs. The latter have made no opposition looking to the probate of the will. The beneficiaries under the will are the Sisters of the Good Shepherd, St. Vincent de Paul Society, Brownson House and the St. Elizabeth Day Nursery.

BROUGHT TO SCRATCH.

HUBBY GIVEN ULTIMATUM.

Judge Monroe turned a searchlight on the case of Harry E. Bach, who was before the court yesterday on the charge of failure to provide for his wife. Bach said he is working out payment of a bill covering a hospital operation by doing carpentering work on the Hotel Columbia. He receives $10 a week and half of that amount he is paying for a room.

Mrs. Bach is sick and Bach, it appeared, is giving her nothing for her support. The court told Bach that unless he agreed to support his wife he would stand committed, and nodded significantly in the general direction of the stone pile. Bach pleaded for time to raise $500 bail, and was given until 2 o'clock. Failing to secure the bail he was committed.

INSPECT LAUNDRY. An inspection of the baby mandrel in the plant of the Sterling Laundry Company, which Maud Guyer alleges crushed and burned her right hand and permanently crippled it, was made by the jury trying the $20,052 damage suit in Judge Wood's court yesterday. Miss Guyer alleges the accident occurred August 18, 1911, and that when she obtained employment with the concern the previous June she was inexperienced in laundry work. The company is charged with negligence.

PAYS THE PENALTY. Edward Lewis, a negro, who figured as a leader in the "back to Africa" movement some time ago, was sentenced to serve seven years at San Quentin by Judge Crow yesterday. Lewis pleaded guilty to a statutory offense. He stated he intended to take the girl to Africa as his wife, but because the necessary funds for equipping a ship to carry the colonists could not be raised, the back to Africa movement failed.

FIRST CHARGE HOLDS.

Second Is Dismissed for Lack of Evidence—Motion-Picture Story Not Being "Canned."

H. J. Brand, who was jointly arrested with Fred Osborne on a charge of conspiracy to defraud, was released yesterday afternoon from custody and the charge dismissed at the request of Acting City Prosecutor Nimmo. Osborne is held on another complaint.

Brand and Osborne were charged with having conspired to defraud young girls and women who had enrolled for a course of training in the New York School of Acting in the belief that they would be given positions as motion-picture actresses. Inspector J. J. Egan of the State Labor Commission investigated and caused their arrest.

It was alleged that the young women were to be employed by Brand at the Brand Advanced Motion-Picture Company, and following the arrest of Osborne for an alleged violation of the State labor laws for having taken fees for a position before he had secured work for the person paying the fee, Brand was arrested. A second complaint was filed, and it was this complaint that was dismissed yesterday on the ground of insufficient evident. Osborne will be held for trial on the original charge.

HEATER MAKES READ HEAT.

Flames Spread From Barber Shop to Adjoining Stores—Several Sustain Losses.

Fire caused by the falling of a gas heater yesterday morning damaged four stores on York boulevard, near Toledo street, entailing a loss of $2000, partly covered by insurance. The fire originated in the barber shop of Theodore Hodnesile, No. 5905 York boulevard, and spread rapidly. The fire damaged the drug store of H. Kallawoda, York boulevard and Toledo street; destroyed the shoe shop of Jean Buccli, No. 5929 York, and damaged the real estate office of H. McContilla, No. 5927 York.

Hodnesile was moving the water heater in his barber shop when the gas hose, connecting the heater, collapsed and threw the flames against the wall of the shop.

CONSOLIDATION AMENDMENT.

Directors of Chamber of Commerce Hear Arguments and Public Will Have Opportunity Tonight.

The board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday afternoon gave a hearing to Edward F. Treadwell of San Francisco, in favor of the adoption of the proposed amendment to the State Constitution, permitting the consolidation of cities of contiguous territory, though located in different counties. There was no debate on the subject and no action whatever was taken by the board. Tonight a public meeting will be held in the assembly room on the third floor of the Chamber of Commerce, when the same subject will be discussed by H. C. Cutting of Richmond and W. C. Sharpless of Alameda, two of the municipalities that feel themselves directly interested in the proposed amendment.

FOR PASSENGER'S SAFETY.

New Laws on Life-Preserving Apparatus for Ocean-Going Vessels Received Here.

Following the loss of the Titanic Congress took up the question of amending the coastwise and ocean navigation laws with a view to providing a greater degree of safety to the passengers and crew in case of accident. Copies of the new laws on this subject were received yesterday by Collector Pendleton.

They provide that all ocean, lake, bay and sound steamers must be equipped with lifeboats of sufficient capacity and approved pattern to accommodate at one time all those on board, including passengers and crew.

It is provided, however, that between May 15 and September 15 of each year they will be only required to furnish lifeboats to accommodate 50 per cent. of the passengers and crew. In case where vessels ply in waters within five miles of the shore or in water not deep enough to submerge the entire ship, lifeboats for but 10 per cent. of the passengers and crew must be provided.

Early in the past summer the restrictions of the Treasury Department in regard to the number of passengers to be carried by the Cabrillo and Hermosa, in the San Pedro-Avalon trade, were strictly enforced, cutting down the passenger list more than one-half. Later on a revised ruling was received from the department to the effect that the, distance between the two ports was so short that the passenger boats were nothing more than ferries, the distance being such that help could be secured within an hour from either side of the channel. This allowed the boats to resume booking their normal number of passengers.

IN THE APPELLATE COURT.

The October term of the District Court of Appeal will begin next Monday. There are fifty-eight cases on the calender to be disposed of. Among them is that of Gorham Tufts, Jr., who is now under a penitentiary sentence on a felony charge, and that against the Southern California Edison Company against the city of Los Angeles, involving the legality of a city ordinance fixing certain license rates, both on appeal from the local Superior Court.

PAWNBROKER FINED.

L. E. Kusel, a pawnbroker and loan agent in the Stimson building, was fined $20 yesterday afternoon by Police Judge Chambers for a violation of the city pawnbrokers' regulation ordinance. It was alleged that Kusel failed to give proper certificates of pawn and the rate of interest to be charged.

HE'LL PLEAD GUILTY.

Elmer Immel, confessed counterfeiter, was arraigned before United States Commissioner Van Dyke yesterday, and his preliminary examination set for two weeks hence. He was held in $2500 bond, and, being unable to furnish it, was sent back to the County Jail. The case will be taken before the Federal grand jury on Tuesday next. Following his indictment, he says, he will plead guilty. He claims he was led into the counterfeiting business by a man whose description is in the hands of the officers.

WAIT COSTLY; VAIN.

Leotus Davis, colored, a witness in the case against James Littlejohn, charged with smuggling opium from Mexico, was discharged from the County Jail yesterday, where he had been held 140 days for his appearance at the trial of Littlejohn, now fixed for December 10. Coincident with his release on his own recognizance, Davis drew $140 in gold for his incarceration, in addition to the payment by the government of his board bill. The trial has been pending for some months, but, on account of the crowded condition of the calender, the case has not been heard.

RASH ON ARMS A MASS OF SPOTS

Developed Into Running Sores. Itching Terrible. Cuticura Ointment Stopped Itching Wonderfully. Now Cured.

6113½ Washington St., Salt Lake City, Utah.—"I was first alarmed by a feeling all over my arms and a rash of spots came out. The rash was a mass of pimples and developed into running sores. The itching was terrible and I would scratch until awful. I tried a treatment but it made matters worse. I then decided to use Cuticura Soap and Ointment. After the first application the itching stopped wonderfully. The cure which followed was a marvel to me for I thought I would never get better. This was three years ago and I have as clear a skin as any one could wish entirely." (Signed) Miss Kate M. Kelly, Mar. 18, 1912.

For pimples and blackheads the Ointment is a most effective and economical treatment: Gently smear the affected parts with Cuticura Ointment, on the end of the finger, and leave the Ointment on for several minutes, but do not rub. Wash off the Ointment in five minutes with Cuticura Soap and hot water and continue bathing for some minutes. This treatment is best on rising and retiring. At other times use Cuticura Soap freely for the toilet and bath, as it assists in preventing inflammation and clogging of the pores, which is the cause of most facial blemishes, from pimples to blackheads, throughout the world. Sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Tender-faced men should use Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick, 25c.

Armed Conflict Over Division o evitable to Trained Observers Preparations on Prodigious Sca Sides—Serbs and Turks in Ha

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND BY WIRELE TIMES.]

BERLIN, Oct. 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Germany and Austria. It is stated on first rate authority, secretly cherish the conviction that a European conflagration, as a consequence of the Balkan war, is very probable.

Austria, official denials to the contrary notwithstanding, is in an advanced state of military preparedness. Russia is not far behind, while Germany, whose army and navy are always in a state of semi-mobilization, has not gone to the extent to which her neighboring empires have proceeded, but has taken certain preliminary steps which are the forerunners of actual war preparations.

Military men in Berlin make no secret of the fact that a Russo-Austrian conflict over the Balkans is far more imminent than during the Bosnia-Herzegovina annexation crisis of 1909. They declare that Germany and France would almost certainly be drawn into such a war and that it would be difficult for Great Britain, if the triple entente is worth anything, to keep out of the melee.

Maj.-Gen. Imhoff, the German ordnance expert, who reorganized the Turkish artillery under Gen. Baron Von der Goltz, explains where danger of a European Armageddon exists. He says:

THE FIREBRAND.

"The sanjak of Novipasar will prove to be a firebrand, if the Balkan league succeeds in beating the Turks, in that event the district will be under the military occupation of Servians, Montenegrins and perhaps also Bulgarians."

He declares that the early frontier successes won by the Bulgarians, Servians, Montenegrins and Greeks are absolutely without influence on the great and vital issues of the campaign. He lays great stress on the mountainous character of Macedonia and Thrace, and says that the giant ranges of Rhodope and Istrandja will prove unconquerable by the allies.
